BY WILLARD EDWARDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8—By the narrow margin of a tie vote, 5 to 5, the Democratic majority of the Pearl Harbor investigating committee today squeaked thru to a victory in its drive to maintain a clamp of secrecy on documents vital to the inquiry.

For three and one-half hours, at a stormy session behind closed doors, the 10 members of the joint congressional group battled over the charges of destroyed records, witness tampering, and gag tactics aired this week on the floor of both houses.

Sen. George [D., Ga.] swung over to the Republicans on the renewed motion of Sen. Brewster [R., Me.] to permit him to inspect navy department records in connection with the famous "winds execute" message. This was the code for the Japanese declaration of war on the United States.

"Impressed by Expose"

The revelations of Rep. Gearhart [R., Cal.] in the house Tuesday were said to have impressed the Georgian, one of the most highly respected men in congress. Gearhart read from some 20 decoded Japanese messages which showed that high Washington authorities were acquainted with all Japanese moves prior to Pearl Harbor, including their decision to wage war which was intercepted Dec. 4 and 5, 1941. None of this information was transmitted to the commanding officers at Pearl Harbor prior to the attack on the morning of Dec. 7.

Grim silence concerning these disclosures continued to be the rule at the war and navy departments. Spokesmen said they were bound by Presidential directives not to comment on Pearl Harbor until called to testify in public.

[Two committee members attempt in vain to interview Navy Capt. Alwin D. Kramer, considered a key witness, at the Bethesda (Md.) naval hospital. Story on page 11.]

Defeated by Tie

Since the committee is composed of six Democrats and four Republicans, despite pleas at the time of its creation that it be made a nonpartisan investigation, George's switch made the lineup 5 to 5. On tie votes motions are defeated.

With tempers mounting, the dissension torn group then voted down, 6 to 4, on strict party lines, a motion by Sen. Ferguson [R., Mich.] to postpone the open hearings until Nov. 23. The decision means public sessions will start Nov. 15, as previously announced.

Confusion was created at the outset of the meeting when the White House sent up a new directive on the questioning of government witnesses which appalled even the Democrats.

Misunderstood—Barkley

The committee last week voted unanimously to request President Truman to instruct all federal departments, including the chiefs of staff, to authorize all employes, whether civilian or military, to "volunteer" Pearl Harbor information to the committee or any individual member. The proposed order also permitted questioning of prospective witnesses by any committee member. A Republican motion to permit any member to examine government documents, even in the presence of the committee's legal staff, was voted down by the Democratic majority.

Thru what Chairman Barkley [D., Ky.] called "a mistake or misunderstanding," the order signed by the President in response to this request struck out all references to "individual committee members," thus barring the minority from obtaining any information from prospective witnesses except by permission of the Democratic majority.

Barkley hastily called Mr. Truman and explained that this gag

The Truth at Last

An Editorial

The horrible truth of the Pearl Harbor catastrophe is now known. President Roosevelt and his administration invited the Japanese attack. They had been told when it was coming and where it would come. They deliberately withheld adequate warning from the Hawaiian commanders, Adm. Kimmel and Gen. Short. They permitted our battleships in Pearl Harbor to be sunk and our war planes on the air fields of Hawaii to be destroyed. They sacrificed the lives of 3,000 Americans. All this they did to have war.

The cost they exacted at Pearl Harbor to achieve their ambition was only the beginning. By the end of the war 262,000 Americans were dead. More than three-quarters of a million others were maimed or left broken in mind. More than a third of a trillion dollars was spent on destruction. The future of America is mortgaged.

The facts disclosed in congress by Representatives Keefe and Gearhart and Sen. Brewster have finally shattered a secrecy which was maintained for three years and 11 months by Mr. Roosevelt and his successor, using every unfair means at their disposal. The facts are as unanswerable as they are shocking. The defendants are no longer Kimmel and Short. They are Mr. Roosevelt, his secretary of state, Cordell Hull; his secretary of war, Henry L. Stimson, and his secretary of the navy, Frank Knox.

The present secretaries of war and navy, Robert P. Patterson and James Forrestal, are faced with the necessity of proving that they did not share the guilty knowledge. The army chief of staff, Gen. Marshall, and the former chief of naval operations, Adm. Stark, are in highly suspicious positions. They should come very clean if they are to save themselves from the general condemnation.

It is now disclosed that we had cracked the Japanese code by Nov. 5, 1941, a month and two days before the Pearl Harbor attack. From then until the day of slaughter Mr. Roosevelt's government knew everything the Japs were saying among themselves, every intention they had, every action they planned. All of this vital intelligence was, as Rep. Gearhart says, "purposefully withheld" from Kimmel and Short.

The texts of the intercepted and decoded Jap messages remove the last doubt that Mr. Roosevelt and his inner circle knew positively that the "surprise" blow—no surprise to them—would fall on Pearl Harbor. On Nov. 5 Tokyo notified

5 Hold Up 35 at Handbook, Take $10,000

Five formidably armed bandits descended upon a gambling place on the second floor at 118 Washington st. in Waukegan yesterday and robbed between 35 and 40 persons of more than $10,000 in cash and valuables.

The place, a handbook with a blackjack game on the side, is in the heart of Waukegan's downtown area and is patronized by business men and other substantial citizens. The owners are Steve Warner and John [Shorty] Pagonis, who operate without police molestation, except for a monthly trip to court to pay a $200 fine.

Lined Up Against Wall

The ninth race at Sportsman's Park had ended, and the holders of tickets on Valdina Fop had been paid their winnings of $5.80 for $2, when the five bandits swept thru the door and ordered customers and employes to line up against the wall.

One of the robbers carried a sawed off shotgun, two had submachine guns, and two flourished pistols. Four wore masks over the lower parts of their faces and one also had dark glasses. One of them had been seen in the place earlier in the afternoon.

Mrs. Rose Warner, wife of one owner, was in a kitchen in the rear with Sucvedes [Tommy] Thomas, 1410 22d st., North Chicago. They were forced to join the others in the main hall while the bandits systematically went from person to person, taking money, jewelry, watches, stickpins, fountain pens, and other valuables, which were dumped into burlap sacks.

Lets Woman Keep Ring

The assistant cashier, Mrs. Sally Wysocki, fell to the floor in a faint. After Thomas revived her, one bandit tried to remove a ring from her finger. "Please let me keep it," she begged. "It's my wedding ring." The bandit snarled, "O, let her keep it," and turned away.

Thomas had won more than $300 on a five horse parlay during the afternoon. He thrust the money beneath his shirt and saved it. Charles Donaldson, dealer of the blackjack game, dropped $300 on the floor, but one of the robbers saw him and pounced on the money. George Preston, janitor, broom in hand, was about to sweep the floor when the holdup interrupted him. He turned over $45. A customer who had just cashed a $95 check elsewhere lost that. Another customer, a cafe man, was said to have given up $500.

A Lake Bluff woman, who said her afternoon's wagering had cost all the money she had with her, protested against giving up a diamond ring. "O, please let me keep it—I'm getting married next week," she pleaded. "Lady, people get married every day," said a robber, and grabbed the ring.

The cashier, Mrs. Agnes Clare, Deerfield, turned over $360 of the handbook's money, the only loss officially reported to police. A handy man nicknamed Baldy saved $115 by stuffing it into his mouth.

The more than 25 customers and 10 or 15 employes were locked into two washrooms. They broke out 10 minutes later and found telephone wires had been torn loose. Seven Waukegan and North Chicago police and Lake county sheriff's cars failed to pick up the bandits' trail.

BOY, 16, IS MISSING WITH 25 YR. OLD WIFE OF PACIFIC VETERAN

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 8 [Special]—Sixteen year old Ellsworth [Sonny] Wisecarver, who in 1944 eloped to Yuma, Ariz., with a 21 year old mother of two children, and Mrs. Eleanor Deveny, 25, also the mother of two, have been missing from a North Long Beach home where both were guests since last evening, Long Beach police reported tonight.

Mrs. Deveny left her two small sons, whose father is in Japan with the army, at the home when she and Wisecarver left to "get a sandwich," Mrs. Deveny's father, Michael Praster, said, according to police.

Praster asked police to help locate his daughter so she could return to care for her sons, Ricky, 3 months, and Dennis, 4, now at Praster's home.

Wisecarver attracted widespread attention in April, 1944, when he eloped to Yuma, Ariz., with Mrs. Elaine Ludlum Monfredi. The two were married at Yuma and later were found honeymooning in Denver, Colo.

The honeymoon was cut short when Wisecarver's mother, Mrs. Mildred Wisecarver, accused Mrs. Monfredi of child stealing. Denver police held them until they were extradited here.

The marriage was annulled last March 23.

BRITISH TO ACT ON TYLER KENT'S RELEASE TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Nov. 8 — A British judge will decide tomorrow whether Tyler Kent will be set free pending his deportation or will languish longer in Old Brixton prison before transportation is found for him.

Counsel for Kent, who was sentenced in 1940 to seven years' imprisonment for violating Britain's official secrets acts while acting as code clerk in the American embassy, will file habeas corpus proceedings. The petition will call for Kent's release since he has served his term, considering time off for good behavior, and point out he has been detained more than four weeks further while the British government attempts to find means to deport him. Until the end of last week deportation was impossible, because of the dock strike. Now, however, the ship on which he is due to be deported is reported almost ready to sail.

Sullivan May Be Arbitrator in Ward Case

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8 [Special]—Federal District Judge Philip L. Sullivan of Chicago may soon be appointed an arbitrator in the dispute between Montgomery Ward & Co. and CIO employes of the big mail order house, it was declared on high authority here tonight.

The selection of Judge Sullivan to attempt to bring about a solution of the ancient controversy was reported to have the approval of President Truman. The judge's name, it was reported, was suggested by Atty. Gen. Clark.

Rivals' Attitude Unknown

Whether the company and the union had approved of Clark's proposals was not made clear here tonight.

What the scope of Judge Sullivan's duties as an arbitrator might be was not made clear, but it was considered probable that they may include the many issues of the entire Ward labor dispute, which resulted in the army's seizure of the company's Chicago properties.

The reported plan to ask Judge Sullivan to act as arbitrator was expected to arouse much interest because of the jurist's action last January in ruling that the army's seizure was illegal.

Army's Recent Departure

The army relinquished the properties less than a month ago after having held them since last December, the legality of their seizure having been upheld by the Circuit Court of Appeals in a reversal of Judge Sullivan's decision.

Principal issues in the dispute are the demands of Local 20 of the CIO United Mail Order, Warehouse, and Retail Employes' union for wage increases and maintenance of union membership check-off dues, and Ward's refusal to yield to the national war labor board's orders. The company contended the WLB orders were "illegal and uneconomic."

FLYING FRIEND WEDS WIFE OF DEAD AIR HERO

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 8 (AP)—An army air field comradeship among two bomber navigators and a girl culminated in a honeymoon today for Lt. W. Donald Thompson and his bride, Claire, widow of Don's best friend, Lt. Winfred Thompson of McColl, S. C.

The Winfred Thompsons and Don met at Selman Field, La., in 1943. Then both flyers went overseas. Upon returning, Don learned Winfred had been killed in the Ploesti raid. He went to comfort Claire, and their old friendship ripened into marriage.

"We're very happy," said the bride today. "I'm sure Win would be pleased."

INDONESE GET ULTIMATUM TO GIVE UP ARMS

Help of Truman and Attlee Asked

BATAVIA, Java, Nov. 8 (AP)—Fearful that heavy shooting will break out again tomorrow, President Soekarno of the unrecognized Indonesian republic tonight appealed to President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee to intercede and prevent savage warfare thruout Java.

Soekarno's appeal was made after the British commander in eastern Java had ordered all Indonesians to surrender their arms by 6 a. m., Saturday, or face "all the naval, army, and air forces under my command."

"Goodwill Endangered"

Soekarno, in his appeal to Mr. Truman, said "Asiatic goodwill toward America is endangered by the fact that the Dutch continue wearing American uniforms, carrying water canteens with the USA sign, continue to drive in United States trucks despite United States warning. . . ."

"Dutch troops," he continued, "are unrecognizable and shoot Indonesians, creating a natural suspicion on the part of Indonesians who have nothing against Americans being here on lawful business.

"American interests are now involved in the struggle. I request that to preserve American goodwill, please use your good offices to disarm and eventually evacuate all male citizens of Holland of military age."

In his message to Attlee, Soekarno charged that the Dutch were abusing Red Cross uniforms and had killed Indonesian women and children.

"Harmful to Understanding"

The Indonesian leader said the presence of British troops in Java "was harmful to the goodwill and understanding between 70,000,000 Indonesians and the British people."

The British ultimatum to Indonesians to surrender their arms, issued by Maj. Gen. E. C. Mansergh, said:

"All Indonesians who are not willing to follow these orders will be responsible for the bloodshed which will definitely result."

The Indonesian controled Soerabaja radio summoned Nationalist forces to resist any attempt by the Dutch troops offshore to reinforce the British Indian units holding a fortified zone at the Soerabaja base, scene of bloody skirmishes last week.

A force of 100,000 Indonesians was reported in the area of Jogjakarta, ancient Java capital 175 miles southwest of Soerabaja.

Toll Now 100 Dead in Riots Near Tripoli

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 8 (AP)—Arab mobs charging into the Jewish quarter of Zanzur west of Tripoli killed 30 Jews, including children, in a new outburst of rioting in Tripolitania which has slain more than 100 Jews, the British said tonight.

The mobs fired a synagog and houses and looted homes at Zanzur in "a particularly brutal attack" Tuesday, a bulletin said.

Troops opened fire several times to quell the riots which spilled over into the provinces after starting in Tripoli, the bulletin added.

550 Rioters Arrested

The British announced yesterday that 74 Jews and one Arab had been killed and 183 Jews injured in clashes in the Italian Mediterranean colony since Sunday night.

Five hundred and fifty rioters have been arrested.

The latest rioting occurred Wednesday at Cussabat, 55 miles east of Tripoli, "where two Jews were killed by a mob during the afternoon," the bulletin said.

Six Killed at Zavia

On Tuesday six Jews were killed at Zavia, 30 miles west of Tripoli. Other riots broke out at Zliten, 85 miles east of Tripoli.

Abdel Rahman Azzam Bey, secretary general of the Pan-Arab league, commenting on the Tripolitania rioting, asserted that violence served no purpose in settling the Jewish-Arab problem.

Public demonstrations in Egypt on Nov. 13, the national holiday, were banned today by the ministry of the interior. The Cairo anti-Jewish demonstrations earlier this month, when between 200 and 300 people were injured by gunfire, were blamed for the ruling.

Winter Omen: Cold Blasts and 15° Drop

Winter's advance agents, borne on a late 27 mile an hour wind, sped across the central plains into Chicagoland last night. Heralding a cold spell, the mercury tumbled 15 degrees to 43 in 50 minutes after 7 o'clock and it continued dropping, apparently bent on fulfilling a prediction of a maximum of 30 by morning.

H. S. Kenny, government forecaster in Chicago, predicted that the temperature probably will fall to between 15 and 20 degrees tonight.

Farewell Indian Summer

The frigid spell, which abruptly ended a period of Indian summer weather, will continue thru tomorrow. Temperatures near the freezing mark are forecast for most of the day.

Sunday is expected to bring slowly rising temperatures and this trend is to continue next week until normal November weather is reached. This would mean, Kenny said, a range of from 32 to 49 daily.

The cold moved down from Alberta to replace a low pressure, or storm area, which began moving across the state of Washington from the Alaskan area Tuesday, and which yesterday veered off over Lake Superior in the direction of Hudson Bay.

Heavy Snow in Mountain Area

The cold front skirted the continental divide and spread from Nebraska as far south as Texas and Arkansas. It brought a drop to 30 degrees below at Penhold, Alta., and 1 below in both Grand Falls and Fort Peck, Mont., with 16 inches of snow on the Mullen mountain pass between Montana and Idaho. Cars were stalled in scattered sections of the west.

Gusts of wind up to 60 miles an hour lashed Chicago and suburbs before the temperature fell, tho the hardest sustained wind was recorded as 36 miles an hour. Trees toppled and windows were blown out, including two 8 by 13 plate-glass panes in Spiegel's store at 4128 Madison st. After Dr. Marion E. Marcus stepped out of her automobile in front of her home at 4819 N. Drake av., a tree fell and smashed the hood.

COUNCIL VOTES BIG AIRPORT ON DOUGLAS FIELD

Kelly Takes Bid to Capital Today

Rapid city council action yesterday pushed into high gear the movement to create a 5,230 acre super-airport near Park Ridge and to build the northwest super-highway connecting it with the loop.

Mayor Kelly signed the ordinance at once. He will depart for Washington, D. C., today in a United Air Lines plane to start negotiations with federal officials to acquire the 1,324 acres of the idle Douglas aircraft factory and flight field. This site will be the nucleus of the super-airport.

Roads to Be Relocated

The council instructed the city controler to initiate proceedings to add to the nucleus until the size of 5,230 acres is reached. Existing roads will be relocated to enlarge the landing area—Higgins rd. moved north, La Grange [Mannheim] rd. moved east, and Irving Park rd. moved south.

Under terms of the ordinance, Public Works Commissioner Hewitt will prepare detailed plans for the airport. It is to accommodate a maximum of 360 planes an hour on 12 runways. Four runways are to be 7,700 feet long and eight are to be 6,100 feet long. They will be laid out on the tangential pattern, resembling a July 4 pinwheel.

Hewitt to Deal with Lines

Plans drawn by engineers will be subject to council approval. Hewitt also was requested to schedule rentals, fees, and other charges to cover operating costs and amortization and to obtain the air lines' acceptance of these terms.

Final cost of the airport will be about 40 million dollars. Voters have authorized the city to issue 15 million dollars in bonds as a starter.

Included in the airport ordinance was the instruction that V. E. Gunlock, commissioner of subways and superhighways, continue working with county and state engineers to prepare plans and specifications of the northwest superhighway.

Mayor Asks O. K. of Report

The mayor appeared at the council aviation committee meeting before the council session to urge adoption of the report of his airport selection board. This board, headed by Merrill C. Meigs, had recommended the Douglas site after two months of hearings. It reported that the proposed port would be superior to the Idlewild port now being developed by New York.

"I'd like to buy the federal land as soon as possible and then the remainder can be obtained later," Kelly told the committee. "Passage of the ordinance will enable me to get my foot in the door in Washington. Speed is essential."

Four More May Be Needed

Chicago may require five airports in and around the city, including the present 620 acre airport at 63d st. and Cicero av., the mayor said. But he added that the Douglas port is the only one that can be developed into a "master" project without prohibitive cost.

A motion by Ald. Cowhey [41st] to pass the ordinance was seconded by Ald. Quirk [48th].

SIX DESK PHONES BAFFLE RUSSIAN CHIEF IN BERLIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BERLIN, Germany, Nov. 8—Gen. Smirnov, commanding the Red army garrison in Berlin, has six telephones on his massive desk in the Russian headquarters. The numerous instruments seem to baffle the doughty Red warrior, as, despite the different sounds of the six bells, he invariably picks up the wrong receiver at every call.

Smirnov announced today that a company from the American 82d airborne division will participate Sunday in a ceremony unveiling a statue of heroic size of a Red soldier in the Tiergarten. The statue will commemorate the Russian cap-

CARLSON BARES SPY METHODS IN ROBNETT TRIAL

Tells of Operating with Many False Names

John Roy Carlson, author of the book, "Under Cover," testified yesterday in Judge Walter J. LaBuy's federal District court that he carried the aliases under which he masqueraded to the point of claiming a false identity under oath in the trial of a New York policeman.

Carlson, whose real name is Avedis Arthur Derounian, is a witness in the $100,000 libel suit brought by George Washington Robnett, executive secretary of the Church League of America, against E. P. Dutton, Inc., publisher of Carlson's book, in which Robnett charges he was libeled.

Admits Many Aliases

Under questioning by Robnett's attorney, Harry S. Ditchburne, Carlson admitted he used many aliases, including John Correa, Rudolph Eibert, George Page, and George Pagnanelli, the last used when interviewing Robnett.

"Didn't you also use the name of Thomas L. Decker under oath in the trial of a man named Drew?" Ditchburne asked.

Carlson admitted he did, but added that he later admitted his identity. Carlson had been the chief witness against Roy Drew, New York policeman against whom the Friends of Democracy, an organization by which Carlson is employed, brought charges. In the trial, Carlson took oath under the name of Decker, but admitted his real name was Derounian when questioned by Drew's attorney.

Discloses Spy Strategy

Carlson not only manufactured new names for each organization or group he investigated, but he also invented relatives and thought up various situations to make them sound real and lull the suspicions of groups he was investigating.

Before calling Robnett as an adverse witness, Lloyd D. Heth, attorney for the Dutton firm, offered 138 exhibits in the form of 138 issues of News and Views, a publication edited by Robnett and on which Carlson said he based his opinion that Robnett was anti-Semitic, plus the interview that Robnett charges Carlson reported falsely.

Heth questioned Robnett on his early life and background, leading up to the formation of the Church League of America in 1937 and the selection of Robnett as executive secretary. Robnett said the statement he made in a letter quoted by Heth—that opposition to the court packing bill was the primary reason for starting the league—was "partly true," but that it also was formed for other reasons by a group of Chicago men and that ministers and laymen thruout the country later were invited to join.

Heth had asked Carlson only concerning his marriage and his two children before turning the witness over to Ditchburne for cross examination at the opening of court. Reviewing his history, Ditchburne obtained from Carlson the information that at the age of 10 he spoke Greek, Bulgarian, Armenian, French fluently and had learned a little Italian.

Carlson Had Dummy Address

Carlson testified the 100 W. 86th st., New York, address he used in writing to Robnett under the name of Pagnanelli was a dummy address and part of the fiction of his Pagnanelli character. He testified that a letter received from his fictitious sister, Jeanette, while he was on investigation work in Detroit, Mich., was part of strategy agreed upon with an employe of the Friends of Democracy to provide an excuse for his departure when "things got too hot."

"You had to lie about yourself most of the time, didn't you?" asked Ditchburne. Objections of his attorney prevented Carlson from answering.

Of a passage in Carlson's book describing a fight between Irish and Jews in New York, Ditchburne asked "What side were you on?"

"Just observing."

Q.—Weren't you pretending to be on one side, asking questions and copying names? A.—Yes.

Q.—While you were working for the Anti-Defamation League weren't you publishing a periodical assailing the Jews? A.—Not Jews in particular.

Holding volume 1, number 2 of the Christian Defender, the magazine Carlson published under the name of Pagnanelli, Ditchburne asked if the articles in other issues contained the same kind of material.

"About the same."

Admits Dire Prophesies

Q.—Did you compose these words: "There is nothing anti-Jewish in these little essays. There needn't be any. Jews are as much doomed as the House of Rothschild and the [Christian] House of Roosevelt. It is in the nature of the 'wave of the future' to sweep away the debris of the past centuries and set up in its place a civilization vibrant, enduring, dynamic. Any who stand in the way—be they Christian or Jewish—must be swept away with no show of mercy, for that is the nature of the future. It shall belong to the strong." A.—Yes.

FINEST BREEDS GRACE ARENA AT COLISEUM SHOW

Some of the finest representatives of the various breeds of horses are gracing the arena of the Coliseum during the Chicago horse show, which will continue thru Sunday. There are horses bred for work and horses bred for traveling, hunting, jumping or for pure beauty.

The palomino ranks as the most spectacular horse in appearance of all the breeds on display. When United States troops took possession of California about 100 years ago they found a horse bred by the Spanish called the palomino which they liked. It is bred for its magnificent golden color and almost white mane and tail. Not as fast as other horses, the palomino usually stands about 15.2 hands high and weighs from 1,000 to 1,200 pounds. It is a saddle horse and usually has Arabian blood.

A Work Horse

The Clydesdale is a work horse standing usually between 16 and 16.2 hands high and weighing around 1,800 pounds. It is distinguished by its long "feathers" on the fetlocks and cannons. The breed originated in the region of the county of Lanark, Scotland. The breed started in 1715.

The Tennessee Walking horse is one of the easiest riding saddle horses. Used originally on plantations, the horse derives its name from its ability to move smoothly in a running walk that covers distance with little discomfort to the rider. An intelligent and well behaved animal, the Walking horse stands about 15.2 hands high and weighs about 1,000 pounds. The prevalent colors are bay, black, and chestnut.

The Quarter horse arose from the need of horsemen for a horse that could develop great speeds for at least a quarter of a mile as there were few clearings of more than this length. The earliest form of American racing was carried on with these animals. Cowboys found the animals extremely useful for the range in chasing steers and roping work. The Quarter horse usually stands 15 hands high and weighs around 1,200 pounds.

The Saddle Horse

The American Saddle horse often is used for fine harness work. An all purpose horse developed thru the need of pioneers for such an animal was formed by crossing saddle types imported from abroad. It stands 15 to 16 hands high, weighs around 1,000 pounds and can be taught a variety of gaits with ease. Its colors usually are dark bays.

The Standard Bred trotter as a breed dates back to 1879. A small horse averaging 15.2 hands and weighing from 900 to 1,000 pounds, the animals mainly are used in trotting races. They are unexcelled in ability to travel mile after mile at a rapid trotting pace.

BRITISH APPOINT GEN. CUNNINGHAM TO PALESTINE POST

Lt. Gen. Alan G. Cunningham

LONDON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Alan Gordon Cunningham, former commander of the British 8th army in North Africa, was named high commissioner for Palestine and Transjordan tonight, succeeding John Vereker [Lord Gort], who resigned because of ill health.

The 58 year old general, brother of Admiral of the Fleet Andrew Browne Cunningham, also takes over the post of commander in chief of Palestine.

Gen. Cunningham was replaced as commander of the 8th army in November, 1941, by Maj. Gen. N. M. Ritchie, after he expressed doubt that Gen. Claude J. Auchinleck's plan to sweep the Germans out of Cirenaica could be accomplished. After a brief rest he became commandant of the staff college at Camberly, until his appointment in 1943 as commander of British troops in northern Ireland.

COUNCIL VOTES CHA 5 MILLION, BUT KEEPS REINS

Aldermen to Retain Housing Powers

The hotly argued ordinance giving the Chicago housing authority use of the city's 5 million dollar slum clearance fund was passed yesterday by the city council with an amendment requiring the CHA to submit its projects to the council.

The amendment, which was interpreted as a partial gain for the cause of private building as against public housing, appeased most of the aldermen who had opposed the measure when it was introduced two weeks ago. The vote was 44 to 3.

Council Has Final Word

In its original form, the ordinance provided that CHA could select a rundown neighborhood for clearance and could start negotiations with property owners by calling on the city controler. The amendment, presented by Ald. Wagner [14th], leader of the opposition, requires the housing authority to submit its plans to the council and gives the council the final word. The amendment was adopted by a voice vote.

Wagner said in support of the amendment that it would not interfere with bringing the slum clearance program, in which an appropriation by the state legislature also is involved, to a test in court.

Situation May Change

"I have come to the conclusion that by the time the test case is back from the court there may be changes in the situation," he said. "We may find private capital can do the job best, and there may be other changes in the economic structure. This amendment will not jeopardize the test. It will make it possible for the council, if it is in that frame of mind when the CHA is ready to go ahead, to substitute projects, perhaps with private capital, that may appear more desirable."

"Whole Plan Unsound"

Ald. Waller [43d] and Ald. Merryman [45th], who, with Ald. Olin [8th], voted against passage of the ordinance, spoke at length against public housing and in favor of the city's using its condemnation power to clear blighted neighborhoods and let private interests develop them.

"The whole plan is unsound," said Waller. "When you take private property and put it into public hands, you take it off the tax rolls and the home owners and other taxpayers must take on added burdens."

VETERAN GETS BROTHER OUT OF BRIDEWELL

Patrick Doyle, 18, of 856 W. 51st st., who was serving a sentence of one year in the Bridewell, gained his freedom yesterday when his brother, Sgt. James, 24, just back from three years overseas, intervened on his behalf and obtained a writ of habeas corpus before Chief Justice Harold G. Ward in Criminal court.

Doyle gained his freedom when Chief Justice Ward was informed his draft board wanted to send Doyle to the army. Doyle had been sentenced for breaking a 75 cent window last March.

He originally was sentenced by Municipal Judge Jacob M. Braude in Boys' court to pay a fine of $106 and placed on a year's probation. On Oct. 29 a probation officer told Judge Braude Doyle was to be inducted, but had failed to pay his fine. Judge Braude terminated the probation and gave Doyle a new trial, altho he did not ask for one. At the second trial Judge Braude imposed a $1 fine and one year in jail. Chief Justice Ward freed Doyle on the ground the Municipal court had no jurisdiction to grant a new trial.

One Way Streets in Loop Suggested by Alderman

Ald. Olin [8th] yesterday introduced a resolution at a city council meeting calling upon the council committee on traffic and public safety to consider establishing one way streets in the loop.

Jerrems

THE COAT THAT WAITED

In 1941 a Jerrems customer selected a coat without consulting his draft board. He was next heard from as an Air Corps private,—"Please hold my coat for me. No other coat will do when I come home."

The coat waited through those years of shortages, when an Imported English Burberry was as rare as a steak. Last week he came back, a much decorated major calling for his first civilian coat.

This is a happy story—but there are many returning men who can't find the civilian clothes they need. We hope civilians will think twice when anticipating additions to their own wardrobes.

U.S. KEEPS 8,000 MEN AT BASES IN NORTH ATLANTIC

100,000 at Outposts at Height of War

BY WILLIAM STRAND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8—Demobilization has brought a reduction in the number of troops manning North Atlantic bases in Newfoundland, Greenland, and Iceland, the army disclosed today. The total garrisons for all three now number less than 8,000, compared with nearly 100,000 men who were detailed to these stepping stones to Europe when the war was at its height.

Those remaining, said the army, are mainly men operating weather stations, vital in trans-oceanic flying, and service personnel handling supply and maintenance chores for the air transport command. There are also small numbers of headquarters troops and service units assigned to each base command.

In addition, the navy has a small establishment of 1,085 in Newfoundland, it was learned, and a token force of 191 officers and men remaining in Iceland.

Newfoundland Under Lease

The numbers of soldiers at each base are: Newfoundland, 3,434; Greenland, 2,211, and Iceland, 2,245. The army said it was unable to predict how long it will keep its men in these places.

The United States has a 99 year lease on the Newfoundland base, it was explained, and negotiations already have been started by this government for leases on permanent bases in Greenland and Iceland.

During the war, assignments to the outlying Atlantic bases were regarded by the troops as virtual exile. While their comrades in other units were participating in the more stirring phases of the war, these garrisons waited in vain to forestall enemy attempts to seize the strategic outposts.

Grunert Praises Men

When he was chief of the eastern defense command, Lt. Gen. George W. Grunert paid high tribute to these garrisons, asserting the importance of their work cannot be overestimated altho the secret nature of most of their tasks prevented them from getting the public acknowledgement which was their due.

Possession of the Atlantic stepping stones kept open vital oceanic supply routes to Britain and Russia while keeping the enemy from getting the all-important weather information from the fringes of the Arctic circle, Gen. Grunert said. The Nazis tried up to the end of the war to establish weather outposts in Iceland and Greenland. Their every atempt was frustrated by American airmen.

At the same time, men operating United States weather stations on the island coasts were tapping out the information that enabled allied air and ground commanders in Europe to plan their campaigns ahead of time. This part of the world has long been known as the place where Europe's weather is made, and such information was a necessity for planning such historic ventures as the second front landings in Normandy.

Henry Piper

Henry Piper, 37, of 927 Castlewood terr., a son of A. H. Piper, head of the Piper Baking company, yesterday was ordered by Judge Frank M. Padden in Superior court to be held in custody until a hearing today on his alleged arrearage of $1,674 for temporary support of his estranged wife, Marian, 28, of 70 E. Walton st. Piper was arrested Wednesday on a writ of attachment issued last Jan. 22, and held overnight in jail when he failed to bring the money into court. The couple have a 10 month old son, born after their separation July 15, 1944.

Give City Hall First Bath, Mayor Advises Council

Mayor Kelly yesterday told the city council that it was about time the outside of the city hall was getting a bath. It hasn't had one since it was first occupied in 1911, altho bids for the job were taken and rejected during WPA days. The mayor's suggestion was referred to the council finance committee for consideration.

Albany, Cal., Nov. 8 (AP)—Rex, a German shepherd dog released 10 days ago after 18 months of service with the army in the South Pacific, was put under observation today after leaping a six foot fence to attack Mrs. Ume Akagi, 65, Berkeley woman of Japanese descent.

His owner, Fred Hoffler, said the dog's hair bristled and then it leaped the fence and rushed at the woman.

CHARGES ARMY BUILDS AIRPORT FOR THE ARABS

Legislator Says Cost Is 6 Millions

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8 (AP)—Rep. Philbin [D., Mass.] said tonight that an airport being built by the United States army at Dhahran, Saudi Arabia, "is destined to be turned over to the government of Saudi Arabia."

Philbin has made public two letters from American soldiers he did not identify who protested because they were assigned to work on the project, which he termed "quasi-private."

"Little Military Value"

The legislator said in a news release tonight that the air field was being built at a cost of 6 million dollars by soldier labor batallions, American civilians, Italians, and native labor under "an agreement drawn up by the state department" with Saudi Arabia. He said he had information indicating the air port had "little if any, military value, with the end of the war."

A state department official told a reporter tonight the negotiations for the airport were undertaken by the state-war-navy coördinating committee about two years ago after the United States joint chiefs of staff had called the project "a military necessity." The official said the state department entered the picture only to carry out negotiations with King Ibn Saud.

On Great Circle Route

He said the airport would be on the direct "great circle route" from Cairo, Egypt, to Karachi, India, and that it was designed to replace an airport used during the war at Abadan in southern Iran. The official said the Dhahran airport will be near the great American-Arabian oil fields, with their colony of about 2,000 Americans.

Under the agreement with Ibn Saud, the United States will retain control of the airport for "a considerable length of time," and is assured of attractive concessions after that period, he said.

ADMIRAL BLASTS UNIFIED FORCES AS PERIL TO U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8—Fresh evidence of the chasm separating army and navy thinking was given the senate military affairs committee today by Vice Adm. C. M. Cooke, deputy chief of naval operations, who asserted unification of the army and navy would jeopardize the nation's security.

The committee is trying to develop a plan to merge the war and navy departments and has received from the army a comprehensive plan for a single department, but Cooke, pleading for a big navy and a separate department, today said the army has a few lessons to learn about integration in its own organization.

Cooke said the United States, separated as it is by thousands of miles of ocean on either side, must develop and maintain a powerful navy stronger than any possible combination of navies in the Atlantic or Pacific.

"Yet," said Cooke, "we have urged upon us here plausible proposals which, to the navy mind, charged as it must be with voicing responsible opinion in the matter, not only surrender this enviable position, but definitely jeopardize our nation's future securtly."

SENATORS VOTE TO LIBERALIZE GI RIGHTS BILL

Reject Equal Treatment of War Widows

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8 (AP)—A revised "GI Bill of Rights," easing the way for veterans to get government backed schooling or loans, received senate approval today after a proposal to extend its benefits to widows of veterans was shouted down.

Passage on a voice vote sent the measure to the house which approved GI amendments last summer. The senate bill is a complete substitute, however, retaining only the house title.

Sen. Johnson [D., Colo.], floor manager for the bill, estimated its changes would make the GI program cost the treasury 9 billion dollars over the years of its operation.

Original Cost 7.6 Billions

He said the cost of the original GI bill, enacted in June, 1944, was estimated at $7,635,000,000.

Sen. Magnuson [D., Wash.] offered the amendment to give widows of veterans the benefits of the bill.

Johnson replied that the finance committee had considered that proposal as well as a suggestion from Sen. Wheeler [D., Mont.] that the benefits be extended to children of veterans, but had decided against both.

The Coloradan noted that widows received a pension and suggested that any additional aid for them should be thru legislation amending the pension laws.

Chief Changes in Bill

Here are chief changes the legislation would make in the existing GI law:

Give any veteran of World War II., regardless of age, the right to go to school with the government paying expenses of tuition, books, etc., up to $500 a year. The present law applies to veterans whose schooling was interrupted by service and declares that is presumed to be the case of those who were under 25 when they entered the army or navy.

Increase from $50 to $65 the monthly living allowance for student-veterans without dependents and from $75 to $90 the allowance for those with dependents.

Technical Training Possible

Bring under the program short technical training courses and correspondence courses if the cost does not exceed $500 a year.

Authorize the veterans administrator to make agreements with state institutions for payments in lieu of tuition. [Some state institutions charge no tuition or very little.]

Permit government guarantee up to one-half, or not more than $2,000, of loans to veterans to buy homes, businesses, or farms, provided the property was purchased at a "reasonable value."

Permit guaranteed loans to cover working capital, seeds, and farm machinery as well as real estate.

Increase the amortization period for nonfarm loans from 20 years to 25 and for farm loans from 20 to 40.

Extend from five years to 10 the period after the war during which the loan provisions are effective.

The Great Stalin Mystery: 3 Versions

He's in Good Health–

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Nov. 8—"There is no Stalin mystery. It is just a clever performance of Stalin," a diplomat just returned from Moscow said today. "By getting Molotov to make the speech Stalin wrote for the Moscow celebration, Stalin has talked to the world without committing himself," the diplomat added.

"Stalin is in good health and sitting back in the Kremlin waiting for his well prepared turn. When reactions from the outside on Molotov's speech have been analyzed in Moscow, Stalin will talk. The prestige of his wisdom will rise and his people will say what a good, kindly, understanding leader our great comrade Stalin is."

He's Just Resting–

MOSCOW, Nov. 8 [Reuters]—Generalissimo Stalin, it is generally believed in Moscow, spent yesterday's anniversary of the bolshevik revolution at Sochi, on the Black sea coast, where he is resting and spending his vacation.

The Russians did not appear unduly surprised that he did not return to Moscow for the anniversary, altho they were naturally disappointed.

There was not the same pitch of enthusiasm in the Red square as when Stalin attends personally, but the Russians feel that Stalin is the hardest working man in the country and agree that his holiday is long overdue.

He's Very Ill–

PARIS, Nov. 8 (AP)—The newspaper Liberation Soir published today a dispatch from the Agence d'Edition de Presse, under a Moscow date line which said Generalissimo Stalin was taken seriously ill Nov. 4 and was forbidden by doctors to appear this week at Moscow celebrations.

The dispatch said Stalin suffered a heart attack at his villa at Sochi on the Black sea coast and was transferred to a clinic at near-by Gagri. His daughter, Svetlanna, the dispatch said, was called from Moscow.

The agency said Stalin's heart attack occurred after a visit Oct. 25 by United States Ambassador W. Averell Harriman.

4,450 YANKS LEAVE LE HAVRE; 11,052 WILL SAIL TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Nov. 8—A total of 4,450 Yanks left Le Havre today aboard the Victory ships Kingston, Chanute, and the William S. Young, a Liberty ship.

Tomorrow 11,052 more GIs will sail. The former liner Argentina will carry 4,502, the United States army transport Thomas Barry, 3,885, the Victory ship Marshall, 1,950, the Liberty ship Peter McGuire, 567, the Liberty ship John S. Pillsbury, 567, and the Mary M. Dodge, 31.

A statement by the public relations officer of the Delta base section said the port of Marseilles will clear 131,872 troops by Thanksgiving day.

Three Former Presidents of Venezuela Face Trial

CARACAS, Venezuela, Nov. 8 [Reuters]—Three former presidents of Venezuela, Dr. Isais Medina Angarita, Gen. Cleazar Contreras, and Dr. Juan Perez, are to face trial on charges of misuse of public funds, the new provisional government announced today.

BODY OF SLAIN DETROIT WOMAN TO BE EXHUMED

Pontiac, Mich., Nov. 8 [Special]—Dr. Leon S. Cobb, Oakland county coroner, tonight ordered exhumed for reëxamination the body of Mrs. Lydia Thompson, 47, wife of a wealthy Detroit auto dealer, who was slain near here last month.

The decision to reëxamine the body was made after a conference of police and medical authorities. State police said they wanted to make the reëxamination to determine damage done by blows on the victim's head.

In the investigation into another Oakland county slaying, Larry J. Theis, 29, former Pontiac factory worker, was being brought here from New York City by Michigan police for questioning about the killing of Mrs. Alberta Young, 33, army captain's wife whose bullet pierced body was found in the Clinton river on Oct. 31.

AIR TRANSPORT UNIT BANS TALK OF ITS ACTIVITIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8—The army transportation corps, which has been under fire from all quarters for delays in getting veterans home from the wars, has put the lid on any information about its activities in the Pacific, Sen. Ferguson [R., Mich.] revealed today.

Ferguson read to the senate a memorandum placed on the corps' bulletin boards in the Western Pacific which forbids its personnel to talk to newsmen or public relations officers.

"This is very significant," Ferguson told the senate. "It indicates that the boys are under strict orders not to talk about anything in relation to going home."

Text of Order

The memorandum, headed "Headquarters United States army forces, Western Pacific, office of the chief of transportation," said:

"1. The chief of transportation directs that officers, enlisted personnel, and civilian employes refrain from divulging or offering any information whatsoever, repeat, any information whatsoever, to any newspaper, magazine, periodical, or public relations officer at any time.

"2. Strict and implicit compliance with this matter is enjoined upon every one."

Dated Oct. 26

The date of the order was Oct. 26, 1945, which, Ferguson said, indicated that it had nothing to do with security.

Ferguson said the order was particularly ironical to one army detachment in the Pacific on whose bulletin board the memorandum was followed by an announcement of that week's movies. Their titles were "The Big Sleep" and "Sing Your Way Home."

LET THIS GIRL INSPIRE YOU ON YANKS' YULE

She Will Send Gifts to Heroes in Hospitals

BY HARRY McCLAIN

A letter from a Tribune reader who asked for the names of four service men to whom she will send a Christmas gift tells the program of the Friend of the Yanks' Christmas Gifts for Service Men so completely that it is printed here today.

Tribune readers who desire to participate in the Friend of the Yanks campaign to provide Christmas gifts for more than 40,000 wounded and sick service men in military hospitals in 10 central and midwest states need only clip the coupon in an adjoining column and mail it with a stamped, addressed envelope to the Friend of the Yanks. Names of the service men will be mailed to readers during the first week in December.

Recalls Traditional Christmas

"I want to congratulate you for the fine work you are doing for service men for Christmas," a Cicero girl wrote. "Now that the war has been won and so many of the boys are returning to their loved ones, there will be those who will forget the fellows who are going to spend many weeks, perhaps months in the hospitals recovering from wounds suffered in battle. How false the ideals they fought for would appear if we all were to forget those men on that day.

"From babyhood we look forward each year to Christmas. It is the one day that brings back fond memories to each and every American. Memories crowded with steaming turkeys, pies, bedecked pine trees, and gaily wrapped presents. It is a day set aside for visiting, exchanging gifts and singing carols.

Writer Wants Four Names

"For many veterans this year, Christmas will be all this and much more. But to those lying in hospitals, Christmas still will be just memories.

"Your fine work and the generosity of your readers will help to bring Christmas closer to all these fellows. It will show them just how much we appreciate what they did for us. And tho a mere gift never can substitute for their sacrifice, it can say, 'Thanks a million, fellows!' for a job well done.

"Last year I asked for four names. The demand was so great you could send me only two. This year I am asking for four again. Here's hoping I receive all of them. I am proud to take part in such a worthy program.

Proud to Be American

"Loads of luck to you in this tremendous undertaking. It can be nothing but a success because of your untiring efforts and charity to others—because of the wonderful men who won this war and the consideration shown that those who are wounded and lying in hospitals may have a truly merry Christmas from you and your readers. I shall be on bended knee this Christmas. Thank God I am an American!"

Readers of THE TRIBUNE can assure themselves of receiving the names they desire by sending the request coupon to the Friend of the Yanks at once. Requests will be filled in the order received.

HOUSE HEARINGS ON PEACE DRAFT STOP ABRUPTLY

Halted as Patterson Pleads for Plan

BY LAURENCE BURD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8—House hearings on President Truman's peace time conscription proposal were suspended abruptly today two hours after they started when sudden opposition to the plan erupted in the house military affairs committee.

The suspension came in the midst of testimony by War Secretary Patterson, who urged congress to adopt the military conscription program as a guarantee of future national defense and world peace.

Closed Session Asked

Patterson was still being questioned by committee members about the program when Rep. Short [R., Mo.] demanded that the secretary be excused so the committee could go into closed session.

When this request was granted, Short, who termed Truman's conscription plan a "totalitarian measure that breeds war," moved that further hearings on the plan be postponed until after Jan. 1 or until the senate takes action on it.

With a number of Democratic supporters of conscription absent, Short and his Republican committee colleagues apparently had the votes to force the two months' postponement, but the move was defeated on a technicality. Rep. Kilday [D., Tex.] raised the point that the house was in session at the time, and that committees cannot transact business except by special permission when the house is meeting.

Session Breaks Up

The committee session then broke up, and Rep. May [D., Ky.] later announced that further hearings, scheduled for the rest of today and tomorrow, would be deferred until next Tuesday.

May's action was apparently prompted, members said, by a fear that Short's motion for a two month postponement, if renewed this week, might be approved with the aid of the Democrats' absenteeism. Several Democratic members are out of town and not slated to return to the capital until next week. Short declared he will make his demand again next week.

Patterson, urging congress to adopt the conscription plan proposed by President Truman last month, declared we must have a huge citizens reserve army for defense because the allied nations organization is still "only a hope" for keeping world peace.

The plan calls for one year's military training for all young men when they reach age 18 or finish high school, whichever is earlier.

CHARGES REDS AREN'T OUT OF IRAN, MORE THOUSANDS ARRIVE

TEHRAN, Iran, Nov. 8 (AP)—The Iran parliament heard protests today about continued Russian occupation of parts of the country. Dr. R. Etebar, a deputy, told the legislature:

"Iran fulfilled its pledge to the united nations charter, particularly toward Russia. The evacuation of Iran has been announced and confirmed by united nations leaders. Despite this, I regret that today the Red army occupies 45 buildings in Tehran and the Russian occupation army headquarters still are not evacuated.

"Twelve thousand fresh Russian troops have landed at the port of Bandar Shah [on the Caspian sea], 80,000 in Astara and new divisions arrived recently in Azerbaijan. Why are our gendarmes hindered by the Russian military when they move northward to restore order?"

Premier Hakimi received an almost unanimous vote of confidence.

BELIEVES REDS TO REJECT LOAN, PRESS FREEDOM

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8 (AP)—Rep. Wolcott [R., Mich.] expressed belief today that Russia will reject a loan from the United States if it is conditioned on press freedom for American newsmen.

Wolcott told a reporter his opinion was based on indirect reports he has received since his return from Moscow last month. He added that such a condition should be imposed on any loan.

Russia reportedly wants to borrow $6,000,000,000 from the United States, and Wolcott said she seemingly feels "she will be doing us a favor by taking it."

The lawmaker asserted this apparently stemmed from statements such as those of Commerce Secretary Wallace that the United States will have to make heavy exports to achieve 60,000,000 post-war jobs. Wolcott said he was convinced that "Russia needs the loan more than we need to give it."

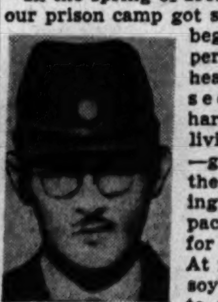
HUNGER CASTS CLOUD ON MINDS OF JAP CAPTIVES

Maj. Tisdelle Tells How Weak Suffered

(Grave problems of morale among American prisoners of war in Japan are described in this instalment of "Men Who Wouldn't Die." The author, a Chicagoan, served as spokesman for 500 prisoners who were forced to be slaves in a coal mine at Omuta, Japan. His story is based on his diary, kept during 40 months as a prisoner.)

BY MAJ. A. C. TISDELLE
as told to Carl Wiegman

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune]



Ken Yamamoto

In the spring of 1944 conditions in our prison camp got so bad that we began to get desperate. It was heartbreaking to see the men — hardly more than living skeletons —go to work in the mine, carrying pitiful little packages of rice for their lunches. At first they had soybean paste to mix with the rice, but by this time they were getting seaweed, which looked like black cole slaw, to flavor the rice. The seaweed was salty, and that's about all.

Once a month the Japs weighed us and every month the charts showed weight losses. My normal weight is 185; in the Philippines it got down to 157, and in Japan it fell to 115. All the other prisoners lost weight in the same proportion.

Made Desperate by Hunger

The men were so hungry that some of them lost their capacity to think. They would sell tomorrow's rice for an extra helping today. They would sell anything, even their rights in the next distribution of Red Cross supplies, for a bit of food.

The contemptible "big dealers" among the prisoners, who cheated the weaker men, were a tough problem because we officers had limited authority. The Japs were our masters. Eventually some of the worst of the "big dealers" were punished by a group of noncommissioned officers who took it upon themselves to act.

Majority Well Behaved

I am ashamed to tell of this ugly situation and am glad to report that the great majority of the prisoners behaved like men.

Our medical officers, Tom Hewlett and Harold Proff, shared my constant worry over the declining health of the men. We held many conferences and hit upon a plan that we called the "thin man ration." The doctors picked out the weakest men and gave them tickets good for whatever extra helpings there were available at each meal. This system saved many lives.

Running the mess was an extremely difficult job. The prisoners naturally tried to steal food and to get extra helpings. To stop this, the mess officer, Navy Lt. Edward N. Little, made a large board with the names of all the men and checked them off when they had been served. Trying to "beat the board" was a major pastime in our camp.

Death of a Jap Guard

One day a prisoner working in the mess accidentally touched one of the electrified wires on the compound fence and couldn't let go. Lt. Little saw him, made a flying tackle to get his own feet off the ground, and pulled the man off the wire. Soon afterward, a Jap guard accidentally touched the same wire with his bayonet. He was electrocuted—to our delight.

While we worried about starvation, injuries and ailments from work in the coal mine kept on mounting. On March 24 Pvt. Oscar L. Tyler Jr. of Maine died of pneumonia contracted in the mine. Injuries were so numerous we suspected men deliberately injured each other, or injured themselves, in order to escape the slavery.

At last, in desperation, I decided to contact the coal mine superintendent, Ken Yamamoto, who seemed to be a fairly decent fellow, and to beg him to help us, if he could. We asked him to come to camp, and, shrewdly, he chose a day when Lt. Uri was absent.

Jap Learns of Troubles

Thus Capt. Hewlett and I were able to talk with him privately. We told him all our troubles: how the men were starving to death, how they were harassed by Jap guards and beaten by foremen in the coal mine, how we lacked medical equipment, and a hundred other things.

I begged him to ask Baron T. H. Mitsui, the millionaire owner of the mine, to let me talk to him. The baron's family, I knew, controled much of the banking, shipping, coal, and steel interests of Japan. I felt that if anybody could do anything to remedy our plight, he could.

Yamamoto promised he would do his best to help us. As a result of his efforts, we were able to work out a scheme that ultimately marked a turning point in our fortunes. The scheme, strangely enough, hinged on an amateur performance of a musical comedy.

Show Troupe Organized

At this time, Lt. John R. Allen of Minneapolis, an officer of the famous 192d tank battalion which had many members from Maywood, Ill., was organizing a show troupe. We planned to write and produce a show called "The Great Ziegfeld" and to invite to the performance the 35 Jap mine foremen who directed our men, along with Lt. Uri, Baron Mitsui, Yamamoto, and Hyashi Goru, the mine president. The hope was that the foremen might stop beating our men if they associated with them on a social occasion.

Chief credit for the production of the show should go to two Chicagoans, Pvt. Lester I. Tennenberg, 1412 Chase av., who directed it, and Sgt. Wallace L. Timmons, 2418 Adams st., who wrote many of the skits and wisecracks.

Finally all our preparations were complete, and we waited anxiously to see if the mine foremen and Baron Mitsui would accept our invitation.

GRAVES OF 14 B-29 FLYERS DISCOVERED IN CENTER OF OSAKA

TOKYO, Nov. 9 (AP)—The graves of 14 American B-29 flyers, executed by the Japanese after they bailed out over Osaka, have been found by the United States 6th army.

The men were buried in Sanadayama military cemetery in the heart of Osaka. Incomplete names cut on pieces of wood were stuck in each grave. One plank merely bore the words, "Graves of American soldiers."

Identifications tentatively were made of nine of the flyers, but in all except one case only the last name and rank were available. The names were not disclosed pending notification of next of kin.

U. S. ORDERS 300 MORE JAP WAR CRIMINALS HELD

TOKYO, Japan, Nov. 8 (AP)—Gen. MacArthur ordered the arrest today of 300 more war criminal suspects, mostly guards who ruled by terror and murder over allied prison camps in Japan.

Supreme headquarters said war crimes investigators had sufficient evidence in their files to constitute a prima facie case of war guilt against every one of the persons.

Joseph B. Keenan, formerly assistant to the attorney general of the United States, has been appointed by Gen. MacArthur to counsel his staff for the trials of persons charged with planning and waging war in violation of treaties.

This was defined as "such war crimes as consist of planning, preparing, initiating or waging a war of aggression or in violation of international treaties and agreements or of participating in a common plan or conspiracy for any of the foregoing purposes."

Chicagoan Finds Favorite Berlin Hotel Is Missing

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BERLIN, Nov. 8—"Nobody can realize the extent of destruction in Germany without visiting the country," said Walter Lichtenstein, vice president of the First National bank of Chicago who is here with the finance section of the military government. "I tried to find the Hotel Esplanade where I always lived when visiting Berlin. I could not find it—could not find the street—could not even locate the neighborhood where the hotel had stood, so complete was the devastation."

Nick Vandervelde, 56, of 2031 W. 13th st., a coal and ice dealer, died of a heart attack last night while singing with other guests at the wedding of his son, Harold, 27, an ex-soldier, and Effie Vanderwal, 23, of 2719 W. 139th st., Blue Island, in the Roseland Christian school, 314 W. 108th st. The bridegroom recently had returned home after serving four years.

CITY TO SALUTE ADM. HALSEY ON ARMISTICE DAY

Adm. Halsey, commander of the Pacific 3d fleet, will arrive at Chicago airport at noon Sunday to participate in Chicago's week-end Armistice celebration.

Monday morning Gov. Green and Mayor Kelly will escort Adm. Halsey to the assembly point of the Armistice day parade, which will start from Michigan av. and Balbo dr. at 9:45 a. m. The line of march is north in Michigan av. to Wacker dr., west to State st., and south to Van Buren st., where the paraders will disband.

Adm. Halsey will deliver the principal address of the day, and the governor and mayor also will speak. Halsey will then be guest of honor at a luncheon to be given by the Community and War Fund in the Hotel Sherman. Monday night the admiral will be guest of honor at a banquet of the Association of Commerce in the same hotel. He will leave Chicago after dinner.

Patterson, N. Y. Publisher, Stricken by Pneumonia

Ossining, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP)—Joseph M. Patterson, publisher of the New York Daily News, has been ill with pneumonia at his Ossining home since Sunday, his physician, Dr. R. J. Wren, said today. Patterson's present condition is "very good," Dr. Wren said, adding that more than 300,000 units of penicillin given the publisher had been effective and he was now out of danger.

REDS TAKE TOWN, OPEN MASSACRE, CHINESE REPORT

Fighting Rages in Shansi Province: Chungking

CHUNGKING, China, Nov. 8 (AP)—Chinese Communists who today bluntly demanded that government troops withdraw from Red dominated areas of North China, have captured the Shansi province railroad town of Chaocheng and begun "the massacre" of its civil servants and Kuomintang [Nationalist] party members, a Chinese dispatch reported.

Government defenders of the town, south of Taiuan, the Shansi capital, withdrew last Saturday night after their ammunition was exhausted, the belated dispatch said. In other parts of Shansi, fighting continued with unabated fury with four towns under direct Red assault, the dispatch added. It said the Reds had been driven from two of the towns.

Seek Truce Terms

Later today, national government and communist representatives renewed conversations over a proposed four-point program for halting the undeclared civil war. Hottest debate centered around communist demands that nationalist troops cease immediately all attacks on Red-liberated areas, a communist spokesman stated.

In principle, both sides agreed that fighting should stop, but the Communists made the reservation that this must apply to east and south China as well as to north China.

While the negotiations continued, the Communists said they had learned reliably that the national aviation council plans to send an air force into the fighting, using mostly P-40s [an American plane].

The Chinese government, meanwhile, gathered its military leaders today for an unheralded "bandit suppression" conference in Chungking.

Chou En-lai, Chinese communist spokesman here, termed the conference "very dangerous," and charged the government already had issued orders for liquidation of all Communists in the troubled north.

Demand U. S. Apology

The Communists took this action:

1. Demanded that Lt. Gen. Wedemeyer, United States commander in China, apologize for American "intervention" against the Reds, and reserved the right to demand compensation.

2. Forecast a huge government offensive for which, Red spokesmen at Yenan said, 90 divisions already have been massed in the north.

Increasing the tension were reports from Manchuria that no Chinese government troops have been landed at any Manchurian ports. Russians withdrew suddenly from the southern Manchuria ports of Hulutao and Yingkow [Newchwang], it was reported here today, leaving Chinese Reds in control—and leaving Chinese government troops still aboard their United States transports which would not attempt landings against certain Red opposition.

The steady but unannounced procession of arriving top ranking Chinese government generals testified to the importance of Saturday's meeting. Chungking sources insisted that it will deal with "bandit suppression," and Chou En-lai said that obviously it will deal with "the military situation."

Two Provinces Affected

The Reds, he said, had incontrovertible proof that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek was ordering wholesale liquidation of Chinese Communists in northern provinces, even during peace parleys last month. Chou's "proof" consisted of purported orders to Chiang's generals to begin "full fledged liquidation of bandits."

A Chinese communist spokesman at Yenan asserted that more than 70 government divisions have been massed around communist "liberated" areas of Honan province, and more than 20 divisions around similar zones in Hopeh province.

ASSERTS YANKS WON'T PROVOKE FIGHT IN CHINA

CHUNGKING, China, Nov. 8 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Wedemeyer said today his American forces in China have been involved in minor skirmishes and that his troops definitely were not provoking trouble.

In an interview today at Shanghai, the general said Communist army representatives had warned him not to try to land troops at Weihaiwei port, near Tsingtao. They also had protested that Americans had raided the Communists' office in Tientsin. Wedemeyer said he had referred the latter matter to Maj. Gen. Keller E. Rockey, commander of the 3d marine amphibious corps.

Wedemeyer reiterated that his mission is solely to help the central government repatriate Japanese troops. He pointed out there are 1,800,000 Japanese in China and that 40 per cent still carry weapons. Because of a shipping shortage, he looks for repatriation to require several months. He emphasized that the United States recognizes and will continue to support the central government but that Americans "will not become involved in fratricidal warfare in the process."

TELL OF DISEASE AMONG CHINESE ON U.S. VESSELS

BY JOSEPH HEARST
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

CHINWANGTAO, China, Nov. 8—An argument in favor of Vice Adm. Daniel E. Barbey's proposal that American ships be given to China to transport Nationalist troops and Chinese crews be put aboard was seen here today in the health records of the Chinese soldiers the navy is moving into North China.

Between 70 and 80 per cent of the troops in large advance units of the Chinese 5th and 2d armies, landed here yesterday from American ships after a trip from Haiphong, Indo-China, had some disease. There were cases of scabies, infected ulcers, trachoma, chronic malaria, diarrhea, and venereal diseases. Eighteen Chinese died on the trip, 13 of them suspected cholera cases.

On one day there were several hundred cases of illness in the sick bays of the transports. One report stated: "All types of disease are known to exist in the Chinese armies at all times."

Keep Yanks Healthy

Because of this factor every precaution is being taken to protect American personnel from infection and to date there has been no illness among the Americans traceable to the Chinese.

However, the transporting job is distasteful to the sailors. Every ship is thoroly aired and disinfected after the Chinese are disembarked, said Capt. E. D. Hightower of Altadena, Cal., senior medical officer of the 7th amphibious force, but additional precautions are necessary after every trip.

Before the troops embarked at Haiphong, Capt. Hightower said, they were screened by medical officers and hundreds who had not been inoculated against cholera were culled out.

Virtually every Chinese suffered from sea sickness on the trip, which added to the woes of American medical officers and corpsmen.

Plumbing Baffles Chinese

When the Chinese boarded the ships they had no idea how to use the showers, urinals, or other modern plumbing. However, they learned quickly when instructed that the urinals were not wash basins, that it was preferable to use the toilets instead of corners and that spitting on the deck was not good form.

The equipment of the Chinese amazed the Americans. It included an assortment of Russian, Jap, and old United States rifles, and nondescript uniforms. Each group seemed to have its own supply of ammunition.

Believe Marines to Be Involved

BY JOSEPH HEARST
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

CHINWANGTAO, China, Nov. 8—It is becoming apparent that somewhere along the line United States marines are destined to become involved in China's civil war.

In the last two weeks resentment toward Americans has increased and there is little doubt that American lives will be jeopardized if marine forces continue doing police work for the Kuomintang [Nationalists].

Kill Number of Reds

A number of marines already have been wounded by Chinese Communists in north China and in return straight shooting marines reportedly have killed a number of Communist soldiers.

Since the Chinese 13th army landed here from American ships the Communists have become more bold. They still respect marine riflemen, but they have increased attacks along unguarded portions of railroads with the result that all traffic between here and Tientsin is subject to many delays and the railroad to Shanhaikwan is virtually out of commission.

Want Marines to Stay

At Tsingtao, held by the marines, Communists repeatedly have moved from the hills and now ring the city. It is reported they have engaged former Japanese and puppet troops in skirmishes.

The Chinese government is believed anxious to keep the marines in such ports as Chinwangtao, Tsingtao' Taku, and the cities of Peiping and Tientsin. The fact that many Nationalist troops have been moved into Manchuria thru the Great Wall city of Shanhaikwan may be the principal reason why Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek is anxious to keep the marines here.

If he finds it necessary to use the majority of his forces to try to subdue Manchuria—and it is likely—he hopes to have the marines on hand to hold areas they already have occupied.

Nimitz Tells Marines It's Last Fleet Speech

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., Nov. 8—Adm. Nimitz, greeting the marine corps today on its 170th anniversary, asserted that he was "speaking for the last time on behalf of the officers and men of the Pacific fleets." He did not amplify the phrase, and fleet headquarters here declined comment on its possible significance.

SEA DELIVERS BOTTLED NOTE AFTER 28 YEARS

AYLESBURY, England, Nov. 8 [Reuters]—A letter that took 28 years to reach its destination had arrived today at the Horse and Jockey tavern here. It was addressed to the former proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Lewis, who left the Horse and Jockey in 1918.

The letter had been written by their son in the merchant navy, datelined Wallaroo, South Australia, July 23, 1917, and placed in a bottle along with money for postage.

On July 28, last, a boy found the bottle intact in Wallaroo bay and his parents mailed the letter.

TWO FLEE PONTIAC PRISON

State police yesterday were searching the Joliet area for two men who escaped from the state penitentiary at Pontiac. The men are Carl Clark, 21, Decatur, and Robert Mosley, 21, of West Frankfort. Warden A. A. Bennett said the two men escaped from the dairy barns and headed for Joliet.

PREDICT FAMINE WILL STIR FRESH TURMOIL IN JAVA

Food Supplies Dwindle, Acreage Decreased

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BATAVIA, Java, Nov. 8—Java, whose volcanic soil is among the most productive on earth, faces a famine in the view of observers here. Coming on top of a political revolution the food shortage which is expected to become critical by January will increase disorders, it is believed.

Armed gangs already are pillaging in the cities and towns and in the provinces. Their victims are not only the Dutch and Eurasians but also Indonesians and Chinese. Any one who has food set aside must guard it well. Food warehouses taken over from the Japs and guarded by Indonesian police are emptying, bag by bag.

Almost four years of systematic Japanese looting left Java's food stocks perilously low and her food production basically disorganized. Now at rice planting time, with civil war and terrorism rampant, Java's farmers are staying out of the fields. Aerial surveys show large areas abandoned.

Densest Population

In peace time Java's food situation was delicate. While having an extremely fertile soil and expert system of irrigation and terracing to make use of all possible land, Java also has one of the densest populations of the world—45,000,000 people on an island 600 miles long and 50 miles wide. Java exported very little rice and usually imported some. Surpluses from some parts of the island were used in others, where rubber, tea, coffee, tapioca are the main crops.

The Japs seized great quantities of rice for their armies in New Guinea, Bougainville, Guadalcanal, and New Britain. They also divided the island into sections and prohibited rice shipments from one to another. Thus areas producing little rice went on near starvation diets. In surplus areas the Japs' seizures discouraged plantings and acreage decreased.

The irrigation system and terraces fell into disrepair and caused further abandonment of acreages. Other fields producing food were replanted with cotton under Jap orders. Many carabao [water buffaloes] have been killed for meat, leaving farmers little with which to plow.

Ships Idle in Harbor

The end of the war has only worsened food conditions. Farmers are afraid to leave their villages. Youths are off to join the Nationalists, collecting in towns and along roads. Indonesian leaders are busy in politics. The Dutch are helpless. Stocks of rice, flour, and other staples, which have been brought here from the United States, are still mostly piled in dockside warehouses. Two American ships today ride idly in the harbor with their cargoes and two more have been tied up for a week, being unloaded piecemeal by Jap prisoners.

Food conditions are typical of Indonesian economy today. After three years of little export and import the island is short of clothing and other everyday needs. Shops are almost empty and traders who still have irreplaceable stocks are loath to sell because no one knows the value of the Jap guilder—still the only currency. Industry has stopped. Tin mines, oil fields, and rubber plantations are idle.

Transportation and communication are going to pieces. Some highways are almost impassable thru lack of repair. In cities the water runs in mains only part of the time. Drainages are clogged. Disease is growing. The first cases of cholera since 1910 have been reported.

BOY TORN FROM MOTHER'S ARMS AND BAYONETED

BY ROBERT CROMIE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MANILA, P. I., Nov. 9 [Friday]—Testimony that some portion of guilt for the mass slaughter of civilians in the province of Batangas early this year belongs to Filipino collaborators was given this morning in the war crimes trial of Gen. Yamashita by a Filipino woman survivor who testified with a 4 months old girl in her arms.

She was Apolinaria Navarro, who said she and other persons were taken by the Makapili [Filipino guerrillas fighting for the Japanese] to a school building near Lipa. The witness said the victims were separated by families and taken to a nearby river.

Baby Tossed in Air

The baby regarded her mother's stabbing finger as she went thru descriptive motions of how she saw one 6 months old infant tossed into the air on the end of a Japanese bayonet. She made vicious stabbing motions with her fingers indicating how six other children were bayoneted on the ground.

"I had two children," the little mother said, shifting the child from one arm to the other, "a girl of 6 and a boy of 10, one in each arm. The Japanese were trying to drag away my boy, but I was holding him. Then one took me by the shoulder and accused me that I was a guerrilla.

"So they got my child and I screamed. I saw them bayonet him thru the breast and the bayonet came out the other side."

Mother Also Stabbed

"After I saw both my children wounded I cried: "God, please have mercy on us,' then I heard some one at my back and I was bayoneted. Many thrust bayonets at me all at the same time. Both my children were killed. The child I am now carrying was born three months after I escaped."

A previous witness whose son, brother, brother-in-law, and other members of the family also were slain March 12, testified that the Makapili supplied the Japanese with lists of those who were to be killed. The witness, Gabriela Luz, broke down when she told how her son was bayoneted and slain.

Dr. Jose Katikbak, acting mayor of Lipa, said Japanese troops systematically destroyed the town.

Dutch Ex-Prisoners Leave Manila on British Ship

MANILA, Nov. 8 [Reuters]—Two unarmed battalions of liberated Dutch prisoners of war numbering 2,150, who had been recuperating in the Philippines, left Manila today on the British aircraft carrier Implacable for Borneo. A Dutch spokesman said these men might go to Java.

At Murder Trial

[Associated Press Wirephoto]

Leon Benon, on trial for murder, kissing his wife in Los Angeles court yesterday before she testified about trysts with murder victim.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 8 (AP)—Lois Benon, 16, bride of a year, testified today that just before he was killed she spent three nights in motor court hotels with William Douglas Owens, 29, for whose murder her husband, Leon, 17, is on trial.

"When I returned home I told Leon how I had spent three nights with Owens in hotels and we quarreled bitterly," she declared. "We later made up, but a few days later Owens urged me to leave Leon and go to Texas with him. He promised me a convertible coupe, but I told him I still loved Leon."

She said she, the two men, and a girl friend conferred later in a cocktail bar and it was decided she would leave Benon and go to Texas with Owens.

Afterward, Mrs. Benon testified, as she was packing her wedding dress and a new frock she had just bought to celebrate her first wedding anniversary, Benon came home and found Owens there and shot him 11 times with a .22 caliber rifle.

As she left the witness stand to be returned to the state school for girls, where she is held as a juvenile delinquent, Mrs. Benon threw her arms about her young husband's neck and burst into tears.

Rescuers Push Toward 18 in Philippine Crash

MANILA, P. I., Nov. 8 (AP)—Land, sea, and air rescue parties today made their way toward the point near Puerto Real, eastern Luzon, where 18 persons, some injured, awaited aid after surviving the crash of a naval air transport service C-54. A Lt. Redding, who made his way from the plane to an army outpost, reported several of the 18 suffered head injuries and two crew members had broken arms. The plane was on its way to Manila bay from Guam.

GIVE MILITARY CABINET VOICE, SAYS M'ARTHUR

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8 (AP)—Gen. MacArthur has expressed his belief that "the professional heads" of the military services should sit in as ex-officio members of the President's cabinet.

The general's suggestion is included in a transcript taken by the joint chiefs of staff special committee. This group interviewed top army and navy leaders on a proposal to set up a single department of national defense.

The transcript, made public by the senate military committee which is considering army-navy merger plans, quoted MacArthur as saying at Leyte in the Philippines Dec. 3, 1944:

"I believe that the professional heads of the services should be ex-officio members of the cabinet. They should be present at all cabinet meetings without power of voting, but permitted to express their opinions and, above all else, to hear the cabinet as they discuss not only external affairs of the United States but internal problems."

TROOPS FIRE AS ROMANIAN REDS, ROYALISTS FIGHT

Russian General Stops Battle; Report 5 Slain

King Michael

BUCHAREST, Romania, Nov. 8 (AP)—Romanian government troops fired machine guns into crowds at the royal palace today until a Russian general intervened, silenced their fire, and halted a riot between Communists and supporters of King Michael.

At least six persons fell when the troops machine-gunned a crowd at one entrance to the royal square. First estimates said at least five persons were killed and nearly 100 wounded.

Soviet Gen. Susaikov, head of the allied control commission in Bucharest, ordered the Romanian troops to cease firing, thus breaking up the bloodiest part of a six-hour riot between Communists and demonstrators holding a forbidden celebration of the king's 24th birthday.

No Red Troops in Riot

Russian troops took no part in the conflict.

The demonstration had been banned by the soviet supported government of Premier Petru Groza, long at odds with King Michael.

[The Groza government in a broadcast bulletin tonight charged the riots were "a blind for a revolutionary plot directed against the government" by Iuliu Maniu, Peasant party leader, and George Bratianu, Liberal party leader. The broadcast charged the Peasant and Liberal parties "have during recent weeks prepared acts of disorder and mobilized well known fascist and reactionary elements, under cover of monarchist demonstrations." It quoted the Romanian minister of the interior as saying he had decided "to take the most severe and urgent measures to preserve order."]

In addition, a government controled radio broadcast had warned all persons to stay at home. Newspapers had said any celebration would be suppressed.

Crowd Gathers Early

Despite the warnings, the crowd, estimated at 40,000 to 50,000 persons, began to gather before the palace early today. It shouted "Long live the king" and waved Romanian flags and pictures of Michael, who was reported to be at Sinaia, 90 miles to the north.

Then 15 truckloads of Communists, shouting "Long live Groza," sped into the square. The crowd converged on two of the trucks and overturned them, dumping out the Communists, and set the trucks afire.

Guns were then fired from the direction of the ministry of the interior. The other communist trucks withdrew, and the Communists fired back at the demonstrators, who scurried for cover.

Shooting continued sporadically until the troops arrived at 3:50 p. m. and opened fire on the crowd.

Fired Over Crowd

An observer said the troops, guarding entrances to the square, had fired over the heads of the crowd shortly after the first shots were fired from the direction of the interior ministry.

The troops involved on both occasions were members of the Tudor Vladimirescu division, formed in Russia from among Romanian troops captured in the Stalingrad area.

Lines of armed troops tonight guarded the royal square, scene of the riots, but demonstrators still marched on the outskirts of the square shouting "Long live the king!" and "Down with terror!"—the same fight provoking slogans they hurled at the Communists during the day's street brawling.

TELL OF ROBOT TO TEST PLANES AT HIGH SPEEDS

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP)—Development of equipment which may permit flight testing of high speed operation sized aircraft without the use of a human test pilot, and the simultaneous transmission of flight data to automatic recording instruments was announced today by Bell Aircraft corporation.

The equipment was developed by engineers of the air technical service command and Bell. The company said military restrictions precluded its announcement until the present time.

The development is expected to eliminate many of the risks heretofore undertaken by pilots and permit research into phases of flight testing previously considered too dangerous for pilots to attempt, such as high speed dives at sonic speeds.

Bell added that the most "widely influential" factor in the success of the Bell robot plane is a device called a "rate" pilot, a new concept of an autopilot which is effective not only on level flights, but in diving and in sharp maneuvers.

REVEALS CIANO KNEW OF PLOT TO ARREST DUCE

ROME, Nov. 8 [Reuters]—Count Galeazzo Ciano, Mussolini's son-in-law and late Italian foreign minister, was told several weeks in advance that the duce was to be arrested and kept faith with those who had entrusted him with the secret, Gen. Giuseppe Castellano says in his memoirs.

Castellano, who held a key post on the Italian general staff, asserts he planned Mussolini's arrest with the approval of Gen. Vittorio Ambrosio, the former Italian chief of staff.

Mussolini himself ultimately provided a suitable occasion by asking for a special interview with the king in the royal suburban residence.

HOTEL CLERK FOUND DEAD

Issie G. Evans, 60, a clerk in the Barry-Broadway hotel, 3022 Broadway, was found dead in his hotel room yesterday, shot thru the heart. A gun lay beside him with a note stating he was becoming blind.

Mother Is Dead

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 8 (AP)—"Mike" Collins is home. The 14 month old child of Sgt. James Collins arrived by airplane from England late last night to a welcoming party that would do credit to a movie great.

In the arms of Stewardess Jerry Rudquist, Michael Shaun Collins left the plane to face a battery of news protographers, radio microphones, and newsreel camera men, to say nothing of the milling throng that had waited hours to greet the trans-Atlantic passenger.

Mike was placed in the arms of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Collins, Stillwater, Minn., until his soldier father gets home. The sergeant's Irish wife died last July.

It was a great night also for the 10 Collins' grandchildren, nine of whom are about Mike's age, who were allowed to stay up for the party.

17 NATIONS JOIN TO DECIDE WAR DAMAGE CLAIMS

PARIS, Nov. 8 [Reuters]—Seventeen countries will gather around a table here tomorrow to discuss claims for war damage against Germany and to consider the fundamental question of how much is to be left to Germany for her own requirements.

4 Types of Claims

Russia which has put in claims for specific German assets in the western zone of Germany as part of the 25 per cent due to her under the Potsdam agreement will not be present at these western zone talks. Nor will Poland which is to receive its portion from Russia.

Claims are being made in American dollars at 1938 values, and the four main categories are:

1. Damage to properties including military installations, ports, factories, transport, and railways.
2. Lost labor time — This allows for loss of wealth because workers were forced to work in Germany or for the Germans or were injured or killed as a result of German action.
3. Budget expenditure due to the war.
4. Financial charges resulting from the occupation.

Must Decide Percentages

The talks are expected to last at least a month. The first session will be public—it will be opened by Georges Bidault, French foreign minister—but the remainder of the sessions will be as secret as was the London foreign ministers' conference.

One of the first difficulties for the experts will be to decide what proportion of available German assets is to go to each country No definite percentage as between Britain, the United States, France and others has yet been agreed upon, but the United States, Britain and France, it seems certain, will claim a major share.

Other nations represented will be Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Egypt, Greece, the four British dominions, India, Luxemburg, the Netherlands, Norway and Yugoslavia.

Gen. Freyberg to Give Up New Zealand Command

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Nov. 8 [Reuters]—Lt. Gen. Bernard C. Freyberg will relinquish command of the New Zealand expeditionary force and be succeeded by Maj. Gen. W. G. Stevens, it was announced today. Freyberg is governor-general designate of New Zealand, a post he will take in February.

DEMOCRAT VOTE KEEPS GAG ON PEARL HARBOR

Brewster Denied Access to Navy Records

went a little further than even the committee Democrats desired. The President was said to have thought that the order permitted the examination of secret records by individual members, an authority to which he was adamant in his opposition, altho as chairman of the Truman war investigating committee he and his committee members had enjoyed such power.

The White House directive was then corrected and the "individual members" phrase restored.

Sen. Ferguson said he moved to delay the hearings because committee members were now permitted, only a week before the taking of evidence, to examine prospective witnesses.

Ferguson Charges Gag

"To date, because of the ban, I have been unable to talk to any witness," he noted. "Nor will the full exhibits be available until next Monday. This new order gives us half a loaf, anyway, and I need two weeks to take advantage of it.

"The White House action shows the attitude of the administration. It does not want the whole truth to come out."

However, the four Republican members have no thought of resigning, as urged by Sen. Brooks [R., Ill.], Ferguson said.

"All we can do is to go ahead under the handicaps imposed," he remarked, "and do the best job we can with the tools provided. I hope that cross-examination may develop many facts, even tho it will be a lengthy and tedious process."

Seek to Lift Curbs

Reps. Keefe [R., Wis.] and Gearhart said they would immediately proceed to draft a resolution for submission to congress which would amend the investigating rules to permit examination of records by individual members.

"We will recite the whole history of the gag procedure," said Gearhart, "and put the dispute to a test vote on the floor if the majority permits action on the resolution. Every senator and representative ought to be willing to record his vote on this question. It is a simple matter—whether the American people deserve the whole truth about Pearl Harbor or just part of the truth."

Barkley confirmed a Tribune story of last Sunday that Adm. J. O. Richardson, former Pacific fleet commander, would probably be the important first witness at the hearings. Richardson resigned his post rather than bottle up the fleet in Pearl Harbor as ordered by the late President Roosevelt.

MacArthur Not on List

Gen. MacArthur was not on the present list of witnesses, he said, indicating he might be called if he could be spared from his duties in Tokyo. Adm. Kimmel and Gen. Short, the commanding officers at Hawaii at the time of the attack, will "of course" be witnesses, he added.

Gen. Marshall, army chief of staff, and Adm. King, chief of naval operations at the time of Pearl Harbor, are also on the list of witnesses, it was stated. Former State Secretary Hull will be questioned if his health permits. Former War Secretary Stimson is also a scheduled witness.

The committee's legal staff is going thru the papers of the late Mr. Roosevelt which are stored in the national archives, Barkley said, and documents pertinent to Pearl Harbor are being extracted.

Long Hearing Likely

The hearings will open, he explained, with descriptions of "what actually happened on Dec. 7" with maps showing the physical surroundings of the harbor.

There are enough witnesses ready, he continued, to occupy the committee for three or four weeks of steady hearings. Barkley continued to insist that a report could be drafted for submission to congress by Jan. 3 altho he admitted "developments" might prolong the hearings and conceded the difficulties of obtaining agreement on a report compiled in such a limited period.

Over Republican protests, the committee adopted rules of procedure providing that no committee member might interrupt the counsel in the questioning of witnesses. Each member, however, will be thereafter permitted to question witnesses as long as he desires.

DENY CHINA REPORT CHIANG WILL GET 3,000 U. S. PLANES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8 (AP)—The state department today branded as "spurious and untrue" a report attributed to a Chinese nationalist newspaper that 3,000 American planes in China would be transferred to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's government.

Government officials said that the United States does not have as many as 3,000 planes in China. These officials said it is possible that some planes had been transferred to the Chinese nationalist forces, but that they knew nothing about it.

Such a transfer would be a military matter, they said.

COURT AWARDS GIRL TO FATHER; SHE DEFIES HIM

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 8 [Special]—Defying a court order for her custody, Beverly Ann Murray, 16, today clung to her mother outside Domestic Relations court. "I'll never go back with you," she sobbed to her father. "I'll run away."

Her sisters, Nancy Lou, 9, and Linda Sue, 7, included in the custody order, wept as their parents, divorced two weeks ago in Phoenix, Ariz., engaged in bitter argument.

"See what you've done," Mrs. Mabel Murray accused William M. Murray, Arizona state employe. "You said I left you—when you know you put me out. You forced me to leave."

The court enforced an Arizona custody order when Murray appeared with a writ of habeas corpus, seeking to take the girls back to Phoenix. Mrs. Murray has married Edward S. Walker, and was maintaining a home for the children here.

TELLS OF JAPS GIVING $173,000 TO 10 AMERICANS

LABUAN ISLAND, off Borneo, Nov. 8 (AP)—Two weeks before their surrender, the Japanese in Borneo learned the war was nearly over and sought to make up for past ill-treatment by giving 10 American civilian internees $173,000.

Carl Jeremiah Cook, 59, who came here from San Francisco 32 years ago, said today the Japanese gave each of the Americans more than $17,000, explaining that the United States had forwarded the money thru Switzerland. The Japanese also opened warehouses of undistributed American Red Cross supplied to the internees, Cook added.

He said the money the Japanese turned over apparently had been intended for general relief work in Borneo. The Americans later handed the funds to a British officer who was placed in charge of their camp, he asserted.

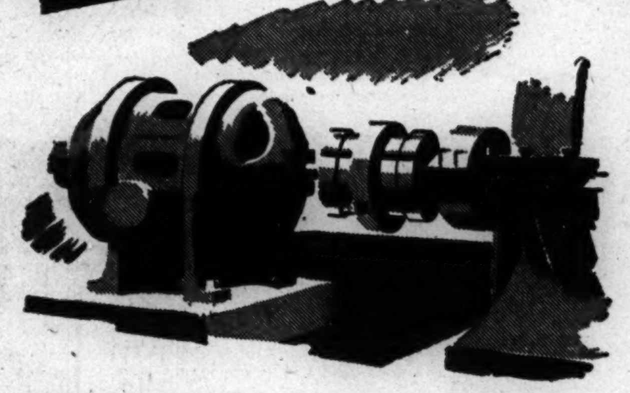
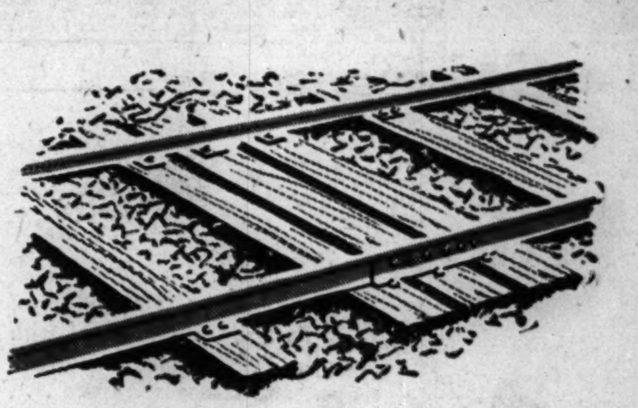
COKE OVENS ARE AS ESSENTIAL to America's industrialized economy as any other single factor. Coke helps keep the great steel industry going. Chemicals derived from coal, during the process of making coke, are responsible for hundreds of products we need in our every-day life . . . from plastics to paving materials, from drugs to varnishes. Koppers has designed and built most of the coke plants in America.



ELECTRICITY IS A SERVANT upon which we have come to depend as a faithful, 24-hour-a-day worker, always instantly available at the touch of a switch. To help make it so, to protect against shutdowns and power failures, Koppers makes a special, self-aligning coupling which helps the electrical industry to give uninterrupted service.



RAILROAD CROSS TIES last more than three times as long when they are pressure-treated with creosote. Same is true of wooden bridge structures, highway guard rails, telephone poles, farm buildings, dock piling. Koppers pressure-treats more than 40,000 carloads of forest products every year . . . to help wood resist decay, termites, marine borers, fire and water.

MOTHS CAN'T ABIDE the odor of naphthalene. Koppers produces thousands of tons of naphthalene each year to help America combat the destructive activities of the household clothes-moth. VITAL WITNESS IN HAWAII QUIZ OUT TO PROBERS

Naval Hospital Reports Kramer Is Away

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8—Two members of the Pearl Harbor investigating committee late today besieged the naval hospital at Bethesda, Md., in an attempt to question Capt. Alwin D. Kramer, one of the mystery witnesses in the inquiry.

Representatives Keefe [R., Wis.] and Gerhart [R., Cal.] received what they termed a "runaround" but expressed determination to seek an interview with Kramer again tomorrow.

The congressmen were making the first test of a new White House directive signed by President Truman today which permits individual members of the joint congressional committee to interrogate prospective witnesses.

Ill Over Questioning

Kramer, according to charges made on the house floor by Keefe last Tuesday, had been confined to a psychopathic ward, presumably as a result of being "badgered and grilled" into mental ill health by high navy officers who sought to make him change his testimony about events in Washington on the night preceding the Dec. 7, 1941, attack on Pearl Harbor.

The navy immediately issued a denial that Kramer was a mental patient and said he would be ready to testify when his health permitted.

"I had my secretary call the hospital," Keefe said in an interview, "and he was informed that Kramer was still a patient. But when Mr. Gearhart and I arrived there we were advised that Kramer had been released on 'liberty leave' that very morning. He was said to have been given permission to join his wife, who had arrived from Miami, Fla.

Psychopathic Ward

"I inquired where Capt. Kramer was hospitalized and was told it was in ward N 5, which a guard informed me was a psychopathic ward. It is rather strange that the captain should have been released to amble about so shortly after the publication of news stories that he was wanted for questioning by the Pearl Harbor committee and despite the navy's proclamation that he was too ill to be questioned at the moment.

"Of course, we had to take what they told us. We were informed he might be back tomorrow. We will be out there demanding to see him and will keep on demanding it until we are permitted to question him."

Kramer, then a lieutenant commander, was attached to army intelligence when, on the night of Dec. 6, 1941, a Japanese code message was intercepted and translated. It set the hour for delivering to the White House the Jap reply to the American ultimatum at 1 p. m. Sunday, Dec. 7.

Sent Memo to Knox

Kramer sent a memo to the late Navy Secretary Knox, noting that this hour was dawn at Hawaii and that the time indicated a sunrise attack upon Pearl Harbor. Committee members have been informed that Kramer also delivered his warning to the White House.

The Kramer memorandum was being widely circulated among high Washington authorities, according to reports, at 10 a. m. Sunday, which was 4:30 a. m. in Pearl Harbor, two hours before the first bombs fell on the fleet. High army and navy officials told the official boards of inquiry that if the commanding officers at Hawaii had been given two hours warning the Japanese air attack could have been repulsed.

No warning was sent to Hawaii except a message by commercial cable from Gen. Marshall, army chief of staff, which arrived shortly before the attack, but was not decoded and delivered to Gen. Short until an hour and a half later.

CORONER'S JURY CLEARS DRIVER; COURT PUZZLED

Dissatisfaction with the verdict of a coroner's jury was expressed yesterday by Judge Irwin B. Clorfene in Felony court during the hearing on charges of manslaughter and leaving the scene of an accident against Frank Pawalczwk, 31, of 5417 W. 30th st. The defendant was exonerated by a coroner's jury when it returned a verdict of accidental death after Pawalczwk's car struck and killed Joseph Pettinger, 73, of 5404 Dakin st., Oct. 13.

"I don't want to be critical of a coroner's jury's verdict, but I wonder how they could exonerate this man," Judge Clorfene said. Because of the verdict he dismissed the manslaughter charge against the defendant and continued until Nov. 26 the charge of leaving the scene of an accident.

According to testimony, Pawalczwk was driving four men and two girls, fellow employes, to work and had stopped at a tavern on the way. After the accident he drove the girls home, leaving the four men at the scene. The men were charged with disorderly conduct but were discharged.

Indicted Sailor to Face Jury on Charge of Rape

Ernest H. Pugh Jr., 18, of 1610 N. Mason av., a sailor, will be turned over to Lake county authorities today for trial on an indictment charging rape of a student nurse, 20, in the grounds of Holy Child convent, Waukegan, Aug. 10. Pugh was arrested Oct. 21 on a charge of attempting to rape an Oak Park widow, 56. His surrender to Lake county was arranged by First Assistant State's Atty. Wilbert Crowley of Cook county and State's Atty. Harry A. Hall of Waukegan.

ARGUE KUM BUM APPEAL: PRIEST OR RACKETEER?

Attorneys concluded arguments yesterday as to whether Hugh Greer Carruthers, who admitted he was a high priest of the Kum Bum lamasery in Tibet, had organized his Neological foundation for religious guidance or to make himself some money.

The hearing was held in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals before Judges Evan A. Evans, Will M. Sparks, and Charles G. Briggle. Carruthers appealed a five year prison sentence imposed by Judge Philip L. Sullivan in federal District court on Mar. 9 after a jury had found the goateed defendant guilty of using the mails to defraud.

Atty. Walter Bachrach, representing Carruthers, asserted the Neological foundation was a religious organization and its members were entitled to freedom of religion. Assistant United States Atty. William J. Connor asserted that Carruthers charged $2 a lesson and covered such subjects as oriental philosophy, how to attract members of the opposite sex, and how to prepare food.

The court will announce its decision later.

HE TRIES TO PAY RENT WITH FIVE KISSES; FINED $10

Whenever Mrs. Cele Siegel, 31, of 1532 Wilson av., tried to collect the rent from Walter Mack, 42, she got a kiss from him instead, she complained yesterday to Judge Leon Edelman in Town Hall court. Mack, who was charged with disorderly conduct, admitted the charges.

"Why only three months ago," Mrs. Siegel said, "I had to evict another man because he kissed me several times in the hallway of the building." Mack, she said, kissed her five times, and was so bold he came to her business office and embraced her.

Judge Edelman followed a suggestion by Assistant State's Atty. Samuel Segal and fined Mack $2 for each of the five stolen kisses. He warned Mack that if he didn't behave he would order him to vacate his room.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

SHOW NEWSREEL TO HESS; FAIL TO JOG HIS MEMORY

Hitler and Goering Only Ones He Recalls

NUERNBERG, Germany, Nov. 8 (AP)—Rudolf Hess, the third ranking Nazi until his unexplained airplane flight to Britain at the height of the war, sat in a projection room today and watched newsreels of himself during the days of his greatest power.

Also in the audience but watching Hess instead of the flickers were Justice Robert Jackson, United States prosecutor for the coming war crimes trial; Maj. Gen. William J. Donovan, head of the United States offices of strategic services, and psychiatrists. Hess is one of the ranking Nazis facing trial.

The beetle-browed Nazi, who asserts he can remember nothing, sat handcuffed to two guards as a 1934 version of "Party Day in Nuernberg" flashed on the screen. Specially placed lights faintly illuminated his countenance.

Sees Hitler Dance Jig

As the picture started with a rich background of Wagnerian music, Hess leaned forward and half rose from his chair. All eyes were on him; his were intent upon the screen.

He saw himself as a younger man, a zealot weaving a hypnotic spell over a vast Nazi party congress. For in those days he was Hitler's deputy. He saw the Fuehrer practically dancing a jig in an ecstasy of appreciation as the Hess on the screen made a swing to the audience, crying:

"Sieg heil, sieg heil!"

Hitler leaped forward and seized the speaker by the arm.

As the movie rolled on, Hess gradually relaxed. Jackson's eyes bored upon him steadily. Gen. Donovan never allowed his gaze to wander. Two American psychiatrists, Col. Schraeder of Chicago and Maj. Kelley of San Francisco, fixed their professional gazes on Hess. So did a Russian psychiatrist.

Face Is Impassive

The officials wondered whether the filmed document of a vanished glory would shake from Hess the amnesia which he claims has robbed him of all knowledge of past events. The outcome might determine whether Hess is to live or die.

Also watching the play of emotion was Naval Comdr. James B. Donovan of New York. Chief of the special projects division of Jackson's trial staff, it was Comdr. Donovan who suggested and prepared the showing.

Once his initial tension passed, Hess showed an impassive countenance to the observers. This never varied as Hermann Goering, Julius Streicher, the late Dr. Robert Ley, and most of the other defendants paraded across the screen.

As suddenly as it began, the show was over. Lights snapped on. Almost a full minute of absolute silence elapsed.

Col. John Amen, chief interrogator, turned to Hess. As softly as if he were speaking to a child, Amen said:

"Do you remember?"

"I Don't Remember"

Hess motioned as if to brush his hand against his eyes but the handcuffs interfered. Slowly he said:

"I recognized Hitler and Goering. I recognized the others but only because I heard their names mentioned and have seen their names on cell blocks in this jail."

"Don't you remember being there?"

"I don't remember. Obviously I was there. But I don't remember."

Hess stood between his guards. He looked years older than the man who had just dominated the screen. The guards led Hess back to his cell.

Brig. Gen. William L. Mitchell of Washington, D. C., has been named general secretary of the military tribunal. Prosecutors were notified to be ready for opening of the trials Nov. 20 as scheduled.

2 Bandits Take Parcels, Cash, Safe from Truck

Two bandits stole 25 merchandise parcels, an unknown amount of money, and a small safe last night in the holdup of a delivery truck of the United Parcel service, 401 N Ogden av. Robert Rzetinski, 19, of 2630 Iowa st., the driver, and Elmer Bartley, 23, of 4308 Augusta blvd., the helper, had just made a delivery in the 1400 block of N. Washtenaw av. when the pair, one armed, boarded the truck.

1,000th Recruit

Chester Seiner, 17, of 15033 Paulina st., Harvey, is so strong for "the fighting life" that he "just can't stay out of it." Yesterday he became recruit No. 1000 to join the regular army in the Chicago headquarters at 166 W. Van Buren st.

Young Seiner enlisted in the navy more than two years ago when he was 15. He was assigned to an English landing craft gunboat and participated in the Normandy beachhead landings on D-day.

While he was home on furlough in September, 1944, his mother—who then had three other sons in the army—persuaded him to stay at home. Upon confessing his age, he was discharged from the navy after 15 months of active service.

'DEAD' HUSBAND FOUND; SEEK TO VOID 2D WEDDING

Mrs. Louise Choti Dalton, 22, of 2135 Michigan av., who was legally separated from her first husband, James Choti, in 1938, and married again after Choti was reported killed in action, yesterday found she had two husbands.

The news came in a telegram from New England relatives telling her "Jimmy is on the way home." In August, 1943, he was reported killed in action while on duty with the army in the Southwest Pacific.

Yesterday, in Superior court, the dark haired, twice wed woman filed a petition seeking to annul her marriage to Clement J. Dalton, chief commissary steward in the navy, whom she married in June, 1944.

TWO FUR COATS STOLEN

The Morris B. Sachs store, 6638 Halsted st., was looted of two muskrat fur coats, a black velvet dress, and the dummy the dress was on, all valued at $1,263, the manager, Ben Schwab, reported to police yesterday.

67 OF ELDORA'S 'BAD BOYS' SENT TO MEN'S PRISON

Eldora, Ia., Nov. 8 [Special]—Sixty-seven "bad boys" who led mass escapes, rioting, and other disorders at the Eldora state training school for boys were transferred today to emergency segregation quarters at the Anamosa men's reformatory.

The incorrigibles were moved in trucks guarded by state militiamen who have been preserving order at the school since a riot and mass escape Aug. 29.

The state board of control announced that the transferred ringleaders will be confined in a newly created branch of the Eldora school located at the reformatory. They will be separated from the adult prisoners and will be held in buildings which housed the women's reformatory before it was moved to Rockwell City.

OPA ISSUES FLAT PRICE LIST FOR BEER AND ALE

Flat dollars and cents ceilings effective in the Chicago area Monday on the take-home prices of 38 brands of beer and ale were announced by the office of price administration yesterday.

The OPA said a survey of retailers showed 75 per cent of them were exceeding ceilings under the percentage mark-up formula that has been in use. The OPA conceded that making the correct computations was difficult.

The new ceilings, generally lower than prices dealers have been getting, will apply to beer and ale in 12, 32, and 64 ounce containers. Maximum deposit charges for bottles also were fixed—2 cents for 12 ounce bottles, 5 cents for 32 ounce, and 10 cents for 64 ounce.

Ceilings for Chicago brewed brands of beer were fixed at 10 and 10½ cents a 12 ounce bottle and the more popular brands of beer brewed in Milwaukee, Wis., and St. Louis, Mo., were set at tops of 12½ and 13½ cents. Brands not listed in the OPA schedule will continue to be sold under the mark-up formula.

NAMES TWO AS ROBBERS

John J. Cernik, 2606 W. 42d st., a laundry driver, yesterday identified William Byrd, 27, Negro, of 1333 Union av., and Manuel C. Smith, 31, Negro, of 1246 Miller st., alleged parolees, as the men who robbed him of $130 Oct. 27.

Which Insurance Policy shall I buy?

You know the new Illinois State Law makes it important that you carry automobile protection.

Motorists are today being offered automobile insurance by more than a score of companies.

With all these policies to choose from, which will you buy?

In the interests of insurance buyers, Lumbermens Mutual Casualty Company suggests this 6-point Buying Guide. Before you buy any automobile insurance policy, be certain it meets these qualifications:

1. The company must have a strong financial background.
2. The company must have a long established record of prompt and fair adjustment of claims.
3. The company must have offices to serve its many clients throughout the United States and Canada, and its service must follow your car.
4. The policy provisions must be broad, nontechnical and understandable.
5. Supplemental coverage must be available for injuries and hospital expense of the owner and members of the family.
6. The cost must be reasonable.

NITRATE PLANTS GONE, GERMANS SEEK FERTILIZER

Hope to Trade Hops for French Phosphorus

BY HENRY WALES
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BERLIN, Nov. 8—While the imponderable question: "What is a war industry?" moves upward from level to level at the weekly meetings of innumerable committees, factories are being blown up daily in the four army zones.

A race against time is going on today concerning the fate of nitrate plants used to make fertilizer in peace time and explosives in war time. Food and agriculture committee experts point out that if all the nitrate plants are destroyed Germany cannot raise crops, and since she lacks the wherewithal to buy food and the allies are committed not to feed her the German people must die of starvation.

Seek Algerian Phosphorus

And while the armies are skillfully destroying the nitrogen plants, trade, commerce, and finance committees are toiling at a scheme to enable Germany to obtain Algerian phosphorous rock from France to fertilize next year's grain.

Since Germany cannot engage in foreign trade until the four powers agree on how much she can ship, the United States has prepared a plan to enable the American zone to import the most desperately needed commodities. The Yanks discovered that Germany can ship some hops which France needs for beer, and if the plan is authorized by Frankfurt and Washington, D. C., the German farmers may get fertilizer—unless the nitrogen plant demolition program is completed in the meantime.

Yanks Will Ship Hops

The scheme to enable Germany to buy and sell abroad provides that local authorties buy the hops, for instance, which the Yanks will ship to France and sell for the best price, using the receipts to buy the phosphorus.

The military government nearly squirmed out of the Potsdam pledge not to feed Germany by digging up an old formula from the joint chiefs of staff in Washington which solved the Italian problem—namely that the army could take any measure "to prevent disease and unrest."

Officials here consider that starving German civilians would cause "disease and unrest" among the troops even if the Potsdam politicos remain entirely callous to conditions, hence they can distribute food as a last resource without violating directives.

Canadians to Discuss Taking Over Air Route

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 8—To implement the taking over by Canada of installations of the United States army and air force on the North West staging route, aerial highway from Edmonton to Alaska, a meeting will be held in Ottawa Nov. 12, Air Minister Gibson announced today. Air Vice Marshal W. A. Curtis will preside. Brig. Gen. Dale V. Gaffney will be the chief United States representative.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

Nov. 9—Battle of Talladega

THE battle of Talladega, Ala., which was fought on Nov. 9, 1813, was an episode of a "war within a war" that was waged with factions of the Creek Indians of the southeast while the British-American conflict of 1812-'14 was still being fought.

Two days before the battle, an Indian runner arrived at Gen. Andrew Jackson's camp with word that 165 Creek warriors friendly to the Americans were besieged by 1,000 of their fellow tribesmen in Lashley's fort at Talladega, 30 miles away.

Jackson marched promptly with 1,200 infantry and 800 mounted men. All day of the 8th the expedition toiled thru the wilderness. Before dawn of the 9th, Jackson had the hostile band of Indians surrounded.

The Americans opened fire, and the Indians charged into battle yelling their war cries. The savages' onslaught and the din unnerved some of the soldiers, and they gave way. Others, however, rushed into the broken line and stood firm against the attack. After a furious 15 minute battle the Indians fled, leaving some 300 dead behind them. Jackson lost 15 killed and 85 wounded.

One of the trophies taken by the Americans from the hostile Creeks was a banner bearing the arms of Spain, evidence of Spanish complicity in the Creek troubles.

England, too, thru Tecumseh and other emissaries, had attempted to foment a war between the Creeks and the young American nation. In this, Britain was only partially successful, for the pro-British and pro-American factions among the Creeks expended in civil war some of the energy that the English wanted turned against Americans.

Japs Begin 10-Year Job of Raising 60 Vessels

TOKYO, Japan, Nov. 8 (AP)—A Tokyo company today began the 10 year job of salvaging 60 Japanese merchant ships sunk by submarines along the west coast of Hokkaido in the final weeks of the war.

British Queen Spends Her Spare Clothing Coupon

LIFT OPERATORS AT FIELD STORE RETURN TO WORK

800 Approve Agreement on Settling Strike

An agreement between management and union representatives of 800 service employes of Marshall Field & Co., terminating an eight day strike, was reached shortly after noon yesterday and elevator operators and members of other AFL affiliates who had refused to cross picket lines returned to their jobs.

Union members last night voted unanimously to return to work this morning when they were told by Martin Heckman, union representative, that the company had agreed to a minimum hiring rate of $23 per week and had consented to renegotiate pay scales turned down by the union last June.

The membership struck Nov. 1 for a minimum wage of 65 cents an hour, a 15 per cent raise for all now receiving more than 65 cents, and a union shop.

Elevator operators and janitors in the Marshall Field Annex building, 25 E. Washington st., also returned to work yesterday. They had struck Wednesday in sympathy with the Field store union.

800 Call Off Strike

More than 800 members of the United Wallpaper Craftsmen and Workers' union [AFL], whose wildcat strike Wednesday tied up production in seven plants in Joliet and one at Mokena, yesterday voted to return to work this morning. Edward Jameson, international union president, urged the members to continue working pending national negotiations for the craft, which will begin Monday in Cleveland, O.

In the meantime members of the United States conciliation service were meeting with officials of the Union Stock Yards and Transit company and the United Packinghouse Workers local 44 [CIO] in an effort to avert a possible strike. The union, which is seeking a raise of 17 cents an hour and a 40 hour work week, voted to strike in an election supervised by the national labor relations board Wednesday.

An NLRB strike vote will be taken today among 900 members of the Factory Bakers and Confectionery Workers' union, local 100 [AFL], employed in eight large baking firms. The union is demanding a 15 per cent wage increase in the form of a minimum rate of 82 cents an hour and a maximum of $1.14.

Eight Firms Affected

Companies affected are The Ward Baking company, Burny Brothers, Inc., Schulze Baking company, Continental Baking company, Gordon Baking company, Vienna Model Bakery, Inc., The New Process Baking company, and the H. Piper company.

Ford plant employes, members of local 551 of the United Automobile Workers [CIO], have voted 784 to 22 in favor of a strike, George Bott, regional director of the NLRB, announced. The union is seeking a 30 per cent wage increase and a pension plan.

All 55 employes of the Thompson-Bremer company, 1640 Hubbard st., manufacturers of lock washers, went on strike yesterday morning. Roland Horton, vice president of the firm, said the strikers, members of the United Steel Workers' union [CIO], were seeking a closed shop.

STUDENTS GO ON STRIKE OVER DANCE TICKETS

Ottawa, Ill., Nov. 8 [Special]—Approximately 800 Ottawa high school students went on strike today in protest against the school's policy of requiring all students to purchase activity tickets in order to attend school dances. Approximately 200 students attended classes.

The students are seeking a return to last year's school policy on activities. Last year students who did not buy activity tickets could obtain an identification ticket for 12 cents. This year, activity tickets, costing $3.16 a season, were made the basis of identification for admitting students to the dances. Holders of the activity tickets must also buy dance tickets.

The students will hold a mass meeting in the school auditorium at 8 a. m. tomorrow to decide if they will return to school.

59 SUPER FORTS ARE SCHEDULED FOR SCRAP HEAP

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8 [Special]—Fifty-nine Super Fortresses, valued at $29,500,000, will be scrapped, the war department announced today. The B-29s were in varying stages of construction on V-J day.

Sixteen of them were being built at Boeing Aircraft company, Wichita, Kas.; 34 at Bell Aircraft corporation, Marietta, Ga., and nine at Glenn L. Martin company, Omaha, Neb.

When workmen began destroying the nearly completed planes at Wichita on Nov. 3, hundreds of former Boeing employes protested.

The war department said a limited output of an improved model B-29 will be produced at Boeing's Seattle, Wash., plant.

TAKES IN WAIF; TWO ABDUCT IT, WOMAN ASSERTS

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 8 (AP)—California police searched today for two men whom a San Francisco housewife said forced their way into her home and abducted a waif resembling missing Dickie tum Suden, 3.

Inspectors said several discrepancies have been found in the account of the incident given by Mrs. Mildred Beer, wife of a navy commander serving in the Pacific. She told them she heard a noise around midnight outside her home. When she opened the door she found a blond, 3 or 4 year old boy, resembling the tum Suden child, standing outside. She called police and when they arrived she told them two men had come to her door, claimed they were plain clothesmen, and pushed inside. She asserted one struck her and both drove away with the child.

The tum Suden boy, son of a wealthy San Francisco bay area mining family, has been missing since Nov. 1 when he disappeared from the yard of his parents' home at Goodyear Bar, a mining community in the high Sierras.

STATE ST. PLANE DELIVERED ON FARMER'S FIELD

Delivery of an airplane purchased in State st., was made yesterday to Franklin Trumbo, a farmer on Route 71, 6 miles northeast of Ottawa. The ship, a two seater which cost him $2,300 in a department store, was set down exactly as promised at 11 a.m., on a landing strip he has built on his 360 acres.

The plane flown by Charles Roberts took off from Rubinkam air field, 158th st. and Kedzie av., at 9:30 a.m. Trumbo, who has three children, said he learned to fly last summer.

"I want to use her," he said, patting the plane as the wind sang thru her struts," for quick shopping trips to Chicago and for a hunting and fishing trip to northern Wisconsin next year. I'll put pontoons on and fly her from lake to lake up there."

No Bridges at State St. or Canal St. for 18 Months

Neither the State st. nor the Canal st. bridge will be opened to traffic for at least 18 months, Stephen Michuda, city bridge engineer, said yesterday. Steel for the superstructures is not expected to be received until next April, he said, and at least 11 or 12 months will be required to complete the spans after the steel is received. Work on the superstructures of the two bridges was halted by government order in 1942.

Southern New England...
BLUE BOOK OF AMERICAN INDUSTRY

GET out your directory of manufacturers . . . check with any credit rating service . . . and you'll discover more leading industries with headquarters—or branches—in Southern New England than in any other part of the country.

These manufacturers did not pick Southern New England by chance. They chose Southern New England because it was the most highly-industrialized area in the whole United States . . . and always has been.

From the outset, industry here has thrived in an atmosphere of inventiveness, progress and opportunity. New manufacturers have always been welcomed, established industries encouraged to expand. Realizing long ago that their existence depended largely on maintenance of healthy industrial conditions — state governments, municipalities and community leaders have always cooperated to smooth the way for incoming industry.

Also, never forget that Southern New England is in the heart of the great mass of America's consuming public.

Inside a radius of 500 miles from the center of Southern New England are 58,000,000 people to use Southern New England's consumer goods and her vast output of producer commodities . . . the parts and tools upon which other industries depend to keep going.

And through her great seaports, Southern New England is only a step away from tidewater and easy access to the foreign markets that will develop now that the world is again at peace.

If your plans are still in a state of flux, think hard about Southern New England . . . a great place to promote your new or expanding business . . . and a great place to live and play, too.

UNION ACCUSES GEN. MOTORS OF UNFAIR DEALING

CIO Asks U. S. Action in Wage Dispute

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 8 (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers' union today accused the General Motors corporation of unfair labor practices under the Wagner act and asked government intercession in its wage dispute with the corporation.

The charge against General Motors was filed with Frank H. Bowen of the national labor relations board. Walter P. Reuther, UAW-CIO vice president, who filed the charge, said the union was willing to continue negotiations. He added he hoped "the attitude of the corporation" would change and that "they will begin to bargain in good faith."

Reuther said in a statement that the union's charge against G. M. was based on the fact that the corporation, while "pleading inability to pay a wage increase," refuses to discuss "its ability to pay" with the union. He said the corporation also refuses to discuss "its profits and its price position."

Weeks of Dispute

The union's charge climaxed weeks of dispute over the UAW-CIO's demand for a 30 per cent wage increase. General Motors rejected the demand, countering with a "cost of living" wage increase, which the union in turn rejected.

General Motors has maintained it would be impossible to grant a wage increase without increasing the price of automobiles.

Services of United States conciliators were asked today by the UAW-CIO in a plea to Washington, which set forth that the negotiations with General Motors were "deadlocked."

The government's assistance was asked by Reuther in a telegram to Edgar L. Warren, director of the United States conciliation service.

FORD IN CONFERENCE

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 8 (AP)—Another conference with Henry Ford II.—the second in 72 hours—ended today and Canadian officials returned from Dearborn, Mich., to Windsor to tackle anew the problem of settling the eight week strike at the Ford Motor Company of Canada plant.

Barricades set up around the Ford plant Monday have been removed, but 20,000 workers, including more than 10,000 at Ford, are idle in the city-wide dispute.

The strike began Sept. 12 following a breakdown in negotiations over a closed shop, checkoffs, and other issues.

CALL STRIKE VOTE

OSHAWA, Ont., Nov. 8 (AP)—A meeting of local 222, CIO-United Automobile workers, held here last night, decided to call a strike vote in the plants of General Motors, Ltd., Duplate, Ltd., and Ontario Steel Producers, Ltd.

The vote, to be conducted Friday, Saturday, Monday, and Tuesday, will decide whether union members in those plants will walk out in sympathy with the Ford Motor company strikers at Windsor, Ont. About 4,000 union members would be affected.

MAKE PLEA TO HIGGINS

New Orleans, La., Nov. 8 (AP)—A spokesman for the AFL unions in controversy with A. J. Higgins said today that union members would return to work immediately at Higgins' three closed boat building plants here if the industrialist would retract public statements denouncing them. Higgins could not be reached immediately for comment.

William L. Donnels, publicity representative of the AFL Metal Trades and Building council, said labor is ready to coöperate and "go back to work tomorrow" if Higgins would rescind statements "tending to create the impression that we are saboteurs."

Donnels' remarks were made at a meeting of labor representatives with committees of the New Orleans Association of Commerce and the Young Men's Business club.

HARVESTER WALKOUT

Fort Wayne, Ind., Nov. 8 (AP)—About 450 workers on the frame assembly line at the local truck plant of the International Harvester company were idle today as a result of a wage dispute, but Hugo Weisbrodt, superintendent, said production would continue until a reserve supply of frames is exhausted. Nearly 1,000 employes in other departments remained at work. A spokesman for the local union of the CIO United Automobile Workers said the strikers were receiving less than before under a new working schedule despite a 10 per cent increase in pay.

TRUCK DRIVERS STRIKE

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 8 (AP)—More than 250 truck drivers employed by builders' supply and construction firms here went on strike today, halting operations of between 45 and 50 companies.

Pat Ansboury, business agent of the AFL truck drivers' union, called the walkout unauthorized. Basis of the dispute, both sides said, was a wage increase of 10 cents an hour awarded by an arbitrator. David R. Lynn, secretary of the Building Material Dealers' association, said the boost could not be paid without war labor board approval, but Ansboury said WLB sanction was not necessary.

TWO PLANTS PICKETED

St. Joseph, Mich., Nov. 8 [Special]—Between 1,200 and 1,500 workers at the St. Joseph and Riverside plants of the Auto Specialties company went on strike today and picketed both plants. They are members of the CIO Auto Workers' union.

A strike vote was taken several weeks ago, but the walkout was said to have been caused by the refusal of four maintenance men to perform the duties assigned them. Henry Bays, president of the local union, said the strike involved wage negotiations. There was no statement from the company.

WALTER GRADLE WILLS $100,000 IN TRUST TO WIDOW

The will of Walter Gradle, 65, of 318 Egandale rd., Highland Park, disposing of an estate estimated at $350,000, was admitted to probate yesterday by Judge Martin C. Decker of the Lake county Probate court in Waukegan. Mr. Gradle left $100,000 in trust to his widow, Margaret; $900 among five employes, and the rest to two daughters, Mrs. Frank G. Hough and Mrs. Franklyn Chaffee. Mr. Gradle died Oct. 30. He was president and owner of the Swedish Produce company, 1901 Webster av.

SEN. MAROVITZ TO SEEK SEAT AGAIN IN APRIL

A. L. Marovitz

State Sen. A. L. Marovitz [D., 19th], just returned from marine duty in the Pacific, intends to run for renomination in the April primary, he said last night. He denied published reports that he will be a candidate for the city council seat of Ald. Fischman [24th] in 1947.

Marovitz gave up the draft immunity of a legislator to enlist as a private in 1943. He became a sergeant major.

"Our dive bomber group was always on the move," Marovitz said. "It took 10 weeks for mail to catch up to us. On Luzon 65 of the 250 in my outfit were killed by Jap anti-personnel bombs, including two boys sitting on the edge of my fox hole. I'll never leave this country again."

Reserve Corps Affairs Offices Set for 3 States

Maj. Gen. David McCoach Jr., commanding general of the 6th service command, announced yesterday the establishment of separate military areas in Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin to handle organized reserve corps affairs. Headquarters will be in Chicago, Detroit, and Milwaukee. Col. E. P. Evers is deputy chief of staff for Illinois.

THIS IS A STRANGE AMERICA

Our present position in world affairs should alarm every American who has any regard for his country, any concern for it, or a stake in it. We are deeply involved in nearly every quarter of the globe and must recognize that we are disliked everywhere. The latter we could afford to ignore if it were not for the former. Allies in the end make poor friends. A sense of obligation always is a good excuse for displeasure.

The whole program seems hopeless. Mr. Truman's speech on foreign policy did not make it any better. He said we have no imperial ambitions, but here comes Rhys Davies of the British Labor party telling us that the United States is today building up an empire faster than the British ever did. "Your armed forces," he says, "are in many, many parts of the world, which is indicative of the imperial idea." The American people don't want this empire, Mr. Davies believes, but are getting it "almost against their will."

Mr. Davies is right when he says the American people don't want an empire and right, again, when he says they are well started on the imperial way. The remedy is to get our soldiers out of the places where there is no more excuse for their presence. We ought to make peace with Italy and get out. It's unfortunate that we have anything to do with the military occupation of Germany. It's almost as unfortunate that we cannot get our soldiers out of France and England. In the Pacific we aren't yet in as big a mess as the British are in Java, but only luck or withdrawal will keep us out of a bigger one in China and Manchuria. We'd better rely on withdrawal and not luck,

Either under pressure or notions of grandeur our government is induced to throw its weight around where the best it can expect is a black eye. We think, and may be mistaken, that we can do a better job in Japan than elsewhere, at least so long as the active interference of other people can be avoided. Even there we're dealing with short term possibilities and long term talk. Maybe the characteristics of a Japanese citizen a hundred years from now are being formed under our administration of Japanese radio, newspapers, motion pictures, school texts, and various other instruments of what is regarded as national culture and opinion.

The Japanese are an inquisitive race, eager to learn the other fellow's know-how, and within about seventy years they did a remarkable bit—learning almost everything that wasn't so good in the occidental civilization to which they were violently introduced by gunboats. Now the gunboats violently request them to go back where they came from and learn some other lessons. They may be intelligently curious. The numerous smaller folk who have never had too much rice and very little sake, who have made many bows, worshiped as required, and worked hard as also required, may get a vision of a time when they can go into a national nominating convention and raise as much hell as Sidney Hillman's political action committee. What they'll do with this we don't know.

There is only one thing, however, in which armies of occupation have been known to educate. That is hatred. We are embarked in Germany on an enterprise the outcome of which can be as plainly seen as if it were now thrown on a moving picture screen. What do we mean by reëducating the Germans? A more hateful job is hard to imagine. A teen-age German boy or girl would have the instinct, and find the opportunity, to make the foreign teacher and the lesson ridiculous.

Victors, unless they come to stay, arouse a passion of aversion which may some day gain the power to be retributive. When the Anglo-Saxons landed in Britain they were prepared to stay and did. When the Normans came across they also were prepared to stay and did. The conquered people had to readjust themselves.

The chances are not good that the Germans can be taught their country has always been a villain. A defensive attitude against that is natural. People do not like to admit that they have been defeated. To explain it, if they have been, they always seek reasons creditable to themselves and discreditable to the winner. They sustain themselves by inventing stories of their heroism and ill fortune. Against this oppression defeats itself. Whatever may be said of the other armies of occupation in Germany it is certain that the American soldier will soon come to hate his job. He isn't vindictive enough to enjoy the sight of the population even of an enemy country, even a brutal enemy, suffering from hunger and cold. Few would want to change his character.

If the German is to become a different sort of political being he'll have to find the change in himself. If he has any sense at all he ought to know that the sort of thing he's been thru in the last decade and a half does not pay. It ought to be possible, without making central Europe a horror spot for years, to keep Germany, and Japan as well, from recovering military power. The British and French intelligence knew when Germany began to rearm before. For reasons best known to the British government this was permitted. If it's permitted again there'll be a reason for it.

Even a moderate program when projected for many years loses plausibility. The future refuses to be held in chains. The statesmanship of the present seems to be made up of a fogginess of words and a confusion of acts. It has been thought advisable to utter moral sentiments by the yard. It has been found necessary to ignore the fact that no one was paying any attention to them. This combination of evangelism and horse thievery hasn't done the world much good as yet. The united nations organization which is to prevent wars is standing by apparently as full of life as a car without an engine while a number of little wars are getting a good running start.

The self-styled peace loving nations get stuck in their conferences and are fortunate to emerge without dents in their hats. The aggressor aggresses, old man empire goes rolling along, the minorities hunt for tommy guns, and we stick out our chins wherever there is trouble, for example, at the Dardanelles. If it were not terrible it would be terribly silly.

It's too bad we can't hang the Germans who deserve hanging, pull out American troops, send in American food, counsel a decent regard for economic imperatives in making continental Europe livable, keep the Russians within bounds, withdraw some of our foolish statements regarding the freedoms, do what we must under international arrangements to which congress has consented, and hope that there will be a better outcome than can be reasonably expected from present signs.

THE TRUTH AT LAST

its diplomatic corps abroad that war with the United States would be announced by the phrase "East Wind Rain" in a false radio weather report. On Dec. 5, two days before the attack at Oahu, Washington heard these fatal words. No word went to Hawaii.

A whole series of intercepted messages, hitherto classified "top secret" to keep them from the knowledge of congress and the people, all pointed unmistakably to war. By Dec. 5 the Roosevelt government knew war was an actuality, despite the absence of a declaration. The only question left was where the attack would come. Three pieces of code information left no doubt even as to that.

The first was a message radioed Nov. 18 to Tokyo by Nagao Kita, Japanese consul general and director of Jap espionage in Honolulu. It brought Tokyo up to date on the identity of American warships in Pearl Harbor and gave the course of eight destroyers leaving the harbor. On Nov. 29 came the clincher. Tokyo radioed Honolulu: "We have been receiving reports from you on ship movements, but in the future will you also report even when there are no movements." [Italics supplied.]

Tokyo was not concerned about warships in harbor at Hong Kong, Singapore, Soerabaja, or San Diego. It wanted to know what was at Pearl Harbor. It said, in so many words, that its principal interest was in the ships remaining tied up in harbor. What could that mean except that it wanted the knowledge that they were staying in Pearl Harbor because it intended to attack them in Pearl Harbor?

Washington says this message was not decoded for a week after receipt, that is, on Dec. 5, the same day as the "East Wind Rain" war warning, and two days before the attack. There was ample time to have warned Kimmel and Short, but they were not warned.

The final, conclusive evidence that the attack was intended to take place at Pearl Harbor, and no place else, came in the early hours of Dec. 7. It was the "give-away" message from Japan setting the hour for the attack thru instructions radioed the Japanese envoys in Washington to present their reply to Secretary Hull's ultimatum of Nov. 26 at 1 p. m. Washington time the same day—sunrise in Hawaii, the time for surprise air attack.

Lt. Comdr. Kramer, on duty in the navy department handed Secretary Knox a memorandum pointing out this fact of transcendent importance at least three hours before the bombs fell. Everybody stalled. Finally, an hour and seven minutes before the attack in Hawaii, Gen. Marshall sent a warning to Short. He used ordinary commercial radio, instead of the powerful navy or FBI transmitters at his disposal, or the scrambler phone on his desk with a direct wire to Hawaiian headquarters. The message to Short was in code. It was not decoded until 2:58 p. m. Hawaiian time, hours after the great base was in ruins. Adm. Stark, who had received the same information as Marshall on the morning of Dec. 7, cried, "My God! This means war. I must get word to Kimmel at once." Why he did not do so is a mystery he must explain.

No such offense as has been brought home to Mr. Roosevelt and his inner circle was ever committed in this country before. It is obvious that gnawing anxiety lest the truth become known contributed to the premature deaths of Roosevelt and Knox. Some of their surviving conspirators have made matters worse by seeking to conceal the truth. They have even attempted to get laws passed to imprison any one who might bring out the truth.

Stimson has added to his infamy by sending Col. Henry C. Clausen around the world in the hope that various army witnesses who testified before the Pearl Harbor board of inquiry would change the stories they had given under oath. This attempt succeeded in at least one instance. Col. R. S. Bratton, chief of the G-2 far eastern section, was induced to alter his testimony that he personally had delivered to Gen. Marshall on the night of Dec. 6 an intercepted Jap message pointing to immediate hostilities. Congress has been told that Comdr. [now Capt.] Kramer, who had told Knox that Pearl Harbor was certain to be the target of attack, has been hounded into a psychiatric ward by navy officers seeking to make him change his testimony. Beyond that, all records of the four navy radio monitoring stations relating to the "East Wind Rain" interception of Dec. 5 declaring the existence of a state of war have disappeared.

The story of Pearl Harbor is the blackest page in American history. Nothing is left now but for congress to impeach all who may have played a guilty part and are subject to the process. In one way or another all of them still living should be brought to the bar of justice.

Most of us have seen those spectacular speeded-up movies showing a tiny bud becoming a full-blown flower. It is hoped that some patient photographer may similarly record in color the autumnal changes in a maple or an oak leaf.—Washington Evening Star.

'MUM IS THE WORD

A card of invitation to the Garfield Park conservatory tonight reminds us that this is chrysanthemum time. It also recalls that but for certain painful incidents of recent history the emperor of Japan would also be sending out bids to a large and swanky chrysanthemum party in the imperial gardens, where the blooms would be viewed with reverence and a choice collation would be served to the élite of Tokyo, the diplomatic corps, and members of the press in good standing with the government.

* * *

The chrysanthemum came into European horticulture from China and Japan, but its first mention by an occidental botanist [1689] designated it as Japanese. It is the Japanese national flower, and the crest of the imperial family is a conventionalized chrysanthemum with 16 petals—an excellent example of design. Furthermore, certain experts on Japanese heraldry insist that the red rays of the Rising Sun flag are intended to symbolize the 16 imperial petals.

* * *

Of course they have a folk tale about the origin of this crest. Side by side, two chrysanthemums bloomed—proud, flaunting Lady Yellow and simple, modest Lady White. Along came an artist seeking a perfect flower to inspire the design for a blue blood's crest, and he selected Lady White, who by this time was weeping from neglect and self-pity.

* * *

The Japanese name for the plant is by no means as lordly as ours, which means "golden flower." It is simply kiku. A period of feudal strife in ancient Japan was called the War of the Chrysanthemums.

* * *

In the weird old days of American football, a chrysanthemum on the lapel, tied with ribbons in the college color, was the fashion for dudes in the grandstands at the Thanksgiving day game.

SEPARATION CENTER

(Camp Grant, autumn, 1945.)

Still in the army brown, these waiting men
See slowly grinding mills and war-dark years;
The pin of gold that marks them free again
Brings peace, but also long unknown frontiers.
Their ribbons tell of bravery assured,
And yet doubt lurks in eyes too long estranged
From odd, civilian ways; the strife endured
Left them the same, yet somehow vaguely changed
Until a precious face blooms in the press
Of alien folk, and in one swift embrace
A kiss dissolves the aching loneliness
Born of old barriers of time and space.
Then, reassured, they know they still belong
With us; the ties of home are sure and strong.

Mystery of the Dumb Detective

The great detective walked dejectedly into the trailer where he was living. His face was haggard as he slumped into a chair.

"I give up," he mumbled. "I've been working on this for five months and I'm getting nowhere fast."

"Don't be discouraged," said his ever-loving wife, who had helped him find a solution so many times in the past. "I'm sure you'll uncover something pretty soon."

He grew even more despondent as he thought of all the publicity he would lose if his author lost faith in him and developed another great detective character.

"Didn't you run across even one lead today, angel?" she asked.

"O," he sighed, "I met one fellow who told me that some night when the wind is right and there is a full moon, and if I happened to be carrying the left hind foot of a cross-eyed rabbit I might hear of some one who is thinking of moving in a year or so. I tell you, this finding a place to live is the toughest case I've ever tackled!"

CHARLES COLLINS

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks will answer questions of service men, veterans, and their dependents by mail if stamped envelope is sent to 435 N. Michigan av. The Tribune's veterans' bureau, 1 S. Dearborn st., Superior 0200, gives personal interviews.]

Mrs. M. C. J. asks: "In calculating adjusted service credit points for discharge, is the time spent in training in the United States counted or is only time spent overseas considered? My son has been overseas for 13 months and was in training in the United States for more than a year. What is the pay of a sergeant in the army?"

In counting adjusted service credit points for discharge, one point is given for each month in active service, one point for each month overseas, five points for each battle participation star, five points for each decoration for heroism, five points for the Purple Heart, and 12 points for each child under 18 to a maximum of three. If your son was in training in the United States for 14 months and overseas for 13 he has earned 27 points for total time in service. In addition, he has earned 13 more points for overseas service, making a total of 40. Add to this score any other points he has earned up to Sept. 2 and you have his total score. Sixty points are required for discharge. The base pay of a sergeant is $78 a month. When overseas he gets an additional 20 per cent, or a total of $93.60.

J. M. W. asks: "Can a World War I. veteran get a pension? How? I have a total disability because of a heart condition."

You may be eligible to compensation if your disability is total and permanent. File an application on form 526-b with the veterans' administration. This department supplies forms if stamped envelope is sent with request.

SPRUE, OR CELIAC DISEASE

NORMALLY, the various food constituents are digested at different rates by the gastro-intestinal system. Starches and sugars are changed more quickly than proteins. Fats are slowest of all and cases are encountered now and then in which there is so little absorption that a peculiar form of diarrhea appears.

Few disorders have so many names. The most common is "sprue," taken from the Dutch word "sprouw" as it was described originally by Katelaer in 1669. For many years the adjective "tropical" was employed because it was thought to exist only in that climate. When the condition was first observed in temperate zones, physicians named it "nontropical sprue" but we now realize that they are one and the same. Other synonyms include idiopathic steatorrhea, Gee-Herter's disease, and hill diarrhea. At one time the cause was considered to be the monilia psilosis and the expression "psilosis" was used. In children, it is known as "celiac disease." Victims at this early age recover ultimately altho symptoms may continue for several years.

In some respects sprue mimics bacterial dysenteries but in general there are many distinguishing features. The malady may go unsuspected for several weeks or months during which time the patient is aware of vague yet persistent indigestion. During the period there may or may not be loose stools but later this becomes an annoying complaint. Weakness and underweight follow. The discharged material is characteristic and unlike that noted in related ailments. It contains most of the unassimilated fat and is bulky, foamy, and foul.

The abdominal area becomes greatly distended because of the abnormal accumulation of liquids and gas in the loops of bowel. This is due to excessive fermentation and lack of tone in the wall of the colon. Eventually the sufferer presents a pathetic appearance with marked emaciation everywhere but in the abdomen.

Associated with increased bowel activity is the failure to utilize vitamins and minerals. Painful contractions of the muscles [tetany] may occur and rickets, or softening of the bones, is not unusual. Anemia may be striking, accounting for the pale complexion. When the storage of vitamin K is interfered with, bleeding tendencies arise. There is also a vitamin B deficiency which leads to a fiery red tongue and mouth; in severe cases, pellagra may ensue. Many of these individuals become emotionally unstable, irritable, and discouraged. Some have loss of memory and perverted sensations in the extremities.

Treatment includes the injection of liver and vitamin B along with a carefully regulated diet high in proteins and vitamins, but restricted in carbohydrates and low in fats. Calcium is prescribed as well as vitamin D concentrates. Strained fruit juices and yeast are often beneficial. In the past, limited menus such as the banana regimen were utilized and proved helpful temporarily. More recently, the Gillmans recommended powdered hog's stomach inasmuch as it had been successful in allied disturbances.

NASAL CONGESTION

W. M. writes: At night when I lie down, one side of my nose seems to stop up. This never bothers me during the daytime.

REPLY

This situation is commonly noted in the presence of infection in the nose or adenoid region. The latter is a more likely cause because as a rule, the nasal passages seem to be open. Apparently mucus gravitates downward on the side nearest the pillow and blocks the posterior passageway. Occasionally allergy is responsible, probably to feathers or the chemicals used in laundering the bed linen. Therefore, congestion occurs in the nostril in contact with the pillow.

KITH AND KIN

S. A. W. writes: Can bad tonsils cause heart trouble?

REPLY

Indirectly, yes, for the relationship of tonsillitis to rheumatic fever is well known. In the latter disease, the heart valves may be attacked and it is possible that the responsible organisms gain access to the body thru these glands.

INFLATION

M. B. writes: Is water fattening?

REPLY

No. It has no calories, but if you have ever carried a bucketful you will appreciate how heavy it is. When an excess accumulates in the tissues, especially in those who retain a large amount of salt, weight will be increased but it is still fluid and not fat.

Tarry-a-While Tailoring

It is with great pleasure and the knowledge that we are doing the ladies of the atomic age a great benefit that we today introduce our slow-you-down attire, suitable for ladies or gentlemen. It, like Gaul, is divided into three parts: A tufted breechcloth, to deflect the wind. A helmet made of feathers worn backward, to handicap flight. A pair of sandals made of lead, to aid centrifugal gravity. Ladies and gentlemen, try this. Now! In the age into which we are entering it is guaranteed to hold your flight down to 100 miles an hour. Wear it and enjoy glimpses of the world you are passing over. Wear it and defy technological advance. Wear it and recover, in small degree, the lost art of leisure.

Perhaps you are not aware what has been happening to ladies' attire since the industrial revolution. It has changed as rapidly as the pace of man. It has gone from much to less and, as the future becomes the present, may go down to nothing or, as one fashion arbiter predicts, to a streamlined breechcloth.

Before the industrial revolution women dressed merely to look beautiful, but the first effect of the I. R. was to handicap that, for it brought smoke and soot. It also brought the filthy steam engined train. To counteract these women donned dun; somber grays and blacks and browns advertised in Godey's Lady's Book as "suitable for traveling; durable; will not show the dirt."

Next, in 1856, came the accidental discovery of aniline dyes. In came bright colors—purple, cerise, brilliant or bilious [as your eye finds it] blues. Then came the invention of the sewing machine and, following it, the paper pattern, and, in time, the mass production of the garment industry. With these, women's dress lost individuality. Every woman now could, and did, dress like every other woman.

Then came the automobile to exert the most far-reaching changes in the history of fashion. It brought dark goggles, the forerunner of sun glasses, to conceal the eyes. It brought short skirts, to reveal and free the legs. It brought slacks, for freedom of movement. It brought loose, easy-fitting clothes. It brought the doom of long underwear, high shoes, the flowing veil.

Then the airplane. It brought materials that were lightweight, preshrunk, water-repellent, wind-repellent, wrinkleproof, all concomitants of speed. It brought light colors, for air travel is clean. It brought the convertible coat, fur or wool, on one side, waterproof on the other, to cope with sudden climatic changes. It brought clothes that were at one time light in weight and warm.

Our Rea Seager, an expert on such things, says the fashions of the future will make your head wag. Only the lightest weight materials will be worn. These will be thin, air conditioned, and either opaque or sheer. They will be spotproof, waterproof, stainproof, rip-proof. They will be so cheap you can wear a garment once and throw it away.

She didn't think the atom would have any immediate effect: "It can't flatten hats any more than the designers already have. Look down on some of them now, and they look like atom craters." But by 2045, no matter what Salvador Dali says when he shows a lady trussed up in puffs and trains of satin, supported by overhead wires and a crutch beneath one shoulder: "Just a breechcloth and a brassiere. Speed will be all that matters. Streamline yourself like you streamline your jet plane. The more you hang out, the more you get caught."

This is disturbing news and demands a world-wide effort, beginning a century in advance, to counteract it. Our guess is that just as the luxury travel of the future will be trains that go slow enough for the traveler to see the country and, perhaps, cast a wistful nose out a window to sniff a posy or a bit of sagebrush, so the really astute ladies of that era will be those who wear clothes which will slow them down. Stores will advertise: "Deflect! Reflect! Delay your flight. It already is faster than time!" And if a lady's neighbor pays heed to the advertisments, she will, too.

AMERICA LASTERS AND THE BOMB

Long Beach, Cal., Nov. 5—The same "American Lasters" who urged our people to give blood and treasure to save the British and Russian empires now say we should give our atomic bomb secrets to other nations immediately.

First, we are told that unless we donate the atomic bomb to other nations, some of them will perfect it in a few years without our assistance. The "American Lasters" darkly imply this would be bad for us, but we are not told why. The only conceivable reason would be that when some nation perfects an atomic bomb it will use it against us. Why should not such a nation use our own atomic bomb against us?

The second argument of the "American Lasters" is even sillier. They say that because other nations do not trust us since we have developed the atomic bomb we should remove this distrust by sharing our knowledge. In plain language, we are asked to place implicit trust in the future good intentions of other nations because these nations have no faith whatsoever in our future good intentions!

SINGLE ROOM LIVING UNITS

Oak Park, Ill., Oct. 19—Being alone is a state that most individuals shun, contrary to the popularity of the phrase "Live alone and like it." A look around reveals a surprising number who are alone, many of them unhappy in the living environment available to them. Why has no consideration been given to this large group in housing plans? Hotels consisting of single room living units, plus community dining facilities, comfortable drawing rooms, laundry privileges, etc., at rental rates within the reach of the smaller income group would be ideal, providing opportunity for individuals living alone to enjoy both privacy and companionship.

Many single people occupy larger space than necessary, adding to the present housing shortage, because it is often cheaper than renting a room or apartment hotel rates. Housing for these nice people merits serious thought and action.

ONE NOT ALONE

REST CURE FOR OFFICERS

Chicago, Oct. 23—Why are so many of our boys still kept in the Carribean? Why the delay in sending them home? The transportation problem is a joke. Officers are sent to San Juan, Puerto Rico, by plane from Miami for a week-end rest! Hundreds of our boys in Puerto Rico are anxiously awaiting shipment back to the United States and just as many Puerto Ricans are waiting to be returned from the mainland. Can you blame these men for becoming discouraged?

A MOTHER

FEEDING PRISONERS

Chicago, Nov. 2—Who is responsible for the fact that men in the county jail go without food in order for an "errand boy" to charge 25 cents for a "sandwich." I'm a discharged vet working for a law enforcement agency and have a younger brother who is also a discharged vet, but who has made some kind of a mistake and is being treated like a P. W. at this jail pending trial. If he is wrong, he is wrong, but does he or does he not have a right to eat?

YANKS WAIT ON JAPS

INA, Honshu, Japan, Oct. 21—We are occupation troops here on Japanese home soil supposedly "conquerors." Tonight we have witnessed an event that is disgraceful to all American GIs. Our troop officers were courteous enough to invite the town officials, the mayor and chief of police, to a private supper here in our living quarters. That, not being bad enough, two of our enlisted men were ordered to serve them.

HANDLING YOUR OWN MONEY

Chicago, Nov. 6—I have just been handed a booklet entitled "For the People's Health," a plug for the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill to establish national health insurance. This is all right for those who have not already seen fit to become a member of some plan for hospital care, but I do not think it is fair to make the government plan compulsory and to deduct the cost from the salaries of those who already are paying for hospital care.

If we small wage earners are not forced constantly to dig down and help out the so-called less fortunate, perhaps we can keep off the relief rolls ourselves, but if this keeps up—high taxes, luxury taxes on nonluxuries, sharing with the less fortunate, etc., it won't be long until we'll all be on relief because we won't be allowed to handle our own money and use it to keep our own heads above water.

MARIANN JOHNSON

JUST LIKE NOTRE DAME

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 24—We sit out here awaiting our turn to go home—and wait and wait. The army says, "No shipping," yet the harbor is full of ships. Yesterday we counted 553 ships, including more than 100 Liberty ships, anchored in the harbor. A lot of the boys came over in these same ships, that now have been declared "not adequate."

My office force has doubled in the last three months, with more men coming in all the time. In fact so many came in today that we didn't have chairs enough to go around. Jobs are about like the Notre Dame football team, 3 or 4 deep for every position. All we do is go to work in the morning and impatiently wait for time to go home, amusing ourselves by reading, writing letters, etc.

YOU'LL FIND IT IN RECORDER'S OFFICE—EVENTUALLY

Chicago, Nov. 7—My husband and I purchased a building for which I gave him half the amount of money, money which I had since I was single. 1. He said the property was in joint tenancy, yet [2] I have not signed any papers. 3. That, he said, was unnecessary. 4. Can he sell the property without my signature? 5. On a joint tenancy, will my name be shown on the deed?

W. F.

1. We see no reason to doubt this. You can look it up on the tract index in the recorder's office after a few months have elapsed. That office is badly behind on current transactions.
2. There is no reason why you should sign, if you paid full cash without signing a mortgage.
3. He is probably right. See 2.
4. No. 5 Yes, as grantee, but this would not involve your signing.

CIO UNIONS SUED; STRIKE CALLED A BREACH OF PACT

American Brake Shoe Asks $125,000 Damages

The American Brake Shoe company, whose Chicago area plants have been tied up since Oct. 15 by a strike of 1,500 employes who are members of two Congress of Industrial Organizations unions, yesterday sued the unions and their officers for a total of $125,000 damages.

The purpose of the suits, the company said, is to determine whether collective bargaining contracts are equally binding on both employers and unions.

The unions are the United Automobile, Aircraft, and Agricultural Implement Workers of America and the United Farm Equipment and Metal Workers of America.

Officers Named Defendants

The company brought its actions in the United States District court and in Superior court. The federal court suit named R. J. Thomas, international president of the UAW; Sam Mariani, president of local 453, and 11 other union officials, and asked $25,000 damages.

The suit charged a strike at the company's Hawthorne plant, 4544 26th st., a foundry for brake shoes, parts, and equipment, with 185 employes, was called without notice or a 30 day cooling off period in violation of the war labor disputes act.

The action alleged that the reason for the strike was the company's refusal to discharge an employe named Banks, who, it was stated, is not a member of the union.

Asks Writ to Halt Strike

The Superior court suit named the UAW and the same 13 officials. It also named the UFEW, Grant Oakes, its international president; Christ Gyker, president of local 164, and 11 other union officials. Damages of $100,000 were asked.

In addition, the Superior court action demanded an injunction to forbid the defendants to continue to cause a suspension of work in the company's plants.

The plants are listed as the Hawthorne, the Clearing brass foundry, at 5331 66th st., the Ramapo plant, 2503 Blue Island av.; the Melrose Park foundry, 1219 Main st., Melrose Park, and the Great Lakes forging plant, 1220 W. 119th st.

Charge Breaking of Contracts

The unions were accused of violating collective bargaining contracts providing for arbitration of grievances. The UAW was accused of making a deal with the UFEW to suspend work at the Great Lakes plant.

The suits were filed by Atty. George B. Christensen.

THIEF OF $7,800 FOR LOVE GETS TERM IN JAIL

Miss Dorothy Eager, 30, of 6139 Ellis av., who left her job with a currency exchange, taking $7,800 for a trip with the father of five children, yesterday was placed on probation for five years and sentenced to six months in County jail by Judge Julius H. Miner in Criminal court.

Judge Miner also ordered Miss Eager to repay the stolen money with 20 per cent of her future weekly earnings Her romance came to an end in San Diego, Cal., where she tried to end her life after her companion deserted her.

The man with whom she traveled was Glen Mooney, 25, of 6228 S. Morgan st. He was sentenced Oct. 20 to serve from two to four years in the penitentiary. Miss Eager was working at the Dayton Currency exchange, 1405 W. 63d st., at the time of the theft.

Wife of Banker Found Hanged at Sanitarium

Mrs. Myrtle Schaniel, 46, of 308 N. Lombard av., Oak Park, was found hanged yesterday in a bathroom of the Parkway sanitarium at 2616 Prairie av. Mrs. Schaniel, wife of Charles Schaniel, vice president of the Lake Shore National bank, 605 N. Michigan av., entered the sanitarium Wednesday because of a nervous condition.

ACCEPT JOBS, IDLE WORKERS TOLD BY STATE

The time has come when unemployed war workers receiving public aid must take a realistic view of their chances for a job, Samuel C. Bernstein, commissioner of the state division of placement and unemployment compensation, said yesterday.

Bernstein said the state would begin to apply the schedule of adjustment periods set up when the war with Japan ended and approved by the division's advisory committee of three members representing labor, employers, and the public. This scale contemplates that an unskilled worker should find a satisfactory job in six weeks, a semi-skilled man in eight weeks, and a skilled man in 10 weeks.

Bernstein said no mass termination of benefits is planned, but when a "suitable" job is found for a man he will be expected to take it or get off the benefit rolls. Exceptions will be considered for men with special training who have good prospects of being placed in a short time.

TELLS U.S. PLAN FOR EASING OF FOOD SUBSIDIES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8 (AP)—A tentative time table for withdrawal of a number of war time subsidies on food was announced tonight by Stabilization Director John C. Collet.

Collet said in a statement that the removal of remaining subsidies will be regulated to avoid an over-all increase in living costs. "Financial interests" of production also will be given equal consideration, he added.

Two war time subsidies—on butter and peanut butter—already have been canceled. Retail prices on those items went up as a result.

Cost of Program

Food subsidies during the fiscal year will cost the government an estimated $1,798,000,000. Agriculture department estimates on some of the items include canned and frozen vegetables, $39,200,000; dairy production, $534,000,000; flour production payments, $190,000,000; slaughter of live stock, $535,400,000; payments to feeders of sheep and lambs, $36,000,000; and payments to feeders of beef cattle, $40,000,000.

Collet said elimination of some subsidies would mean higher retail prices for commodities affected. In other cases, he added, retail prices will not be increased.

In the withdrawal of the butter and peanut butter subsidies, he said that resulting retail increases had been "more than offset by declines in the retail prices of potatoes and some other items."

A Tentative Schedule

The tentative schedule which he gave for cancelation of some subsidies follows:

Canned grapefruit juice—The subsidy expires automatically with the selling of the 1944-'45 crop and will not be renewed on the 1945-'46 crop.

Vegetable shortening—To be terminated not later than Dec. 1, 1945.

Cheese—To be terminated not later than Feb. 28, 1946.

Pork—The roll back subsidy of $1.30 per 100 pounds will be terminated not later than March 31, 1946; the remaining pork subsidy, currently 40 cents a hundredweight, will be terminated not later than June 30, 1946.

Current plans are to end subsidies on the following commodities at the end of the 1945 crop season:

Canned and frozen vegetable, dry edible beans, prunes, and raisins.

June 30 Termination

These subsidies are to be terminated not later than June 30, 1946:

Dairy production payments, regional, fluid milk, feeder cattle, beef, sheep and lambs, and flour.

Collet said no final decision had been made regarding subsidies on sugar and oil seed and payments to nonprocessing slaughterers.

He also said that it may be necessary to ask congress to approve extension, in whole or part, of a few subsidy payments beyond present statutory termination dates. He did not specify these.

3 BUS CRASHES IN 2 DAYS BRING INVESTIGATIONS

Council, ICC, and Experts Hunt Cause

Three agencies yesterday opened independent investigations into three accidents in the last two days involving Chicago Motor Coach company buses. Each group will make public its own report at the conclusion of the inquiry.

The first investigation to get under way was organized by Coroner Brodie, who announced the appointment of six safety experts to a committee to inquire into the death of Fred Schroeder, 40, of 1342 Monroe st., River Forest, killed by a bus at Randolph and Michigan avs. last Tuesday.

Two Inquiries Begin

Companion investigations were launched by the city council and the Illinois commerce commission.

Brodie's committee of experts, two members of which will serve on the Schroeder inquest jury at its next hearing on Nov. 16, is instructed to inspect the bus company's repair shops, review operating procedure, interview drivers, and inquire into any other aspect of the company's operation.

Frank Peska, a member of the Illinois commerce commission, said three engineers have been assigned to study all the bus company's activities. Their report will be ready in a few days, he said.

Meanwhile, Ald. Young [46th], chairman of the city council committee on local transportation, said his committee would join with the committee on traffic and public safety in an immediate investigation of the crashes.

Three Drivers Fired

In a statement earlier, R. J. Jurgensen, operating vice president for the bus company, said he was satisfied that all three crashes were caused by negligence on the part of the drivers. The three involved, he said, have been discharged.

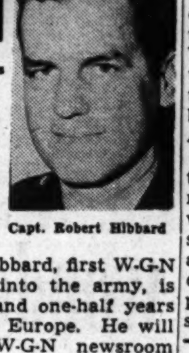
They are Richard Nay, 27, of 3420 Lyndale st., operator of a two deck bus which plowed into another at Milwaukee av. and Addison st. on Friday, injuring slightly 22 persons; John T. O'Shea, 32, of 5130 Winnemac av., driver of a bus which crashed into the rear of another vehicle at Lake Shore dr. early yesterday, and Ralph Colwell, 32, of 117 N. Ashland av., driver of the bus which killed Schroeder.

Jurgensen said that all the company's buses were inspected by the city's testing lane engineers within the last 15 days. Each bus is also given a complete overhaul after 3,000 miles of service, or about every 21 days, he said.

Members of Brodie's committee are James E. Bulger, vice president of the Chicago Motor club; J. Roy Anderson, shop foreman for the bureau of streets and electricity; Matt Sielske, safety director for the Chicago Motor club; Leslie Sorenson, chairman of the Chicago street traffic committee; Philip C. Nilles, superintendent of equipment for the department of streets and electricity, and Joseph Stech, manager of the Greater Chicago Safety council. The last two will serve on the coroner's jury.

DENNIS APPOINTED PUBLIC RELATIONS CHIEF FOR W-G-N

Lt. Comdr Bruce Dennis



Capt. Robert Hibbard

Lt. Comdr. Bruce Dennis, on terminal leave from the navy, has been appointed director of the department of public relations of W-G-N, Frank P. Schreiber, manager, announced yesterday. Comdr. Dennis has served in the navy 40 months—10 months as executive officer of the radio section on the staff of Fleet Adm. Nimitz.

Capt. Robert Hibbard, first W-G-N staff man to go into the army, is home after four and one-half years of service, two in Europe. He will return to the W-G-N newsroom after a vacation. During the final year of the war in Europe he served as assistant radio officer at Gen. Bradley's 12th army group headquarters.

SANITARY BOARD RECEIVES BIDS ON SEWER WORK

The sanitary district received bids yesterday for the construction of 4.4 miles of a new south side interceptor sewer which James M. Whalen, president of the board of trustees, said would eliminate virtually all flooding in the area bounded by Pershing rd., 87th st., Ashland av., and Lake Michigan.

Bids received were for that portion of the sewer between Pershing rd. and Garfield blvd. The board will award the contract at its next session if the bids are not too high and construction will begin in 30 days after a performance bond is posted by the contractor, Whalen said.

EVER SIP A $2,000,000 OLD FASHIONED?

● Here's the recipe below! We call it a $2,000,000 "dream of a drink"—because that's what Fleischmann invested in grains, skill and research before we released one golden bottle of this rich, luxurious, straight bourbon whiskey. We make it in limited amounts. We have to—it's so delicious!

FIRST, GET FLEISCHMANN'S BOND THEN DO THIS!

1

Place ½ level teaspoon of granulated sugar in Old Fashioned glass! Add 2 or 3 dashes of Angostura bitters, and just enough water to dissolve the sugar!

2

Muddle thoroughly. Add ice cubes; and 1½ oz. of smooth, delicious Fleischmann's [illegible]! Then stir!

Twist a strip of lemon peel over top and drop rind in drink! Garnish to suit with Maraschino cherry, a slice of orange, or a strip of pineapple!

TRUMAN CALLED CAPTIVE OF CIO, AND A WEAK ONE

Senator Demands Laws to Avert 'Catastrophe'

BY WILLIAM MOORE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8—Charging that President Truman is "a captive of the CIO labor government," Sen. Moore [R., Okla.] today in the senate called for legislation to curb the labor bosses who Moore said have been encouraged to a "public be damned" attitude by the Roosevelt and Truman administrations.

Moore told the senate that America's workers are the slaves of reckless leaders who are paralyzing industrial reconversion and demanded that congress act to save the nation in view of the "catastrophe" threatened by Mr. Truman's "weak" leadership.

Series of Proposals

Moore proposed:

That the closed shop and union shop be outlawed and that the union check-off system imposed upon employers be prohibited unless each employe whose union dues are so taken from his pay for the union gives written consent.

That unions be made legally responsible to abide by their contracts, and that collective bargaining rights of unions striking in violation of their contracts be suspended.

That unions and union chiefs be made equally liable with corporations and other citizens to the anti-trust and anti-racketeering laws.

That free elections be required of unions at stated intervals and that public audits be made of union funds.

Mentions Slush Funds

That unions be forbidden to spend slush funds in politics.

That unemployment compensation to which any federal contribution is made be denied any individual on strike.

Moore urged the Democratic leadership to embody his program in legislation.

Ripping Mr. Truman's recent radio plan of raising wages now, in the prospect of government price increases later, if needed, Moore branded the proposal "economic asininity."

"It has been the policy of the administration's second pseudo economists," Moore said, "to encourage labor to make premature demands. The result has been wholesale strikes.

"Willy-Nilly" Speech

"The President's willy-nilly radio address of Oct. 30 was filled with inconsistencies, irrelevant and unjustified attacks upon congress, and unsound economic observations. The speech had all the earmarks of being written by diversified pressure groups who were politicians and not economists. Such weak leadership is indicative of either the voice of inexperience or a deliberate shirking of a difficult responsibility.

"For more than a decade, the administration's policy has been one that frankly declared its purpose was to destroy business, industry, and private enterprise and promote the supremacy of unionized labor."

VICTORY LOAN TORCHES WILL AID BOND SALES

Insignia of Victory loan torches, designed by apprentices of the decorating department in the Washburn Trade school, will be stenciled on pavements in the loop and at busy intersections thruout the city today by volunteer members of local unions affiliated with the Painters District council No. 14, Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators, and Paperhangers of America.

The first of 427 torches will be stenciled on the pavement at Clark and Madison sts. at 11 a. m. by George F. Spaulding, chairman of the city-county Victory loan committee, and Joseph Moenich, secretary-treasurer of the council.

Tomorrow at 8 a. m., the first visitor will board the navy Victory train in Union station. The train, which will be in Chicago for one day, contains three flat cars and two baggage cars full of exhibits of fighting equipment. It is being shown under joint sponsorship of the navy and the treasury.

DEMOLITION JOB ON TRIBUNE SITE NEARLY FINISHED

Demolition of the building at Illinois and St. Clair sts., site of the new eight story addition to Tribune Tower and the W-G-N building, has been virtually completed, officials of the Speedway Wrecking company, subcontractors in the construction work, announced yesterday.

The debris will be cleaned out in a short time, they said, and excavation work will proceed immediately. Weather conditions will determine to some extent how soon excavation of approximately 15,000 cubic yards of soil will be completed.

Immediately after the preliminary work is completed the general contractors, R. C. Wieboldt company, will begin construction of the addition. Work on foundations for the new presses, which will fill the ground floor of the structure, will begin after the first few floors are in place and the space is enclosed.

WOMAN'S PURSE SNATCHED

Mrs. Delia Thompson, 51, of 4446 N. Racine av., reported to police yesterday that two men snatched her purse containing $13 early yesterday.

NEW LANGUAGE MAKES YOU SEE WHAT YOU SAY!

Electronic Tube Invention Lets Deaf 'Hear'

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—A new form of language, where electronic tubes make spoken words visible in green light, was announced today by the Bell Telephone laboratories.

The deaf can read this language. Persons of normal hearing learn to read it about as fast as a foreign language. The tubes also record this sound language on paper in permanent form.

The new alphabet looks slightly like shorthand, but with all characters flat, and some a bit fuzzy on the edges. The electronic translator draws not only spoken words, but also music, noise, dialects, and bird songs. It can be made to record the emotions in a human voice.

A Further Possibility

The principle is like the one which will be used when, if ever, science makes a typewriter that will record spoken dictation.

In this language the word "sure" looks like a diving airplane. "Five" closely resembles the letter Z. The sound "S" is like a curtain of whiplashes and the word "sissy" is tough to recognize. "We" looks like a tree blowing in the wind. "You" is like a warship with a barrage balloon floating just above its bow.

The meadowlark's song resembles the notes in a musical scale. The thrush song is similar except its notes resemble fat, juicy slugs. The whippoorwill's voice resembles stubby caterpillars chasing each other. Laughter is a row of feathers. Grunting and squealing look like a picket fence with occasional cross bars.

Screen Is Used

This green light language appears as the words are spoken on a small glass screen like a television picture; and for teaching deaf children, on a large screen about four feet across, where each green word is a foot high.

Edgar Bloom, born deaf, read with fair fluency today before a large audience as words were spoken into a mike by a woman demonstrator and by members of the audience.

More important than his reading, Bloom learned for the first time by watching the light forms to speak so that other people can understand.

Spur to Learning

Deaf children, it was pointed out, are able to learn to speak clearly only a few words per year. With the speech translator it is expected they will learn faster.

The electronic tubes pick up the pitch of voices, their loudness, and the length of time each sound lasts. These they translate into electric current which in turn is converted into patterns in light. Each slight variation in sound shows clearly.

The Newyorkese "noive" for "nerve" looks just as different as it sounds.

J. M. STUDEBAKER, 45, DIES HERE AS HE LEAVES TRAIN

J. M. Studebaker III., 45, of South Bend, Ind., president of the Studebaker Machine company, Maywood, and grandson of one of the founders of the Studebaker corporation, automobile manufacturers, died of a heart attack yesterday as he alighted from a South Shore train at the Randolph st. station of the Illinois Central.

J. M. Studebaker III.

Mr. Studebaker, formerly a director of the automobile corporation but no longer connected with it, was coming from his South Bend home at 1229 E. Jefferson blvd. to his Maywood plant. Rescue squad No. 1 under Capt. William O'Farrell worked for 45 minutes in an effort to revive Mr. Studebaker.

He was identified by papers in his pocket and his widow, Lillian, 43, was notified. She came here accompanied by her two daughters, Mrs. Mary Winder, 18, and Mrs. Lillian Hardy, 21. The body was taken to the chapel at 316 W. 63d st.

BUSINESS MAN KILLED WHEN HIS PLANE CRASHES

Joseph Grubic, 43, of 2839 N. Sacramento av., part owner of the Alumicast Metal Stamping company, was killed yesterday when the plane he was flying crashed five miles north of Holy Cross, Ia. Grubic, who frequently used a plane for business trips, was the only occupant of the craft. Grubic took off early yesterday from Ravenswood airport, on Touhy av., for Waterloo, Ia. The plane was far off its course when it crashed. Charles Cook, a farmer, said that he saw the ship circling as if the pilot were seeking a place to land. Suddenly the motor sputtered and stopped and the plane crashed.

ROB BAKERY OWNER OF $400

Two Negro gunmen took $400 and a wristwatch from John Hutter in his bakery at 5135 Wentworth av., he reported to police yesterday.

CERNY—Pfc. Frank C. Cerny. In loving memory of our dear son and brother, killed in France one year ago Nov. 9.
Somewhere in France in a soldier's grave,
Lies our dear Frank among the brave.
He never shunned his country's call,
But gladly gave his life, his all.
He little thought, when leaving home,
He would return no more,
That he in death so soon would sleep
Upon a foreign shore.
We do not know what pain he bore,
We did not see him die,
We only know he passed away,
And could not say good-by.

"With Bated Breath"

By Alice Campbell

(Copyright: 1945: By Mrs. Alice Ormond Campbell)

SYNOPSIS: Avis Marriott accepts a job as a companion-housekeeper to Maud and Erica Bolles, wealthy spinsters, until she can return to her Red Cross work. Maud, a local autocrat, known for her charities, has grown strangely penurious in her home. Erica, childish, a semi-invalid, is dominated by Maud. A couple of guests and an evacuee family live with them at Turrets. Dr. Bruce advises Avis against accepting the position, but drives her over. Turrets is an isolated English manor with an abandoned underground passage. Avis' predecessor, Agatha Trimble, left under a cloud, suspected of theft. Robin Grier, Maud's godson, has been invalided out of the army. Mrs. Marks, a widow and family connection, seems too sophisticated for her surroundings. Avis arrives during a violent domestic scene with the departing cook calling Maud a cheeseparing sinner. Avis' room is in the turret, where Erica insists upon living. An unexpected guest, Oscar Moravian, arrives on Erica's invitation.

INSTALMENT V.

FATAL FALL

Avis slipped out and Olive Marks followed her. "Foul luck," she shrugged, "but we'll see to things. We'll want sheets, won't we? Then just hand over the keys."

Before the line cupboard was reached, on the uppermost floor, Avis whispered, "Who is this person?" In the gloom Olive's eyes turned. "Believe me or not, my brother-in-law. It so happens I never laid eyes on him till tonight."

"O, he can't be!" Avis sounded profoundly shocked. "Did you honestly say your brother-in-law?"

The woman at her side flicked a quizzical glance. "I married his wife's much younger half-brother—for my sins. Relation of the Bolles." Coolly impersonal, she went on to explain that her own mistake had walked out on her some time back and had finished off in Kenya. Sugar cane fire. "I didn't wear any weeds. This little misfit tho—not just one's picture of a wife-murderer is he? That's what he's supposed to be."

Wife-murderer! Avis laughed weakly, assuming it was Mrs. Marks' conception of a joke.

"It's probably," the detached voice hazarded, "one of the many things Erica doesn't know. You may have noticed there's a conspiracy to shield her from the more sordid truths. O, yes, this bloke carted his squaw off to darkest Egypt and calmly proceeded to do her in. Never proved, of course. Little brute far too sharp. Great one with the ladies. Here's the cupboard. Will this be the key?"

"Look here," Avis hissed. "Do you mean to tell me that knowing the sort of man this is Miss Bolles is just letting him stay?"

That, Mrs. Marks pondered, was the feature she couldn't quite fathom. The Maud she had previously known would have lost not a second in hoofing him out into the rain.

"There are not two ways about it. Our Maud is very definitely losing her grip. . . . Holy cats! Was there ever a sheet?"

The object Olive shook out was [illegible] down the middle and a [illegible] patchwork of fine darns. Ditto the following sheet, and the next. Lengthy search was required in order to find a pair in even moderate condition. Incomprehensible.

They descended to the second floor. "Golly," Olive groaned, "but I could have used that drink! I was nearly springing a chill myself only I got a brain wave instead. Will this room be locked as well? No, here's Hilda to do the bed. Just as well, I've beastly neuritis in my right arm. I'll just slip along."

It was somehow not easy to believe in this neuritis, nor could Avis quite see why Mrs. Marks was gliding so furtively in the direction of the rear stair, the bunch of keys still in her hand. Later Avis, laden with her own rubber hot water bottle, bumped into her in the gloom of the basement flight.

"Hot bottle?" Olive chuckled, cuddling a bulge under her white coat. "No, my pet, it's a far, far better thing, I've been trying to pick that wine cellar lock for weeks. That's why I wanted the keys."

Softly she vanished.

A ponderous hall clock was hemming and hawing 9:30 when Avis regained the drawing room. Thus it dragged on till the open stroke of 10, when Maud rose, stuffed her knitting into its bag, and made the curt announcement, "Bed."

Avis in her cold eyrie was in the act of huddling her nightgown over goose pimpling arms when Olive Marks looked in on her. With a warning: "Look sharp, this is your share," she thrust a tooth mug of whisky into the girl's hand.

"O, must say this is good of you. I don't like whisky as a rule, but I'm so perishingly frozen——"

"Naturally. Well, down it quick, I may tell you. She's next door, in two ticks she'll be coming along to you."

Gasping a little over the stiff drink, Avis asked if Miss Bolles usually paid last thing visits to her sister. Invariably, Olive said.

"Surely you've realized by this that Duty's her middle name? Every evening,"—maunderingly—"Wet or fine . . . ugh!" A capacious yawn. "Yes, well, I've been wondering, young Avis. [I'm calling you Avis, you don't mind?] You, I fancy, were to have been the distraction. Erica, funnily enough, has provided her own brand."

"Distraction?" Avis faltered uncomfortably. "Not me?"

"Obviously, duck. Trimble shoved out, Erica weeping for three solid days. Till this afternoon, in fact, when quite suddenly she burst into song. So it shows you, doesn't it? She must all along have had this Moravian up her sleeve.

"Maud didn't guess that, needless to say. What she does know is that Erica's volatile. Trimble or no Trimble, Erica was certain to fall for your trans-Atlantic charm. A spot late, tho, for Maud's calculations. The boy friend's the reprisal. "Erica," Olive mused, "is no fool. At times, you know, she's quite terrifyingly all there. Better give me that mug."

She smuggled it deftly into her robe pocket.

"Not a Bolles for nothing, in short," she summed up. "Erica is sharp as razors—but not mean. Have I mentioned that I'm paying board? Fact. No, believe me, Erica will give you the shirt off her back. Maud's chief worry with her. You see, her philanthropy takes the cold-blooded form. This Grier lad, now. One of Maud's self-imposed obligations. Wouldn't you expect her to have a soft spot for him? Maybe she has, but to my mind, Maud Bolles is simply the sort of refrigerated flat fish."

Past midnight, yet Avis, in bed, hadn't managed to close an eye.

What could the cook have meant? Some insult, hinging on her mistress' failure to bring a charge against the sacked housekeeper. As tho a woman like Maud would! Then the undesirable new guest of really criminal reputation.

What did Dr. Bruce know or suspect regarding this melange?

Who or what could be making that odd, slithering noise?

On the landing, she felt sure, only it ended so quickly its nature was impossible to define. Just a whish, then stillness. She was still puzzling over it when sleep sucked her down.

Cr-rash!

The very ceiling quivered. Up like a shot, Avis felt a dreadful certainty lunge thru her brain. Miss Erica had disobeyed orders, slid on that wicked linoleum and tumbled headlong down the stair.

Out Avis flew. O, God, there it sprawled, in a dark blotch of shadow. The thin upwelling glow issued from a flashlight.

Doors below burst open. Miss Bolles cried: "Erica! what's this?" she gasped. "It's a man."

Man? Not Robin, here he was, shuffling to the spot. Picking up the fallen torch, shining it squarely on blank, evil eyes set in pock marked face.

EXPECT ATTLEE TO SEEK PARLEY OF FIVE POWERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Nov. 8—Prime Minister Attlee will open his conversations with President Truman this week-end by proposing that a five-power parley including the United States, Britain, Russia, France, and China be held as soon as possible, diplomatic circles said tonight.

The British cabinet, meeting today on the eve of Attlee's departure, agreed that it was even more important to get to work on setting up the new world organization than to decide what to do about the immediate disposal of the secret of manufacture of the atomic bomb, informed sources reported. The cabinet, it was said, considered that no useful purpose would be served at present by offering the knowledge so far acquired to other countries. Nevertheless, British sources believed the cabinet regards a world organization as the only body suitable to handle and control atomic research and for this reason Attlee will emphasize the need for creation of such an organization.

The British government is reported to be anxious to revive the meeting of the council of foreign ministers whose discussions broke down recently on the Russian demand that France and China be excluded from the peace talks. Among the urgent subjects for consideration are peace treaties with Italy and Germany's former satellites.

KEEP A-BOMB, SAY FLYERS WHO HIT NAGASAKI

Against Turning Secret Over to World Body

Sacramento, Cal., Nov. 8 (AP)—The American flyers who dropped the atomic bomb on Nagasaki don't think the secret of the missive should be entrusted to any international custodianship.

There was a shouted chorus of "Hell, no," when they were asked their opinions on the subject at a news conference at Mather field after their arrival today from the Marianas in B-29 "The Great Artiste."

Won't Quit Now

They also were in accord in the belief the atom bomb will not be a factor in preventing future wars.

Sgt. John B. Kuharek of Columbus, Neb., a flight engineer, expressed it this way, and there was no disagreement.

"People have been throwing rocks at each other ever since the stone age. I don't think they're going to quit now because a new weapon of war has been developed, deadly as it is."

Warns Coast Residents

"If some one else gets a hold of that bomb some of you people on the Pacific coast are going to be mighty sorry," said Capt. James F. Van Pelt Jr., a navigator, of Oak Hill, Va. "Give any one else that bomb? That's the silliest thing I ever heard of."

Sgt. Raymond Gallagher of 5727 S. Mozart st., Chicago, a gunner, said: "I don"t ever want to see another go off. The American people would have to see it to realize what happens."

Mrs. Arnold Solomon, 7007 Oglesby av., lost a wristwatch valued at $150 in the vicinity of her home, she reported to police yesterday.

TELLS HOW U. S. CAN BE BLASTED IN A-BOMB WAR

Pushbutton Battle Is Seen by Scientist

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8 (AP)—A "war of the push buttons" with the hearts of America's largest cities blasted from the back rooms of foreign consulates was envisioned today by the senate atomic energy committee's chief scientific adviser.

Dr. Edward U. Condon, director of the National Bureau of Standards and mentor to the senate atom group, declared such a prospect confronts the nation unless a world organization is created "with complete power to know what is being done everywhere."

Easy to Conceal

For, he said in an article written for Army Ordnance, a magazine:

"The atomic bombs are such small and simple devices that it is easy to visualize agents of an enemy nation bringing them in in small pieces, under cover of diplomatic immunity, and assembling them quietly in the closets or back rooms of their embassies and consular offices in our chief cities.

"Then when the decision to make war is reached, the ruler of the enemy nation has merely to say the word and his agents in our country touch off the dozen or two bombs so planted in each of the major cities.

"And within minutes the entire hearts of each of them are utterly destroyed—made to resemble the recently released photographs of Hiroshima."

Lectures Lawmakers

In his new role as adviser to the senate committee entrusted with atomic energy control legislation, Condon arranged to lecture to them tonight on nuclear physics. Dr. Harold Urey, University of Chicago Nobel prize winner, agreed to participate. Condon promised some "physical demonstrations" along with the lectures, held for committee members only at the bureau of standards.

Democrat Holds Slight Lead in Louisville Race

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 8 (AP)—The lead of E. Leland Taylor, Democrat, over Republican Roy W. Easley for mayor of Louisville was narrowed to 263 votes tonight, when tabulations from Tuesday's elections were halted until Friday morning. In 282 of 495 precincts, Taylor polled 27,383 votes to 27,120 for Easley.

ATOM CHANGES COWS' COLORS; ALSO A BEARD'S!

Alamogordo, N. M., Nov. 8 (AP)—State Live Stock Inspector Alfred Hunter reports cattle changed color and a rancher's beard became streaked with gray following the first atomic bomb test near here last July 16.

Hunter said the red-coated, white-faced Herefords appeared to have a heavy frost across their backs. Several came off the C. M. Harvey ranch, 25 or 30 miles from the bomb test site. He said the new color was not deep and the cattle showed no signs of injury.

Will Wrye, a rancher at Bingham, N. M., said that following the explosion the beard on the sides of his face first appeared to have been seared and now was growing back white.

WHAT THE NEW Martin 2-0-2 MEANS TO AIRLINE MAINTENANCE MEN
Marong Fuel Cells: Featured in the new Martin 202 are elastic fuel cells. These Mareng cells, like the bladder of a football, are easily installed or removed . . . may be quickly repaired.
Quick Refueling: To reduce waiting time at airports, the new Martin 202 is designed for under-wing pressure fueling . . . for oil tank servicing from the ground. No climbing on slippery wings in rainy or snowy weather.
The ease with which the new Martin model 202 transport can be refueled and serviced means more than shorter stops and faster passenger schedules. It also means a lot of time and trouble saved by those unsung heroes of the airlines, the hard-working maintenance men. Unusual accessibility, rugged long-lasting construction, and emphasis on interchangeability of parts—these features make the Martin 202 the easiest plane of its type to service and maintain. Look at the facts listed below and you'll see why the 202 is the answer to a maintenance man's prayer!
THE GLENN L. MARTIN COMPANY
BALTIMORE 3, MARYLAND.
Martin AIRCRAFT
Builders of Dependable Aircraft Since 1909
FACTS FOR MAINTENANCE MEN ABOUT THE NEW MARTIN 202!
- Radio, heating and electrical equipment, as well as control cables and hydraulic lines, all are located in the belly of the fuselage—are accessible through large "bomb-bay" type doors. Equipment is grouped to permit work on separate types with minimum of interference.
- Accessories at rear of engines are accessible from wheel-well through removable panel on fire wall. The 202 also permits under wing pressure fueling—oil tank servicing from ground. Adequate, quick-opening panels permit inspection of vital controls.
- Pilot's and co-pilot's flight group instruments removable as unit through nose wheel-well from back of instrument panel. Three-point suspension tubular engine mount is designed for maximum accessibility to engine.
- Flexible Mareng fuel cells, easily removed, installed or repaired. Cabin furnishings easily removable without tools.
- Special attention given to making all parts interchangeable. Wherever possible right and left hand parts are identical. Thus, for example, soundproofing consists of identical interchangeable panels, easily removed or installed without tools.
- Power plant mountings are designed for rapid replacement, right and left engines are interchangeable, cowlings are easily removed. Flexible, long-lasting, fireproof tubing for all fuel lines forward of firewall are specified.
- Landing gear consists of dual main wheels which are safer, lighter to handle, easily replaced—and a new style nose wheel which eliminates the complexity of the dual-sealed-tube type. Convenient jack pads permit easy replacement of wheels and brakes—down-and-up lock arrangement is simplified, reliable.
- These are only a few of the outstanding features of the Martin 202. From stem to stern this plane was designed to meet airline maintenance requirements as determined by long study of airline custom and procedure.
- The Martin 202 is engineered specifically to meet Air Transport Association specifications. Not just designed for the airline but by the airline—custom-built by Martin—to the most exacting standards of the air traveler.

Most Children Live Blissfully in the Present

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

When you're grown up, your own childhood grows very far away. O, I know about your remembered red letter days, or rummaging for dressing-up clothes in the attic, or summers at the beach. Lots of such memories become vivid at times. But the kind of remembrance I am talking about is something quite different. It is more the re-creating of a state of mind that is peculiar to childhood.

The particular, the wonderful, the enviable state of mind I am thinking of, which is peculiar to early childhood, is the ability to live completely in the present moment.

A child, more than an adult, has the great gift of living in the present.

It is a great gift. Too often we who are parents are annoyed with our child because of the inconvenience that his wholehearted absorption in the present causes us.

It would be a great gain for us who are grown up if we could live more fully in each day as it comes along, but especially would it be a gain for all of us who have children to do so in order to enjoy each day of their ever-changing childhood. That is one thought that follows quickly on reading "The Salutation of the Dawn," translated from the Sanskrit. Give the children a fresh start each day and do not carry over from the past reproaches and recriminations. To our smaller ones this is important. To our older ones, who come to figure more and more as individuals in the family life, it is even more necessary.

"Look to this Day!
For it is Life, the very Life of Life.
In its brief course lie all the Verities and Realities of one's existence.
The Bliss of Growth,
The Glory of Action,
The Splendor of Beauty."

No static cramped exhortation, this—not only exquisite but stirring and vital!

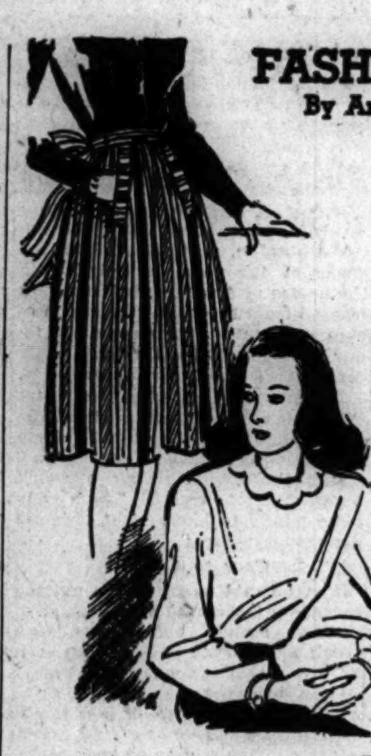
The North Shore Association for the Crippled will meet at 10:30 a. m. today in Mrs. Lewis C. Clarke's home in Evanston. Mrs. Florence Langlan, the association's instructor for homebound persons, will report on the Christmas work which her pupils are turning out to be sold during the holiday season.

FASHIONS

By Angela



When a purchase made for some-one else has so entranced the donor that there is an overwhelming desire to keep it, the gift assuredly will be a success. Just such a trio is this group of items to include on your Christmas shopping list.

The roman striped taffeta skirt at the left, slightly full in front and slim in back, will find favor in the wardrobe of any junior miss. It may be worn with a long-sleeved blouse or dressed up with a brief cap-sleeved blouse in any one of the myriad of colors in the skirt.

No girl or woman who is a suit addict ever has had enough blouses in her wardrobe. The lovely white rayon crepe blouse in the center is the perfect addition to HER wardrobe. With long, tightly cuffed sleeves, it flaunts a scalloped collar across the high front neckline. Another feature is the length of the blouse and darts at the waistline.

A nylon raincoat is the piece de resistance. Just unpacked, the coat at the right has loose raglan sleeves, deep pockets, and string belt. Moreover, it is waterproof, without rubber; durable, light, strong, acid resistant, and may be washed with a damp cloth. It is packaged in a small 6 by 8 inch envelope which may be carried under arm. It is available in black or white and in large, small, and medium sizes.

Gay Potholders

BY ELLEN BRUCE

So popular have Mexican motifs become that they find their way into our kitchens as potholders. A crocheted sombrero and fan potholder set adds a gay note to a kitchen already brightened by pottery and linen from south of the border. The stitches are simple, and little time is required to make the set.

Warm Clothes to Supply Three Families Asked

[Sally Joy Brown activities are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

Mrs. M. and her three children, a boy, 13, and girls, 10 and 7, were deserted a year ago. Since that time she has worked to support her family and maintain the home, but her income, stretched to cover household needs, is inadequate for any clothing purchases. Warm apparel to combat coming wintry weather is badly needed, and the lack of it is causing her great anxiety. The name and address will be supplied upon request.

Mrs. K. is the widowed mother of 12 year old twins, a girl and a boy. The long and fatal illness of her husband left her encumbered with debt, and finally it became necessary for her to seek agency aid. In recent weeks she, too, became ill and felt keenly the lack of sufficient bedding. There are but two worn blankets for the family. Women's clothing, including warm underwear, size 36-38, and shoes, size 7½, are urgent needs which she hopes our readers will be able to supply.

Mrs. B., living on the far south side of the city, has been chronically ill for a number of years, requiring daily medication and care. Her meager resources are sufficient only for living expenses, exclusive of clothing. Because of her size it has been extremely difficult to locate apparel. She wears size 60 and clothing of all kinds will be appreciated.

Thru the Looking Glass

When the natural oils which give the skin its look of youthful suppleness begin to wane, the only thing to do is to try to replace them thru the use of good creams. After 30 a woman is likely to rail at fate when she finds her skin is beginning to fade. While no magic potion has yet been discovered to keep it eternally young, there are some good external aids to help replace the diminishing oils and keep the skin looking soft and unroughened.

One such preparation is a cream concocted of oils that soothe and soften the maturing skin. It's the result of a lot of scientific research, and many women have found it suits their needs perfectly. The cream is a deep ivory in tint, almost runny in texture, and supplies the kind of help the skin needs to keep it from looking tired and faded. Dryness is the principal enemy of the not-so-young skin, and the cream helps counter-act that condition and forestall the tiny lines and roughness which become apparant when dryness is unchecked.

The cream is to be used after the face has been thoroly cleansed and is not the type of preparation intended to be left on all night. It should be spread on in a thin film over the cleansed surface and removed from 20 to 40 minutes later, depending on the sensitivity of the skin. The woman whose skin is only mildly dry will not need to use it more than two or three times a week, but those with thin, parched skins will get best results using it daily.

You couldn't class this as an inexpensive cream, but for any one who is bothered with dry skin it can be well worth the money it costs. It's a special kind of cream with a special kind of purpose, and maybe you'll discover it's what you've been hunting for.

Children's Aid Society Benefit Goal $100,000

BY JUDITH CASS

THE woman's board of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society wasn't fooling when it named its approaching benefit dinner-dance Dec. 8 in the Drake hotel "The Victory Derby," for a series of horse races in the ballroom that night will be the principal after-dinner entertainment. The ponies will be wooden, and the jockeys will be beautiful young professional models — junior misses' size, of course—garbed in colorful racing silks and white satin breeches. There will be betting booths and a mutuel system and, as Mrs. George F. Barrett, treasurer, said yesterday in a benefit committee luncheon-meeting in the Arts club, "We hope to make lots of money—they do at race tracks."

With the announcement that the society will receive the first $75,000 of next week's charity race week at Sportsman's park, the committee feels it is well on its way toward its goal of $100,000 in proceeds from the party. The programs to be sold at the ball will total $20,000 in advertisements, Mrs. Frank Hiter, advertising chairman, expects. Competition has been so keen in getting advertisements in the past few weeks that a little derby is in progress among several women on that committee, with Mrs. Barrett, Mrs. Thomas J. Fleming, Mrs. Henry T. Roberts, Mrs. Hiter, and Mrs. Harry Winston leading the field, in that order, as of yesterday.

Mrs. Fleming spent one hectic day recently selling ads. Her adventures included getting stuck in an elevator between floors [she escaped thru the roof], getting locked into a dressing room, becoming mixed up in the front lines of a minor picketing conflict, and walking down nine floors in an elevator strike-bound building.

Other Benefit Notes

Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, chairman of decorations, reported that the best news she could offer is that she had obtained the decorations as a donation from a State st. department store. Mrs. Jacob Baur, president of the woman's board, presided at yesterday's meeting, at which Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, general chairman of the benefit; Mrs. James M. Hopkins, recording secretary, and Mrs. A. H. Patterson, file chairman, were hostesses.

To see next week's race meeting at Sportsman's Park off to a good start, Mr. McCormick, who is chairman of the society's board, and his wife will entertain at luncheon there Monday. Members of the woman's board also will be present in another large group.

Others present at yesterday's luncheon included Mrs. Patterson's daughter, Mrs. Patterson Reeve, who recently purchased a 650 acre ranch in Montana; Mrs. Waldo Logan, who said that perhaps Tallulah Bankhead would be present at the benefit to model a stunning hat which will be auctioned off that night; Mrs. Robert H. Morse Jr., who announced a diamond studded gold horseshoe shaped ring as another item to be auctioned, and Mrs. Aldis J. Browne Jr., who, with her committee, has finished addressing by hand the 2,200 invitations to the benefit, which will be in the mails Monday. The society has been caring for dependent children in the state of Illinois for 62 years.

Today's Events

The Saddle and Cycle club will be the "after 5:30 p. m." destination today of many Chicagoans and suburbanites, as the Kenilworth center of the Infant Welfare society will give one of its gay cocktail parties there, with young women who have been center members for less than a year in charge, under the direction of Mrs. Willard D. Cunningham. The Quentin Hallburgs, the John P. Corleys, and the Tyson Poppells will take their guests on to dinner later in the Edgewater Beach hotel.

Robert L. Glanz, who just has returned from Italy after four years in the army, and Mrs. Glanz will entertain at dinner later in the Congress hotel. In the Robert Walrath

Favorite Black and White Still Is Fashion News

BY REA SEEGER

The sharp contrast of black and white is best illustrated this winter in fabric coats. All black and winter white coats are most popular, and all kinds of contrasts of black and white are a smart third choice. These coats are outstanding because of the dramatic white contrast achieved with such furs as smooth, silky white caracul or more dress parade ermine.

These furs are used for small or large collars, for narrow or wide cuffs, and some very stunning models have flattering, wide, full length tuxedo collars while others have yokes. The fine fabrics are of the softest and warmest winter woolens, with textures that range from the suede-like to soft, fuzzy fleece.

All white or the famous winter white coats are also made of the famous label woolens, such as Stroock, Forstmann, and others. The fleece is amazingly soft and thick, but of featherweight. The shade or tint is the effective off-white, slightly ivory, and in others a pale beige cast. It's a white with no resemblance to the dazzling sugar whites of summer. Such coats assure dramatic foil for dresses and suits in all colors.

Short flaring models are still high fashion, the cinched-in-at-the-waist-with-a-belt coats are long, reaching the hem of the dress, and there are many winter white coats with a dressmaker look, with insets, scroll appliqued bands, and waistlines defined with a carefully set-in belt to match the appliqued bands used along shoulders, yoke, or sleeves. Fur trimmed winter white coats are most distinctive because dark furs are used. Silver fox cuffs on one model make the most of such a contrast, equal to the effect of other dark furs used in other coats of the same winter white.

Movie 'Duffy's Tavern' Full of Stars and Fun

"DUFFY'S TAVERN"

By Mae Tinée

You definitely meet the elite [of the Paramount lot] in "Duffy's Tavern," and, as you can see by the cast, that's quite a number of people for one movie.

That male Malaprop, Archie, heads the list, and Mr. Gardner is very presentable and faintly resembles Randolph Scott. He does a nice job of mauling the language, stalling off Duffy and his daughter, and handling a fairly awkward plot.

This time his trouble arises when he hires a lot of his old pals—returned service men—as waiters in Duffy's absence. They're quite content to eat free until one Murphy comes along. He accuses their former employer, Victor Moore, who owns a record factory, of stalling in the reopening of his business, and it's quite true—seems he could get shellac but he's spent all his shellac money on the ponies—and his innocent daughter and he have to sponge their food and champagne from Archie.

Being weak for Miss O'Malley, the tavern manager goes along, but daughter meets Murphy—and love is in bloom, to the tune of B. Crosby, in the deserted factory. To get the necessary money, Archie throws a block party—the excuse for turns by all the Paramount stars, apparently brought there by Betty Hutton, whom Archie and O'Malley meet in the best slapstick fashion.

Victor Moore provides some of his usual expert comedy; Miss Hutton and Cass Daley perform in almost terrifyingly exuberant, if likable, style; Eddie Bracken draws a lot of laughs as the anemic double who takes a beating for a husky western star, and Crosby, Lamour, Tufts, Hutton, and Daley join in a rollicking number, a take-off on "Swinging on a Star," which is tuneful and nonchalant.

Even the Crosby kids are in and do a nice bit, with old Uncle Robert Benchley as narrator of their daddy's colorful life history—all flip and funny.

While all this is going on, Murphy and pals are turning out records like mad in order to get money to reimburse Duffy, who by this time has the law after Archie, and don't ask me where the shellac came from . . . I dunno.

"Duffy's Tavern" is crowded to the rafters, and the plot foundation is definitely shaky, but you can't say you don't get your money's worth of celebrities.

◆

Produced by R. K. O.-Radio, directed by Gordon Douglas, featuring Tom Neal, Barbara Hale, Marc Cramer, Michael St. Angel, Keye Luke, Richard Loo, Clarence Lung, Leonard Strong, Keye Chang, and Benson Fong. Presented at the Woods.

What would Hollywood do without Richard Loo to play Japanese devils? Every movie I've seen about the nasty Nips [and that's quite a few] features him as one of the chief sinister, smiling fiends in human form, and here he is again. This trip he's Col. Okanura, a wiley American educated Jap who all but catches up with the first Yank to enter Tokyo.

Why and how Maj. Ross allows himself to be disfigured to look like one of the enemy and how he gets into their headquarters in order to communicate with an American scientist who has all the dope on the atomic bomb is a long story which will frequently test your credulity. It is well acted, however, with Tom Neal, Barbara Hale, and Marc Cramer in the leading roles, and has occasional tense and timely bits. On the whole, the plot offers numerous handicaps, tho, and even after the plastic surgeon got thru with Maj. Ross, he still didn't look like a Jap to me; he just looked funny.

Chocolate Gingersnap Pie

(Other recipes, menus, and food suggestions and news will be found on page 27)

1½ cups crushed gingersnaps
⅓ cup butter, melted
1 tablespoon plain gelatin
2 tablespoons cold water
2 cups milk
½ cup sugar
1⅓ tablespoons cornstarch
4 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1½ squares bitter chocolate, melted
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 egg whites
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
½ cup sugar
2 teaspoons rum extract
1 cup cream, whipped
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup grated sweet chocolate

Combine gingersnap crumbs and butter and press into a deep 9-inch pie plate. Bake in a moderately slow oven [325 degrees] for 10 minutes. Soak gelatin in cold water. Scald milk in double boiler and add ½ cup sugar mixed with cornstarch. Cook until slightly thickened; add small amount to egg yolks, stirring constantly, then return to milk mixture. To 1 cup of custard add chocolate and vanilla. Cool and pour into crust. To remainder of custard add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Beat egg whites until stiff; add cream of tartar and sugar gradually. When custard mixture is cool, fold in egg whites and rum extract and pour over chocolate filling. Top with whipped cream to which 2 tablespoons sugar have been added. Sprinkle grated chocolate on top. Chill for several hours or until firm. Makes one 9-inch pie.

Small Mistakes

Robert Ray Aurner, in "Effective Business Correspondence" says that "a small mistake in an office may become a giant mistake a thousand miles away."

As an example of needless national waste—"a dramatic symbol of slovenliness"—Prof. Aurner offers these figures from the United States dead letter office:

A total of 22,685,940 letters went to the dead letter office and its branches during a recent fiscal year;

511,687 parcels went to the dead parcel postoffice, of which about half were wrongly addressed and about half carelessly wrapped;

100,000 letters are mailed annually in perfectly blank envelopes, and 30 per cent of these blank-envelope letters contain enclosures of money, checks, or valuable papers;

$105,000 in various forms was found in letters sent to the dead letter office;

$31,000 in postage stamps was removed from letters that couldn't be delivered to the addressees or returned to the senders;

$5,286,000 in checks, drafts, and money orders never reached the intended owners;

$1,740,000 is spent by the postoffice department to look up addresses on misdirected mail.

"Every man knows accurately at least his own address. He should use it on every piece of outgoing mail for which he is responsible," concludes Prof. Aurner.

Kapell's Rachmaninoff Third Is Peak of Chicago Symphony Orchestra's Concert

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Desire Defauw, conductor; William Kapell, pianist. Presented in Orchestra hall Thursday evening, Nov. 8, 1945, and scheduled for repetition Friday afternoon. The program:
Overture and Ballet Music, from "Rosamunde" .... Schubert
Scenes de Ballet.......... Stravinsky
[First performance in Chicago]
Dance of the Seven Veils, from "Salome" .... Strauss
Concerto for Piano, No. 3, D minor.. .... Rachmaninoff

Seventeen years ago a 23 year old Russian pianist walked out on the stage of Orchestra hall and played Rachmaninoff's Third Concerto with Frederick Stock and the Chicago Symphony orchestra. His name was new to us then, but no one had to be told twice that it was Vladimir Horowitz. Last night a 23 year old American played that same concerto under the direction of Désiré Defauw, and while I won't say history repeated itself, at least it stirred some reminiscent echoes. For the soloist was William Kapell, who has taken seven league strides since he was here last season.

The Third Rachmaninoff is a tough nut to crack. In all the years that I have heard it played, exactly two people, Horowitz and the great Rachmaninoff himself, did it full justice. It is fantastically difficult, so that you would suspect only a pianistic machine could handle it, yet it will have no part of such a machine, being a turbulent affair with a temperamental Russian soul. It demands almost incredible precision, fabulous technique, breadth of style, and an instinctive warmth of nature. Most people are far wiser to let it strictly alone.

So that Mr. Kapell went about nine-tenths of the way seems to me nothing short of a triumph. He has beautiful hands that come to life on the keys, and they flow in superbly expressive phrases. He has lyricism and brilliance and at times he can fling a heady phrase from crackling fingers. He did not achieve all the concerto's stature, either in incisive authority or breadth of singing line, but I would not say these things are beyond his reach, merely that as yet he has not reached them.

He would have been vastly helped by a less amiable and more authoritative accompaniment, for the orchestra gave him no crest of surging splendor on which to ride to fame. It went along with him nicely and the slow movement was rather like a voluminous pillow for the piano to rest on, but what that concerto needs is what we polite people call intestinal fortitude.

◆

Mr. Defauw preceded the soloist with ballet music, including the first Chicago performance of Stravinsky's "Scenes de Ballet," the score written for "Seven Lively Arts." As Stravinsky plays it, it is like dry wine with romantic overtunes, a crisp and charming work often reminiscent of "Petrouchka," tho more finely drawn. Mr. Defauw's performance was best when it, too, clung to astringency touched off by mellow violas in a decorous dance. The concert also held the overture and ballet music from Schubert's "Rosamunde," the ballet music sounding almost as insipid as sugared water tastes. And Strauss' "Dance of the Seven Veils" had a romantic performance indeed. That violently macabre score sounded as if decadent Salomé were dancing prettily in the Vienna woods.

Note

Bruno Walter's superb concert with the Chicago Symphony orchestra last Sunday added a net of $6,534.68 to the pension fund, a sum less than half the $13,500 taken in by a similar concert conducted by Arturo Toscanini in 1941, at slightly lower prices. Unfortunately, many Chicagoans believed that the sale of tickets was limited to subscribers and sustaining members, a misunderstanding that permitted more than 300 lucky service men and women to attend an unforgettable concert.

Food Rationing to Stay; More Sent to Europe

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8 (AP)—There's little hope that sugar rationing will end before 1947, Agriculture Secretary Anderson said today.

Rationing of butter, margarine, lard, and shortening may have to continue into the spring, and possibly summer, of 1946, he added, but meat may go off the ration list early in 1946.

Anderson gave this picture at a news conference at which he announced the United States has allocated liberated areas of Europe and French North Africa 50 per cent more food for the October-December quarter than in the previous quarter.

The allocation totaled nearly 4 million tons from a fourth quarter supply of 37 million tons.

More than 75 per cent of the food assigned to the liberated areas and North Africa is wheat and flour. In the case of meats, these foreign areas will get 347,000 tons, compared with 2,473,000 tons for American civilians.

Anderson said the quantities of food being made available to Europe will "substantially meet stated requests, except for sugar, fats and oils, canned fish, and rice."

The secretary was less optimistic with regard to domestic supplies of sugar and fats and oils than he was several weeks ago. At that time he expressed the hope that fats and oils could be taken off the ration list by the first of the year and that the sugar situation would be eased by next spring.

His optimism on sugar was based largely upon the reported discovery of 1,600,000 tons of sugar in Java after its capture from the Japanese and upon expectations that the Philippines would soon be able to resume exports.

But civil strife in Java and other Netherland East Indies islands has prevented the movement of sugar from that area, he said today. Latest reports indicate, he said, that the Philippines may not be able to export sugar for another 18 months.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 spade	2 diamonds
4 spades	Pass	6 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead, king of diamonds.

The ability to count out a hand is a talent that most players seem to identify only with the declarer. As a matter of fact, it is just as important in the defense of a contract and the opportunity for its exercise is afforded to either side with equal frequency. The East player of today's hand by taking time out at the critical stage of the play, to count the adverse cards, was able to make a very thoughtful play to defeat an overly ambitious slam contract.

The bidding is recorded as it actually took place. While it does not carry our stamp of approval, it nevertheless is not very far out of line. Most players with the North hand would have opened the bidding with one club, to allow partner the opportunity, should he so desire, to make a one over one response. There is a distinct objection to opening with one spade, when holding such a preponderance of high cards, since it may make it difficult for partner to respond with a weak hand.

South's jump to four spades, even in light of his previous pass, is open to some question. He did not contemplate that his partner might take further action and was willing to gamble it out for a game on the strength of his favorable distribution. North's leap to a slam was based upon the belief that partner had a great many spades and also probably about a trick and a half in high cards, which would most likely show up in the club suit.

The king of diamonds was opened and the disappointing dummy spread. The trick was taken by declarer and the remaining diamond ruffed in dummy. Trumps were drawn in two rounds and the four heart tricks cashed, North discarding the deuce of clubs. A low club was then led from dummy and the 10 played by declarer. Had East taken this trick, declarer would have been "home," since a diamond continuation would permit declarer to ruff in dummy and discard a losing club, and a club return would permit West's queen to be trapped. Declarer is known to have had four spades, three hearts, only two diamonds [since if he had any more diamonds he would have ruffed them out before making the club play]; he therefore had originally four clubs and there was no need to take the trick with the ace.

There was nothing declarer could do to prevent the loss of two club tricks. The same situation would develop if the jack of clubs had been led from dummy. West would cover with the queen, North the king, and East would duck as before.

The usual Saturday quiz will appear tomorrow.

APPLE IGLOOS

6 medium apples
2 tablespoons chopped nuts
2 tablespoons raisins
⅓ cup light molasses
¾ cup water
1½ cups Ceresota Enriched Flour
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup Nucoa or shortening
3 tablespoons cold water

(1) Wash, core apples and peel ½-inch wide strip from around middle of each. (2) Fill each center with nuts, raisins, and 1 teaspoon molasses. (3) Bake in hot oven (400°F.) 15 to 20 minutes or until apples begin to soften. (4) Meantime, sift and measure flour, resift with nutmeg and salt. (5) Cut in Nucoa until coarse crumbs are formed. (6) Add water and stir lightly with fork—mixture will be crumbly. (7) Turn out on to floured cloth and roll with floured, covered rolling pin. (8) Place hand under cloth and turn crumbs from edges on to center. (9) Roll again to about ⅛-inch thick. (10) Cut in circles large enough to cover top halves of apples. (11) Cut small hole in center of circle. (12) Place over apple and continue baking 15 to 20 minutes or until apples are done. (13) Add a little more water to juice in pan if syrup becomes too thick. Yield: 6 servings.

Does Your Child Have As Good Care As Dick?

Right from the start, Dick's mother has made sure that her son was getting plenty of sunshine, and a diet adequate in bone-building minerals. Dick's legs will be as strong and straight, and his teeth as sound, as sufficient calcium can make them.

Will your child have these assets? Although even sufficient calcium cannot correct bowed legs after a child is three, an adequate supply is important right through life to keep bones sturdy and help the child look his best. That's one of the main reasons why doctors advise that children get plenty of milk...the best food source of calcium.

However, as children grow older, they are often reluctant to drink all the milk they should have.

That's where Cocomalt can prove invaluable. For not only does Cocomalt give milk a delicious chocolaty flavor that children love, but it is so rich in calcium it makes 3 glasses of milk equal to a whole quart in calcium value.* (Also ensures the day's entire minimum requirements for iron, phosphorus, Vitamin B_1 and D.)

Start your children on Cocomalt today. Save this as a reminder to order from your grocer.

Try Cranberry Pie or Pudding to Vary Menu

BY MARY MEADE

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune]

Lucky for us, cranberries are so plentiful this year, for their ruby red color and tangy flavor will bring lots of cheer to our meals. We can use them now to dress up our pre-holiday dinners and make cranberry relish for use later in the year.

Unstrained cranberry sauce is a favorite among homemakers as a meat accompaniment, but more adventurous cooks may prefer to serve the fresh berries in a new guise. A frothy chiffon pie, hearty pudding, or simple sherbet dessert will do much toward perking up lagging menus.

To make a basic cranberry sauce, boil 2 cups sugar and 2 cups water five minutes, add 4 cups berries, and boil without stirring until the skins pop open, about five minutes. Remove from heat and cool.

Cranberry Chiffon Pie

[One 8 inch pie]

2 cups raw cranberries
½ cup water
3 eggs, separated
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon plain gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Baked pie shell
½ cup cream, whipped

Cook cranberries in water until all skins pop open. Put thru sieve and add to egg yolks beaten together with half the sugar. Cook over hot water until thickened. Add gelatin, softened in cold water, and lemon juice. Cool. Whip egg whites stiff with remaining half cup of sugar and fold into cranberry mixture. Pour into baked pie shell and chill until firm. Spread with whipped cream just before serving.

Baked Cranberry Pudding

[Serves six to eight]

¼ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
1 egg
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ cups cranberries
½ cup milk

Cream shortening and sugar, add egg, and stir until well blended. Sift dry ingredients together and add cranberries. Add cranberry mixture alternately with milk to first mixture. Bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees] for 35 to 40 minutes. Serve with a brown sugar sauce.

Brown Sugar Sauce—Combine 1 cup brown sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 1 cup water, and 1 tablespoon butter. Cook, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened. Remove from heat and add vanilla. Serve warm.

Simple Cranberry Sherbet

[Serves six]

2 cups cranberries
1 cup hot water
½ teaspoon plain gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 cup sugar
1 cup ginger ale

Cook berries in water until they pop. Press thru strainer and add gelatin, which has been softened in cold water. Add sugar and stir until dissolved. Cool and add ginger ale. Freeze in refrigerator tray to a mushy consistency. Turn into chilled bowl and beat thoroly. Return to tray and freeze firm.

Chicken Livers in Corn Ring

This well seasoned corn ring filled with chicken livers in wine sauce makes an elegant brunch dish you'll want to serve often. Complete the meal with chilled fruit juice, tossed greens salad, and thinly sliced apple cake. To prepare livers in corn ring:

Wash and dry 1 pound chicken livers, season with salt and pepper, and dip in flour. Saute 2 tablespoons of finely chopped onion in bacon drippings until almost tender, then add livers and saute until well browned. To make wine sauce, melt 2 tablespoons butter, add 2 tablespoons flour, then stir in gradually 1 cup soup stock, 3 tablespoons claret [or any red table wine], ½ tablespoon minced parsley, and salt and pepper to taste. Reheat livers in the sauce. To make corn ring, add 4 well beaten egg yolks, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, and ½ cup finely crushed crackers to 2 cups whole kernel corn. Add 1 cup cream and fold in 4 stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a greased and floured ring mold. Place in pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven [325 degrees] for half an hour or until firm. Fill with livers in wine sauce. Serves six.

Use Nuts to Replace — Rationed Cooking Fat

Most nuts are at last half fat and some are even richer. Use them in place of rationed cooking fat. In a baked mixture they tend to absorb moisture and make the food dry. Place them first in boiling water for a few minutes, then drain and use in the usual way.

Borden's Instant Coffee On Sale Today!

Not so long ago, Borden's introduced in this city a new instant coffee—without fanfare or advertising, because most of the supply was going to our boys overseas.

Almost overnight, however, this new 100% pure coffee became news to housewives. When they saw the Borden name on the label, they bought it. And when they tried it, they discovered that this instant coffee really tastes like coffee! They came back for more—told their friends about it—and so, right away, demand shot 'way ahead of supply.

Since then, our production facilities have been stepped up, and today a new shipment is on sale. More grocers will now have a limited supply. If yours doesn't—or has already sold out by the time you call—please be patient. More Borden's is on the way, and soon you'll be able to get it every time you ask for it.

The instant you taste it, you'll understand why Borden's has clicked so quickly. For Borden's has discovered a way to do for coffee what quick freezing does for garden-fresh vegetables. We take fine coffees, roast, grind and brew them right away. Then, while that steaming coffee is at its fragrant flavor peak—zing!—we take the water out and lock that roaster-freshness in.

All you do is drop a level teaspoonful (or less) in a cup and add hot water—that roaster-freshness comes right out! No grounds. No pot-washing. No wait. No waste.

IF IT'S BORDEN'S...IT'S GOT TO BE GOOD!

IMPORTANT: READ THE LABELS

There are two completely different types of instant coffee.

One is the "cafe" type, sometimes labelled coffee "product." It is a mixture of coffee and other ingredients, such as dextrins, maltose and dextrose.

The other type — represented by Borden's—is 100% pure coffee—nothing else is added.

So, to be sure of getting what you want in instant coffee, look closely at the labels before you buy.

These two types of instant coffee cost about the same per cup on your table (regardless of difference in size of jar or in price at the store).

In taste, however, there is a difference. To find out which type of instant coffee you prefer, we suggest you try both kinds.

Do Not Limit Atomic Study, Hutchins Plea

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS

Chancellor Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago, in his annual report on the university, asked for federal support of scientific research and education and called for free exchange of information and unrestricted investigation of atomic energy. He declared the atomic bomb to be "no secret."

Altho giving general approval to the report of Dr. Vannevar Bush of the federal office of scientific research for federal aid in scientific areas, Chancellor Hutchins asserted that "progress in social science, the humanities, and law is quite as important to the peace and prosperity of the world as the maintenance of natural science."

The Bush report was cited as advocating scientific research in all colleges and universities, and as urging scholarships for fellowships in scientific studies distributed in proportion to high school populations. Chancellor Hutchins criticized the former proposal as "extravagant and ineffective," and said it would "seek to create and support research interests in institutions where none exists."

The state high school population basis of selection of boys and girls for federal scholarship aid, Chancellor Hutchins said, would not succeed in discovering the ablest students. Those chosen for federal aid must be selected without regard to "the accident of location" on a nationwide competitive examination method, he contended.

Such a system, which would permit superior students "to study the subjects of their choice at the institution of their choice," would be "a simple, inexpensive, and democratic method of raising the intellectual level of the country," he said. Chancellor Hutchins explained that states where few students succeeded in winning federal awards would be forced to improve their school systems.

He warned that the university's relations with government and industry must not force the university into the "exclusive study of the applications of atomic energy."

Eleanor Club Program

Powells' party will be their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. White of Silver Spring, Md. The William T. Reeds and the Gordon Ewings are others who will entertain at the party, which will include cocktail music by a favorite pianist and a mystery contest for men only.

One of the largest parties for the Woman's Symphony orchestra concert tonight in Orchestra hall will be assembled by Mrs. Gust T. Drake, who will take 32 guests to dinner before the program. Heniot Levy will be the special guest in Mrs. Randolph Bohrer's box, and Mr. and Mrs. James G. Shakman and Mr. and Mrs. H. Comer Winter will share another box. Mrs. Jack V. Spachner, president of the symphony board, will be unescorted, as her husband is in South America. Jerzy Bojanowski will conduct the orchestra.

Dartmouth night, which is observed each November by gatherings wherever alumni of the college are located, will be celebrated tonight by the Dartmouth Alumni association of Chicago with a cocktail party from 5 to 7 p. m. in the University club. Kenneth H. Thomas is in charge of entertainment for the gathering.

During the five final performances of the Chicago Horse show tonight, tomorrow afternoon and evening, and Sunday afternoon and evening, patrons will be able to enjoy refreshments once more in the Tack room. The barroom in the Coliseum that attracted so many of last year's horse show fans was reopened Wednesday night, on a smaller and cozier scale.

Special guests at a tea which the American Women's Voluntary services will give from 4 to 7 p. m. today in the Hotel Sherman will be volunteers who have contributed their time to the organization's war work in the last three years. Mrs. Lawrence Stern has planned the party, which will be held in the Louis XVI. room.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 8—I'm so happy Alan Ladd and Paramount have called off their battle. I knew they would as soon as they got to know each other's viewpoint. Peace—it's wonderful! . . . Charley Bickford sure has changed since he played a priest. Why, he used to fight at the drop of a hat. Now he picks the hat up and says, "I'm sorry, sir." . . . Ben Bogeaus would like Col. Phillip Cochran for an important part in "Katie for Congress." Most people would just like Col. Phillip Cochran period. . . . When Barbara Stanwyck completed an emotional scene in "Love Lies Bleeding," Van Heflin remarked, "That was great!" She came back with, "Haven't you heard? I'm known as the Bette Davis of Melrose av."

A Birthday to Be Remembered

Loretta Young gave her 10 year old daughter, Judy, a birthday luncheon at the studio. It was Judy's first visit on any set. Believe me, she'll never forget it. She's a sweet kid. Everybody made a big fuss, there was a cake with 10 candles, and Orson Welles waited on her. . . . If Orson and Eddie Robinson get thru "The Stranger" with whole skins, it will be a miracle. Strange that two guys with such similar political viewpoints should be so far apart in their acting ideas. But it must be pretty tough for the "Little Caesar" to take direction from the "Little Genius." . . . Sid Skolsky is our weepingest producer. While listening to the Mitchell boys' choir sing "Ave Maria" for "The Life of Al Jolson," the flood gates opened and they could have washed up the stage with his tears. It wouldn't have done the stage any harm, either.

Nice Blending in This Team

The fans are going to go for Rita Hayworth and Glenn Ford as a new romantic team. They're better looking together than French postcards. . . . There'll be a scattering of the clans when "Gilda" is finished. The Charles Vidors will take off for parts unknown; the Glenn Fords will be Mexico bound; Rita Hayworth and husband Orson Welles will go the same way. So they'd better get the retakes in the can before the company's dismissed. . . . David Niven cabled from London: "It's a boy—nine pounds." . . . From present indications, it won't be long now before pretty Ann Gillis becomes the wife of cowboy Tim Tyler. Carol Thurston and Col. David Thayer also are on the verge. . . . Smoky is a fair weather horse. Fred MacMurray has to kiss him good-by, and the white spot between Smoky's eyes had to be covered with mascara. But when the rains came, that mascara came right off on MacMurray's puss.

They're Never Too Old

Charles Mendl started it [acting at his age in "Notorious"]; now Mervy Leroy has persuaded Clifton Webb's mother, Mabel, to act in "Thank God, I'll Take It from Here." They could change that to "Mabel, she's taken it from there since she was born." She asked me if I thought she should do it, and I said, "Why not? You've been acting for years—you might as well get paid for it." . . . First thing Harry James did after buying a ranch was to get a wardrobe to go with it. He's the strikingest lookin' rancher for miles around. . . . Phil Rapp should worry over Milton Berle's loud mouth, since he's taken over "Spring in Brazil" and made it his own—with a little help from the late De Wolfe Hopper. Milton's revived some of Wolfie's gags, which were old when I was young. He hasn't dared tackle "Casey" yet. But Rapp should worry. Sam Goldwyn wants him to do an original story for Danny Kaye's next.

A Word for Helpful Hams

Nice to hear newcomer Barbara Hale, who's playing opposite Bob Young in "Lady Luck," tell about the kindness of Bob, Frank Morgan, and Jimmy Gleason. Barbara said it was pretty frightening to work with such veteran actors, but if she'd been born into their own families, they couldn't have been more helpful. When the Youngs' baby arrived, it came on the day they had their biggest crowd of extras—more than 100. Bob bought cigars for the lot. . . . Bessie Lasky is in New York with another exhibition of her paintings. She's also about to bring out a new book—"Path of Vision." . . . Only change in the Cecil B. De Mille-Capt. Jesse Lasky Jr. combination since they're back together again, is that Jesse came out of the war wearing the Purple Heart. . . . Richard Whorf is on his way home from France, and is still beggin' Metro to let him act instead of direct.

John B. Powell to Speak to Journalism Sorority

John B. Powell, editor of the China Weekly Review, will speak tonight in Thorne hall, Superior st. and Lake Shore dr., under joint auspices of Theta Sigma Phi, women's honorary journalism sorority, and Northwestern university's Medill school of journalism. During two years' hospitalization following his return to this country from a Japanese prison, Mr. Powell wrote his latest book, "My 25 Years in China," which is to be released soon by his publishers.

Two D. A. R. Committees to Hear Rep. Vander Vries

The Americanism and national defense committees of 4th division of the Daughters of the American Revolution will meet in joint session at 10 a. m. today in Carson Pirie Scott's tearoom. Rep. Bernice Van der Vries of Winnetka [R., 7] will speak before the women on "Benefits for Veterans."

WHERE WONDERFUL WISHES COME TRUE!

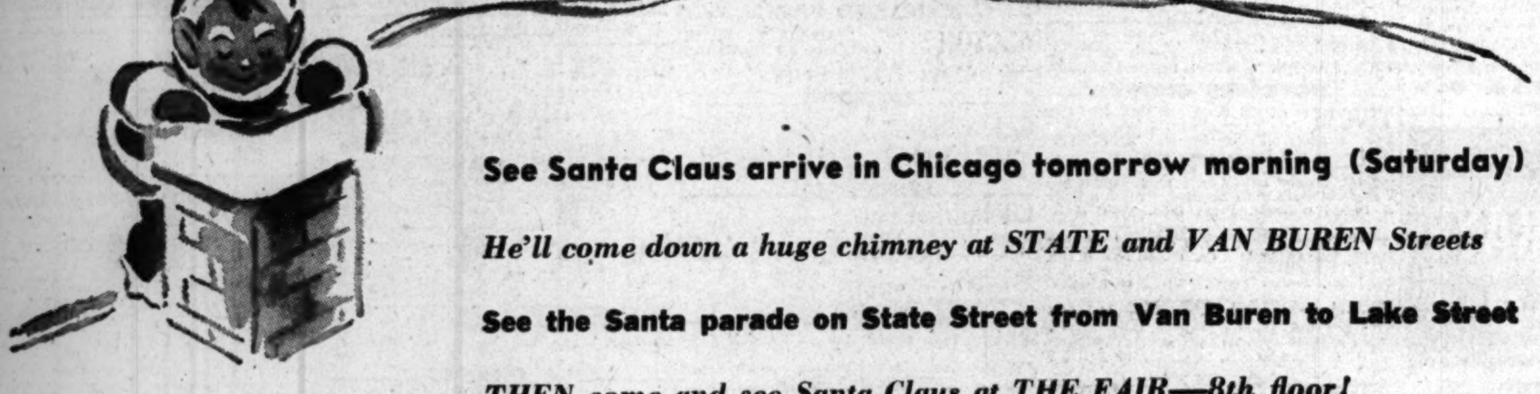
The FAIR
Chicago ★ Oak Park

COME ON DOWN—OUR TOY FAIR'S TINGLING WITH EXCITEMENT!
RIDE THE MINIATURE TRAIN! SEE THE WONDERFUL TOYS!

Santa Claus is coming to town tomorrow—and he's setting up headquarters here at The FAIR! So bring the youngsters in to see him—he's ready and willing to lend an attentive ear to the wonderful wishes of your little boys and girls. Let the little ones ride the B&O Capitol Limited miniature train that rumbles along a new scenic trail (5c a ride). And for a memento, have their pictures taken with Santa and his reindeer—6 postcard photos for 90c!

Seasoned shoppers acclaim our self-service selection of toys, games and dolls, as the simplest and fastest way they've ever shopped! See the long, wide aisles of orderly toys displayed so you can examine and choose them yourself (no crowding, pushing or shoving)! Merchandise is clearly priced and marked for correct age groups . . . and fresh new stock is there for you. Purchases are then quickly taken to clearly marked purchase desks where toys are paid for or charged—then wrapped in a hurry! So shop here with the children — where it's easiest, most fun!

TOY FAIR—Eighth Floor, Also Oak Park



See Santa Claus arrive in Chicago tomorrow morning (Saturday) at 10 o'clock

He'll come down a huge chimney at STATE and VAN BUREN Streets

See the Santa parade on State Street from Van Buren to Lake Street

THEN come and see Santa Claus at THE FAIR—8th floor!

Pet Peeves

To be typing merrily on the second page of a letter and congratulating myself on the absence of errors, then discover at the end—"Carbon copies, please!"—C. J. A. of Chesterton.

* *

Crowding the Hero Pench

When my friend told me he had made the Wake, I didn't act one bit envious. I nonchalantly asked, "You did? Who died?" —Connie

* *

Jest in Passing

There must be a lot of intelligence in the labor department in Washington—they haven't used any up to now.—Sarbee from Gawgia

* *

Famous Last Words

What if I don't look like Ray Milland, I'm kind to you ain't I?—Ray Cvikota.

You have no one to blame but yourself.—Guy of Glen Ellyn.

* *

Add Similes

As frequent as revolutions in South America.—Willy, the Clerk's Son.

As speculative as a teacher's first look at her new class.—Bernadette, the Miller's Wife.

Signs of World Peace

The Cavanaughs and the O'Briens are forming an alliance,
They're burying the hatchet, but the rolling pin is still
Where one of them can reach it should the other show defiance,
It's just domestic battle now without intent to kill.

The Cavanaughs and the O'Briens have had a change of heart,
They're going to the altar to be welded man and wife,
They've promised that till death shall come and sever them apart
They'll give up the amenities of the shillalah strife.

The Cavanaughs and the O'Briens have promised to be one
And yet it's hard to feature them in such tranquillity,
If one should want a daughter, sure the other'll want a son,
It's almost sure as taxes that they'll never quite agree.

But if they live in amity and really keep the peace,
If every other week-end one of them is not a mourner,
If they can settle arguments without the state police,
There's hope that peace for all the world is just around the corner.

No Place to Live

In the evening paper I noticed an ad,
Along these lines compiled,
"Wanted—A small apartment for An ex-service man, wife, and child";
Some nights this 'ad' or its variant
I see a dozen times or more,
And I picture those little families,
Trudging from door to door

Trying to find a place to abide
In the land of the safe and the free,
Rendered that way by the years so gray
When they battled for you and for me;
It must seem a little bewildering,
Giving all that he had to give,
When a service man brave in the land he has saved
Finds he has no place to live!

PITT STUDENTS SEEK OUSTING OF SHAUGHNESSY

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 8 (AP)—Disgruntled University of Pittsburgh students said today they are circulating a petition asking for a new deal in football starting with a new coach to replace the veteran Clark Shaughnessy.

"We haven't had a good football team at Pitt since Jock Sutherland left," the petition asserted. Its sponsors, who declined to identify themselves, said 500 students had signed the paper and it would be presented to Chancellor Rufus H. Fitzgerald when 2,000 names are secured.

Shaughnessy said the petition was sponsored by troublemakers.

The Panthers have won two games and lost five this season.

SNOW MENACE TO HOOSIERS IN GOPHER GAME

Minneapolis Is Hit by Cold Wave

BY WILFRID SMITH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 8—The temperature tumbled more than 20 degrees to the freezing mark today and by noon a flurry of snow edged the gridiron where Saturday undefeated Indiana university will battle Minnesota in defense of its undisputed leadership of the Western conference football race. The forecast for the Hoosiers' arrival tomorrow is much colder, altho continuation of snow is not indicated.

These conditions are vitally important to the invaders, for Indiana's ball carrying sprinters, George Taliaferro and Mel Groomes, as well as Ben Raimondi, forward passing artist, presumably will be more efficient on a dry gridiron. While the Hoosiers can retain their leadership by tying the twice defeated Gophers, victory is desired if only because this is the finest opportunity Indiana ever has had to win a conference championship. Of all conference members, Indiana alone has failed to gain a title.

Three Regulars Ailing

Snow continued during the afternoon, and when the Gophers held their practice, the uncovered gridiron in Memorial stadium was a sheet of white. The Gophers had more to consider than playing conditions, however, for Coach Bernie Bierman and his aids are concerned over the physical condition of three regulars, Tackle Larry Olsonoski, Full Back Vic Kulbitski, and Center Dick Van Dusen.

Olsonoski is expected to be recovered from a light influenza attack by Saturday. Kulbitski was back in uniform after receiving treatment for a bruised cheek and a black eye, while Van Dusen still favors an injured shoulder.

This will be Van Dusen's last game before he reports to the navy.

Minnesota Dangerous

No Bierman coach team ever has lost three games in succession. This is an interesting note with less bearing on Saturday's result, however, than the Gophers' convincing performance against Northwestern prior to defeat by Ohio State. The Gophers soundly trounced the Wildcats, who last week were beaten only 16 to 14 by Ohio State, and Minnesota was not outplayed by the Buckeyes until after the now famous Buckeye goal line stand when Minnesota could not break a 7 to 7 tie with the benefit of five plays from the 4 yard line.

For three periods at Michigan there was no great margin of difference between the Gophers and Wolverines, altho Michigan then hammered over three touchdowns. These facts are related merely in support of an assumption that while Indiana may whip Minnesota, it will require maximum effort.

What Minnesota needs most—we are reporting observations of the coaching staff—is desire to play its hardest when the going is the most rugged. Forty-five thousand will see Saturday's contest.

HOOSIERS STOP IN CHICAGO

Indiana university's surprising Hoosiers, who hope that their travels will end in the winning of their first Western conference football championship, spent last night in the Stevens hotel and will continue their journey to Minneapolis this morning. Coach Alvin [Bo] McMillin led 34 athletes into the city. The Indiana squad:

WEST POINTERS PUT ON PRE-WAR FOOTBALL RALLY

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP)—For the first time since Pearl Harbor the West Point Cadets were permitted tonight to unbend and generally raise the roof in the time honored prelude to the Notre Dame game.

Cimaxing the night's program was the annual pre-game rally in the mess hall, with some 2,500 Cadets, old grads, and guests telling the players what they would be expected to do on Saturday.

76,000 AWAIT ARMY-NOTRE DAME BATTLE IN NEW YORK TOMORROW

BY ARCH WARD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Glenn Davis

New York, Nov. 8—If you happen to be the restless type person who lies awake nights wondering if this is the greatest football team in West Point's history, you are promised mental contentment before night comes down Saturday.

Army's all-victorious eleven, whose winning streak has stretched to 16 games, will meet undefeated but once tied Notre Dame before a capacity crowd in Yankee stadium. Despite the best efforts of the publicity departments at both schools to keep the affair a secret, word of the contest has leaked out and 325,000 have applied for the stadium's 76,000 seats.

Michigan Puts Up a Fight

Army has whipped every foe athwart its path with ridiculous ease except Michigan, and the Wolverines, one of the top teams of the middle west, went down, 28 to 7. The Cadets rolled thru the Michigan line for 380 yards on ground plays alone, which gives you an idea of West Point's power.

Every one who follows football closely knows that Army's Glenn Davis is the fastest man on the gridiron this season. He was a Southern California sprint champion before he enrolled at West Point. Shorty McWilliams is almost as speedy, and Doc Blanchard, Army full back, has been stopped by no team since he became the spearhead of the Cadet attack two years ago.

Irish Short on Speed

Notre Dame hasn't the back field speed to match Army's. That was proved to the satisfaction of 82,000 who saw the Irish tie Navy in Cleveland last Saturday. Hugh Devore has developed some good backs, but they can't pull away from men like Davis and McWilliams in an open field.

However, it will take more than Army's speed to beat Notre Dame. The outcome in all probability will be decided along the scrimmage strip, where all hard fought games are won or lost. Devore's big accomplishment this season has not been the development of a Dancewicz, Brennan, or Ruggerio. It has been the improvement in the team's line play. Nobody has pushed those Irish forwards around. Illinois couldn't do it. Neither could Navy or any other opponent.

Cadets May Get Surprise

Skoglund, Mieszkowski, Roval, Walsh, Mastrangelo, Berezney, and Leonard make up a wall of flesh that may cause Army more trouble than it bargains for. Because of the spectacular performances of the cadet backs, Army's line has been given little attention in the public prints but, take it from one who has seen it in operation, that it is big, rugged, experienced, and just as smart as Notre Dame's.

While the teams go thru their last hard workouts today, Pop Knickerbocker scurries for tickets. He is sure a touchdown is easier to get than a pair of ducats for New York's annual glamor game.

IRISH SEND 37

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 8 [Special]—A Notre Dame squad of 37, led by Coach Hugh Devore, left this afternoon for Saturday's game with Army in Yankee stadium. The squad:

Ends, Skoglund, Cronin, Leonard, Opela, Clark, O'Connor, Burnett; tackles, Mieszkowski, Fischer, Berezney, Fallon, Glaab, Debueno; guards, Mastrangelo, Roval, Scott, Potter, Fay, Oracko; centers, Walsh, Grothaus, Virok; quarter backs, Dancewicz, Gasparella, Ratterman; half backs, Angsman, Brennan, Gompers, Colella, Zehler, Agnone, Slovak; full backs, Ruggerio, McGurk, Yonto, Krivik, Panelli.

LT. MIDDLECOFF WINS NORTH AND SOUTH TOURNEY

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 8 (AP)—An amateur won the North and South Open Golf tournament today for the first time in the 44 year history of the event. Lt. Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, with a 72 hole total of 280, finished five strokes ahead of Denny Shute of Akron, O.

Middlecoff received a medal and a $100 war bond prize with the top money of $1,000 going to Shute. Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., was third at 286. Five were tied for fourth at 288—Willie Goggin, White Plains, N. Y.; Toney Penna, Dayton, O.; Art Doering, Denver; Ky Lafoon, Chicago, and Herman Keiser, Akron.

Attorney to Wed; Trial of Kearns Is Delayed

New York, Nov. 8 [Special]—The trial of Jack Kearns, former manager of Jack Dempsey, on mail fraud charges, was postponed today in federal court until Dec. 10. The defense attorney, Thomas H. Casey, told Judge Francis G. Caffey he planned to get married Nov. 17.

Injury Forces Meyer Out of Badger Line

Madison, Wis., Nov. 8—[Special]—Wisconsin hopes for a football victory over Northwestern here Saturday were dealt a blow today when Coach Harry Stuhldreher announced that Martin Meyer, regular left tackle for the last two years, hereafter would do nothing more than attempt to kick points after touchdowns. Meyer suffered an injury in the Iowa game.

Rex John, returned war veteran, will take over the left tackle spot Saturday.

N. U. BANKS ON McKINLEY

Northwestern's football team went thru its last intensive practice yesterday. A light drill is scheduled for today, and the squad will leave for Wisconsin tomorrow morning, accompanied by the band and a big rooting section.

Altho he has not taken part in practice, Bob McKinley is expected to start at left half in place of injured Bruce Bairstow. McKinley has convalescing from a sprained ankle. The squad:

LUSTER RESIGNS AS OKLAHOMA'S FOOTBALL COACH

Norman, Okla., Nov. 8 (AP)—Dewey Luster, coach of the University of Oklahoma football team since 1941, tonight announced his resignation. The announcement was made first by President George L. Cross after Luster made the announcement to his players during today's practice. He gave ill health as the reason for his resignation.

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—Max Bentley, Chicago center, executed the hat trick by scoring three goals as the Blackhawks gained undisputed possession of first place in the National Hockey league race by defeating the Rangers, 5 to 4, before a capacity crowd of 15,121 in Madison Square Garden tonight. The game was the Rangers' home opener and the defeat the second dealt them by the Hawks, who opened the Chicago season with a victory over New York.

Bill Mosiewko's second goal, at 18:15 in the third period, clinched the Chicago victory.

The Hawks, who wiped out 2 to 0, 3 to 2, and 4 to 3 Ranger leads before going on to win, are to meet the Maple Leafs in Toronto Saturday night.

The Rangers gained a 2 to 0 lead in the first period on goals by Ab De Marco and Neil Colville, but Bentley broke thru to beat Charley Rayner, New York goalie, twice in the first 68 seconds of the second period.

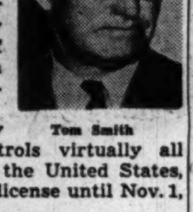
Grant Warwick, trying to pass, bounced the puck off George Allen's skate and into the Chicago net at 5:45 in the second period, but Mosienko drove in Clint Smith's rebound less than seven minutes later. Alex Shibicky was on the scoring end of a combination play which put the Rangers in front, 4 to 3, near the period's close.

The Hawks dominated the play in the third period. Mosienko assisted as Bentley drove in a 20 foot shot for his third goal, at 1:25, and then Mosienko scored again.

Double Dead Heat

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—A Jamaica race track crowd of 23,235 witnessed a double dead heat for first and third places in the featured $5,000 Helena handicap today. Pindus and Omamax, an outsider in the field of four, wound up even for first position. Oatmeal and Petrol Point followed three lengths behind in a deadlock for third.

Veteran Race Trainer Draws Ban for a Year



Tom Smith

New York, Nov. 8 (AP) — Tom Smith, trainer for the Maine Chance farm, which leads all racing stables in the nation with winnings of more than a half million dollars this year, was suspended by the Jockey club for one year today on a charge of using a drug on the horse Magnific Duel.

The Jockey club, which controls virtually all major tracks in the United States, revoked Smith's license until Nov. 1, 1946.

Two Maine Chance farm foremen, Ernest Pevler and James Shelley, were denied privileges on all tracks controled by the Jockey club for 30 days, beginning today.

Stable Not Affected

The stable itself, owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Arden Graham of the cosmetic interests bearing her name, will not be affected by the ruling in the future.

Today's action resulted from the third race at Jamaica, Nov. 1, a $3,000 six furlong test for maiden fillies which was won by the Maine Chance farm's Magnific Duel.

In their meeting here, Jockey club stewards ordered Magnific Duel's share of the purse forfeited and declared Grant Thorne's Meadow Maid the winner.

Smith a Racing Veteran

Smith, known as Silent Tom, is a racing veteran who has enjoyed many years of success. He was trainer for C. S. Howard in the late 1930s and early 1940s and handled Seabiscuit—greatest winner of them all until Whirlaway appeared — Kayak II., Mioland, and Sorteado.

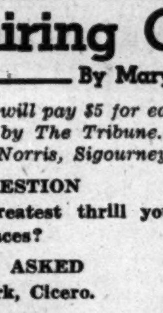
THE QUESTION

What is the greatest thrill you have had at the races?

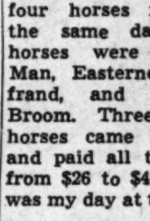
WHERE ASKED

Sportsman's Park, Cicero.

THE ANSWERS

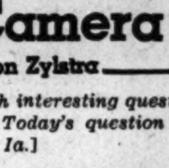


Mrs. T. L. Klaproth, horse owner, Lexington, Ky.—In Detroit, four or five years ago, I had four horses running the same day. The horses were Mystic Man, Easterner, Azafrand, and Bamber Broom. Three of the horses came in first and paid all the way from $26 to $45 on $2 tickets. That was my day at the races.

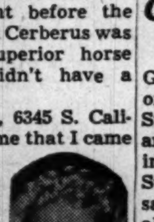


Lyle Dilger, owner and trainer, Cairo—A horse called Darby Diadem at the New Orleans race track put on the best show that I've ever seen. He was last in the back stretch by many lengths. Suddenly the horse plunged forward like a streak of lightning and won the race by about three lengths.

John Cummings, wholesale drug supplier, 5137 Washington blvd. —There were two grooms working for John Marsh, a well known horse owner. One of them had a dream and they figured it out as being the numbers 3 and 5 for the daily double. I bought the tickets for them for $1 apiece. They returned $1,435.



Christ Lund, horse owner and trainer, 4736 Altgeld st.—Last Saturday when my horse, Paducah, ran a dead heat with Clyde Trout's Cerberus was the greatest thrill I have had at the races. I thought before the race that Cerberus was a far superior horse and that Paducah didn't have a chance to win.



Patsy Lee, secretary, 6345 S. California av.—The first time that I came to this track it was a thrill to see the horses go around the track five times in the two mile race. I had a $2 bet on a horse called Master Bird and the horse came in first to win $66.80. It was a pleasant surprise and real excitement for the money.

Louis Bretz, farmer, 201 Thomas st., Gary—My greatest thrill at the race track happened the first time I went to the races. I discovered that they have the best hot dogs I've ever eaten. Even tho the horses I bet on don't always come in first, I feel that the hot dogs are worth the trip to the track.

MAYOR OFFERS SOLDIERS' FIELD AS 1946 SITE

Recall 21-All Tie Here in 1926

BY CHARLES BARTLETT

Chicago, only city outside of the east to entertain the Army-Navy football game in the long history of the series between the Cadets and the Middies, last night announced itself fit and ready to fight for transfer of the annual battle between the service academies to Soldiers' field in 1946. The only time the classic was held in Chicago was Nov. 27, 1926, when a huge throng of 110,000, braving wind and snow, thrilled to a dramatic 21 to 21 tie.

Our town entered the lists of bidders who have long felt that the game, which has been entrenched in such eastern strongholds as New York and Philadelphia, should be played in other cities, after an interview with Secretary of War Patterson was relayed to Mayor Kelly.

Patterson Favors Shift

Earlier in the day, Secretary Patterson, questioned by an Associated Press reporter in Washington, said he thought it would be a good idea to hold the Army-Navy contest in different parts of the country each year.

[Sen. Langer (R., N. D.) recently offered a resolution that the Army-Navy game be played in each of the 48 states on an alphabetical basis, starting in Alabama next year.]

"I'm in favor of it," Patterson said. "I do not see why anybody should have a monopoly."

Informed of the secretary's statement, the mayor was enthusiastic.

"That's real good news," he said. "You know, Chicago already has made preliminary requests for the game. You might say we have our foot in the door at both the war and navy departments. This is just the incentive our city needed. There is no question about Chicago being the ideal location for the game, from every standpoint. We have Soldiers' field, one of the finest stadia in the world.

Fans Would Support

"More important, we have the kind of sports fans who would gladly meet a high scale of ticket prices. It is my understanding that bringing the game here would necessitate transferring the full corps of cadets and midshipmen to Chicago also. That would mean a higher ticket price range to underwrite their expenses. We did it in 1926 and there's no reason why we can't do it again. Yes, we'll go back to work on it immediately."

Mayor Kelly, then president of the south park board, was one of the leaders in the 1926 campaign which finally wrested control of the game from the east. Seaboard fans, until then, had witnessed all of the games in the feud dating back to 1890 in such centers as New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Princeton, West Point, and Annapolis. The east, which had scoffed at the idea of moving the contest elsewhere, was surprised when officials awarded it to Chicago on Jan. 22, 1926.

Seating Setup Changed

The 110,000 which saw that game was made possible thru special seating arrangements not currently in effect. Under the present seating plan a throng of 92,750 saw last August's battle between the College All-Stars and the Green Bay Packers in Soldiers' field.

On Oct. 1, 1926, a special auction of box seats for that year's game was held in the Gold room of the Congress hotel. Five hours of bidding by leading citizens for the 430 boxes, each containing six seats, produced approximately $100,000, with an average seat revenue of $38.80.

GUILT SHARED BY ALL IN PRO CHARGES — HAGG

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Nov. 8—Gunder Hagg, commenting tonight on reports that he and 14 other Swedish track stars may lose their amateur standing as a result of an inquiry being conducted by the Sweden National Sporting union, said that if "one were kicked out, all should be kicked out. Some got more pay, some less."

Indicating his willingness to accept any such punishment as he might merit, Hagg added:

"The whole sports management should be kicked out, for this thing—professionalism—that they indict has been going on several years with their sanction. Personally, I take this business pretty quietly. Should I and some other so-called star athletes be disqualified, there still remains the possibility of running as professionals in the United States and Russia."

Cerberus Gets Top Weight in $5,000 Event

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN

Two former winners of Arlington Park's nationally important Stars and Stripes handicap have been named for the $5,000 added Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., handicap tomorrow at Sportsman's Park.

One is Clyde Trout's 7 year old, Take Wing which beat a fine field, including Marriage and Equifox, in the 1942 running of the mile and one-eighth stakes race, and the other is the Happy Hour farm's Devalue, surprise winner of the $50,000 event this year.

Cerberus Gets Top Load

Take Wing will carry 118 pounds, four less than the top assigned to Mrs. Trout's marathon runner, Cerberus, which scored a four lengths victory last Saturday in the Endurance handicap at 2 miles and 70 yards. Devalue will get in with a light impost of 109 pounds. Weights have been assigned 21 thorobreds by Racing Secretary William R. Dahlstrom.

The event will highlight six days of racing sponsored by The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., the organization which, thru the coöperation of the management of Sportsman's Park, headed by President John L. Keeshin, raised $245,000 last fall for its charity fund.

The fourth program of the meeting attracted 7,629 spectators yesterday, raising the attendance mark to 32,059. The mutuel handle was $663,042, and the four day total $2,937,630.

She Didn't Wins Feature

M. H. VanBerg, leading trainer of the meeting, scored again in the day's headlined $1,800 John W. Gavin purse as Job Jessop got She Didn't up just in time to nip Joe Kohout's Alan F at the wire. It was the Kohout colorbearer's first defeat in five starts at Sportsman's.

The daily double, worth $70.60, was accounted for by T. Angellotti's outsider, Okpal, winner of the first race, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Chaffin's Miss Joany, which returned $5.40 in the second.

HOWARD HITS ON SUCCESS SECRET AT HORSE SHOW

BY JAMES SEGRETI

Frank C. Howard, owner of the Hickory Creek farm, West McHenry, Ill., has found the winning combination leading to victories in the show ring and is enjoying a meteoric rise which has amazed horsemen now exhibiting their thorobreds in the second annual Chicago Horse show in the Coliseum.

Howard's entries continued their victory string last night before a crowd of 6,000, which included Secretary of Agriculture Anderson.

My Golden Hour Wins

My Golden Hour of the West McHenry stable became junior five-gaited champion by winning the $1,000 stake from Reverie's Bourbon of the Valley View farm, Barrington. The three-gaited title went to Willcrest Flashing Genius, entry of the Willcrest farm, Indianapolis. Howard's record for seven days of competition now stands at four first place victories, four seconds, one third, and one fourth place ribbon.

$200,000 Investment

Howard, however, didn't start from scratch. A year ago he started development of the winning stable by purchasing the finest saddle horses in the market. When Howard had finished bidding for three and five gaited horses, his pocketbook was $200,000 lighter, a figure which does not include expenditures for stables and other buildings on the West McHenry grounds. Last night's summaries:

HUNTERS [LADY RIDERS]—Won by Norwood, Don Sutherland III., Brooklyn, N. Y.; Spy Master, Mrs. R. J. Kelly Jr., Racine, Wis., second; Velveteen, Mrs. Charles F. Harding II., Prairie View, Ill., third; Our Day, W. J. Tarrant, River Forest, fourth.

FINE HARNESS HORSES—Won by Sunny Ridge Queen, H. Leslie Atlass, Wheaton, Ill.; Meadow Magic, Hickory Creek farm, West McHenry, Ill., second; Big Shot, Mrs. P. A Thomas Jr., Evanston, third; Martha Rex A., Ben R. Goltsman, Montgomery, Ala., fourth.

LADIES' HARNESS PONIES [PAIR]—Won by Glenavon Filmstar and King's Melody, Dodge stables, Rochester, Mich.; King's Peg and Modern Maid, Mrs. J. A. Smith, Hollywood, Cal., second; Little Judy and Lucifer's Lola, Emile P. Schandein, Washington, Ill., third; Glenholm Talisman and Glenholm Messenger, Argyll stables, Mount Carroll, Ill., fourth.

JUNIOR THREE GAITED SADDLE HORSES — Won by Willcrest Flashing Genius, Almarel stables, Indianapolis, Ind.; Reverie's Syncopating Sally, C. L. Fain Jr., Shelbina, Kas., second; Ace's Fairy, Mrs. P. A. Thomas Jr., Evanston, third; Bridlewreath Senorita, J. Paul Jones, Wichita, Kas., fourth.

ROADSTERS [pairs] — Won by All-American and Sir Laurel Guy, Jacob L. Bunn Jr., Springfield, Ill.; Shirley Temple and Mate, J. Ralph Peak, Winchester, Ill., second; Grand Duchess and Grand Parade, Donald Ray, Macomb, Ill., third; Smokey and Hurricane, John B. Thompson, Macomb, Ill., fourth.

FOUR IN HAND [park four] — Won by entry of The Dodge stables, Rochester, Mich; entry of Hawthorn farms, Libertyville, second; entry of Happy Way farm, Maywood, third.

JUNIOR FIVE GAITED SADDLE HORSES [$1,000 stake]—Won by My Golden Hour, Hickory Creek farm, West McHenry, Ill.; Reverie's Bourbon, Valley View farm, Barrington, Ill., second; Beloved Rogue, Mrs. George Gaber, Glenview, third; Suzanna, Temple Stephens, Moberly, Mo., fourth.

HARNESS HORSES [owners to drive]—Won by Invasion, Mrs. Loula Long Combs, Lee's Summit, Mo.; Killearn Beauty, Argyll stables, Mount Carroll, second; Wensleydale Wildfire, Hawthorn farms, Libertyville, third; Royal Mistress, Happy Way farm, Maywood, fourth.

COCHRANE NOT AVOIDING BOUT, ROBINSON SAYS

Ray [Sugar] Robinson was recalled to testify as a witness in his own defense in his attempt to escape payment of $6,200 which Fred Irvin, New York promoter, charges the welterweight boxer owes him as the attachment case went into its fifth day in Judge William V. Daly's court yesterday.

While being cross examined by Irvin's attorneys, Robinson denied Freddy [Red] Cochrane is unwilling to defend his 147 pound title against him. He also contradicted evidence that in his application for an Illinois license for his bout with Jack Lamotta in Comiskey park on Sept. 26 he had said George Gainford is his manager.

Irvin is suing Robinson for what he claims is his share of purses totaling $28,000 Ray was guaranteed for his fight with Lamotta, as well as for an earlier encounter with Jimmy Mandell in Buffalo, N. Y.

The case probably will go to the jury this afternoon.

Hickey Wins 5 Round Decision from McGavin

Tom Hickey, former Golden Gloves novice featherweight champion, defeated Tom McGavin of the Savoy Athletic club last night in the five round feature boxing event sponsored by the Madison A. C. in Eagles hall, 5247 W. Madison st.

[ADVERTISMENT]

Janiro-Greco Bout on WENR Tonight

In the feature event at New York tonight, Tony Janiro (above), the picture puncher from Youngstown, Ohio, meets Johnny Greco, the Montreal macer, in a welterweight bout scheduled to go eight rounds.

This is the rubber match between the Buckeye biffer and the Canadian clouter. In their first meeting last July, Greco won the decision. Next time up, in August, Janiro was the winner.

Tony Janiro, the boxer, and Johnny Greco, the slugger, are two of the best welters in the business. Their clash tonight promises to be one of the fastest and most bitterly fought matches of the current season.

Enjoy the excitement, blow by blow, on Gillette's Cavalcade of Sports over American Broadcasting Co. and WENR (890 on your dial) at 9 p.m.

And remember, men . . . LOOK sharp! FEEL sharp! BE sharp! Use Gillette Blue Blades with the sharpest edges ever honed. Copr. 1945 Gillette Safety Razor Co.

ALL-AMERICA, WITH 8 TEAMS, READY FOR 1946

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

New York, Nov. 8—"Full speed ahead in 1946!" is the slogan of the All-America Football conference, now that the admission of Baltimore has given the organization its full membership of eight cities.

The Baltimore co-owners are multimillionaire Industrialists R. Bruce Livie, president of the Liberty Motors Engineering corporation of Baltimore, and Edwin Nielsen, president of the Mereux Petroleum Storage company of Louisiana, whose headquarters are in New York. Nielsen also is part owner of the High Grade Oil company of Hartford, Conn., and owns wells in Mississippi, Texas, and Louisiana.

Livie and Nielsen said they would try to sign Edgar [Rip] Miller, line coach at the United States Naval academy, as head coach of the club as soon as he has completed the season with the Midshipmen. Miller was a tackle on Notre Dame's Four Horsemen eleven in 1924 and has been on the Annapolis staff for 20 years.

Sign for Big Stadium

The Baltimore owners have completed negotiations for the city's Municipal stadium, which seats 63,000.

The award of the franchise to Baltimore was announced by Commissioner James Crowley in his Empire State building office.

Here is a sketch of league organizations in addition to Baltimore:

New York—Owned by Gerald K. Smith of Street-Smith Publications, Inc., whose magazines include Pic, Charm, and Madamoiselle, and William D. Cox, president of Pilings Associates, Inc. The team will play in Ebbets field and will be coached by Lt. Comdr. Mal Stevens, former Yale and New York U. coach.

Cordavano to Coach

Buffalo—Owned by James Breuil, president of the Frontier Oil company, and Sam Cordavano, president of the Globe Construction company. The team will play in Buffalo's Municipal stadium and will be coached by Cordavano, who for many years was Lou Little's assistant at Columbia.

Cleveland—Owned by Arthur McBride, millionaire taxicab magnate, and Ray T. Miller, former mayor of Cleveland, who heads one of the city's most prominent law firms. The team will play in Cleveland's Municipal stadium and will be coached by Lt. Paul Brown of Great Lakes, formerly of Ohio State.

Chicago—Owned by John L. Keeshin, trucking magnate and president of the National Jockey club. The team will play in Soldiers' field and will be coached by Lt. Col. Dick Hanley.

Movie Figures Own Interest

Los Angeles—Owned by a corporation headed by Don Ameche and including Benjamin F. Lindheimer, executive director of Washington and Arlington parks; Dan Rice, Chicago investment broker; L. B. Mayer of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio; Leo Spitz, head of International Pictures corporation; Bing Crosby and Pat O'Brien, movie stars, and Norman Church, retired president of the Elgin Watch company. The team will play either in the Coliseum or Gilmore stadium. Its coach will not be announced until the conclusion of the current collegiate season.

San Francisco—Owned by A. J. Morabito, president of the Lumber Terminal company, and William Turre, contractor. The team will play in Kezar stadium and will be coached by Buck Shaw, formerly of Santa Clara, who this year is head coach at the University of California.

Miami—Owned by Harvey Hester, prominent sportsman, and William Bentley, Atlanta attorney. The team will play in the Orange bowl and will be coached by Lt. Comdr. Jack Meagher, formerly of Alabama Polytechnic and the Iowa Seahawks.

MICHIGAN HEADS EAST WITH HOPE OF BEATING NAVY

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 8 [Special]—The University of Michigan football team headed east tonight for the second time this year but with considerable more hope for victory than was true a month ago when the opponent was mighty Army. The Wolverines will meet Navy in Baltimore Saturday afternoon and Coach Fritz Crisler said "Don't count us out yet. If fight can win a ball game, we have a great chance to beat Navy."

The Wolverines went thru a final practice session just before leaving, with emphasis on the passing of Howard Yerges and Pete Elliott. The squad will arrive in Baltimore in time for a limbering up work out tomorrow afternoon.

When the new Van Dyck 43's were introduced about two years ago, they sold at 2 for 15¢. Today they are being re-introduced at 9¢ each.

This new price is absolutely necessary to maintain the high standards of quality and value which have always characterized Van Dyck.

Van Dyck 43's are slightly larger and longer than the famous Van Dyck 32's, and contain the same modern-taste blend that satisfies "Smoke-Hunger."

RETURNING WAR VETERANS JAM MAJOR ROSTERS

Disposition Presents an Expensive Problem

BY IRVING VAUGHAN

The big league magnates who are beginning to suspect that the players returning from service are rapidly developing into a hazard will devote three days next month to consideration of this and some items of less importance.

The American and National leagues will huddle separately in the Palmer House on Dec. 10 and 11 for their so-called annual winter meeting and on Dec. 12 all 16 of the magnates will swarm into one room for the joint session in which matters of an inter-league nature are voted upon.

Minors to Meet First.

The formal Chicago meetings follow by several days the annual minor league convention, scheduled this year for Columbus, O. and most of the major representatives will crowd in on the former, thus making it a big league trading post and at the same time making it pretty definite that there won't be much swapping done by the time the Chicago affairs get under way. Of course, the majority believes that because of the way in which players are returning, few if any of the clubs will have time to discuss trades.

At the Chicago meetings it is probable that rules devised a couple of years ago to protect players while in service will be altered so as to give clubs more leeway in spreading their excess talent among the minor leagues now existing or those which will be revived by next spring. The present regulations tie the big league clubs so tight that some of them, unless given relief, might go broke paying training expenses and salaries for two weeks, to players they cannot possibly use.

Cubs Could Start Nine Catchers

The Cubs furnish at least one indication of what almost all the clubs will be up against within a few more months. Charley Grimm's team now has seven catchers on the active list and two due to be added in the near future.

One present feature of the rules pertaining to national defense list players provides they must be retained and receive salary for a minimum of 15 days during the play season. Previously the club also could release them if they had been in a spring camp for at least 30 days.

College Football's Fighting Men

Indiana's Brown Wounded in 3 Campaigns

[This is another of a series recounting thrilliniq war experiences of athletes who have returned to midwestern colleges. Today's hero is Howard [Goon] Brown, Indiana university guard from Dayton, O.]

BY EDWARD PRELL

DURING his 11 months in the European war theater, the Germans gave Goon Brown three souvenirs which will always be a reminder of his infantry career. He was wounded that many times while participating in campaigns of the Rhine, central Germany, and France. So he came back to old Indiana with three battle stars on his E. T. O. ribbon and the Purple Heart with two clusters.

Howard Brown

He was a rifleman in the 45th division of Gen. Patch's 7th army. He'll never forget the time he was cut off from his own division in the town of Mertzweiller, Alsace-Lorraine, just before the Nazis' counter-offensive in December, 1944.

Brown's outfit reached the Moselle river at a point where a bridge crossed from France into Mertzweiller. But the Germans had blown it up before the Americans arrived and then had withdrawn beyond the town in face of the heavy Yank force.

Yanks Suffer Heavy Casualties in Nazi Counter-Attack

With the bridge out, no American tanks could get across to continue the push. A group of 250, including Brown, was sent across the river to occupy and hold Mertzweiller while the engineers started to rebuild the bridge. The Nazis then counter-attacked the town with armor and infantry. The Yanks suffered heavy casualties.

Brown and six companions took shelter in a house.

"This was the only one which wasn't blasted—and I'll never know how we escaped," he says. "We could see the Germans strutting around the town. We were afraid we would have to give up eventually, but the Jerries never searched our hiding place. We hid our rifles to keep from being killed if they found us. There we sat from 2 in the afternoon until 4 the next morning, sweating it out.

Hiding Place Miraculously Escapes Destruction in Shelling

"An hour later we heard the Americans starting an artillery barrage from across the river. We knew our buddies would be back and we got out our rifles. Then the American shells started landing dangerously close, but our house again miraculously escaped damage.

"Then the Yank planes came over and stafed the Jerries. Across the repaired bridge came a big infantry force. The Germans cleared out in a hurry. We waited until we were sure all of them were gone. After all our luck we didn't want to have it spoiled at the last minute. Only when we saw the first Yanks coming down the street did we show ourselves and join our old outfit."

[This series will be resumed in Monday's Tribune.]

BEARS' PRACTICE FOR LION GAME FIGHTS LETDOWN

BY EDWARD PRELL

The Bears are guarding against the almost inevitable letdown which follows an upset victory. Last Sunday they whipped the Green Bay Packers after having floundered in five preceding contests.

This Sunday the Bears play the Detroit Lions, to whom the T is just another letter in the alphabet. No less an authority than Curly Lambeau of the Packers has predicted that Detroit will win. Curly puts forth the argument that no team can be up two weeks in a row.

The Bears' board of strategy takes exception to that statement, which isn't surprising. The Bears probably wouldn't agree with Curly if they thought he was right—and vice versa.

Not Much of a Streak

"So Curly says the Bears can't win two straight," said Co-Coach Luke Johnsos with cutting chill, "I wonder how he thinks we have won all our championships?"

Yesterday the Bears ran thru all their T formation running plays set up for the Detroit game. Then they adjourned to the tackling dummy. On his second shot at the target Sid Luckman knocked it from his moorings, much to the delight of his associates. The dummy was completely wrecked and that phase of the drill was automatically canceled.

Doctors Bar Artoe

Lee Artoe, whose jaw was broken in the Green Bay game, left Illinois Masonic hospital yesterday and attended last night's squad meeting in Wrigley field. Artoe wanted to play Sunday, but physicians vetoed his plea. It is likely he will be fitted with a jaw protector for the game a week from Sunday in Washington against the Redskins.

War Vets Stud Illini Lineup for Iowa Duel

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 8 [Special]—A war veteran lineup headed by Stan Stasica and Gene Kwasniewski will take the field for Illinois Saturday against Iowa in the final home game of the year. Estimated attendance for the Dad's day game is 15,000.

Coach Ray Eliot said that six war veterans would start against the Hawkeyes. In addition to Half Backs Stasica and Kwasniewski, the ex-service men are Left End Bill Heiss, Left Tackle Bill Kolens, Center Mac Wenskunas, and Full Back Bill Krall.

IOWA PLANS CHICAGO DRILL

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 8 [Special]—An Iowa football squad of 33 men will leave tomorrow morning for Chicago, where it will work out on Stagg field in the afternoon before leaving for Champaign, where the Hawkeyes will play Illinois Saturday in a Western conference game. The traveling squad:

LEWIS REJECTS LABOR 'NOOSE,' BLASTS MURRAY

'Feeble' Formula Idea Assailed

BY THOMAS FURLONG

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8—Labor will not accept a new Little Steel formula, which would develop thru tieing wages to the cost of living as proposed recently by President Truman, as a basis of future wage bargaining, delegates to the national labor-management conference were told today by John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers.

Lewis assailed his former close associate, CIO President Philip Murray, asserting he was attempting to put labor's head in a noose by asking the conference to indorse the wage policy set forth by the President.

Lewis' castigation of Murray was made in a closed meeting of the conference executive committee at which Murray's resolution upholding Mr. Truman's policy was considered. Angered by Lewis' criticism, Murray defended his proposal with some heat. The argument was said to have ended with each labor leader shouting to the other, "Nuts to you!"

"Feeble and Namby-Pamby"

Receiving reporters later in his office, Lewis said he had denounced Murray's resolution as "innocuous, feeble, and namby-pamby." He said William Green, AFL president, agreed with him in opposing it.

Partly verifying reports the conference session had been rough, marked by an angry exchange between him and Murray, the UMW chief smiled, "Perhaps," when asked if there were sharp words. He would not attempt to report what the CIO leader had said to him because Murray "became so emotional and agitated."

Murray did not elaborate on the dispute. He termed his resolution largely a call for collective bargaining, which he said had bogged down in many important industries. He said such bargaining should recognize "the imperative need for wage increases."

Prefers Free Bargaining

In denouncing Murray's resolution, Lewis argued that wages should be left entirely to free bargaining of labor and management. He said the conference should not attempt to define a wage-price policy. Prices, he said, are the concern of management and are regulated by competition. He contended that employers are entitled to profits and the larger the profits, the more labor can expect to get in the long run.

The clash emphasized the split that has developed among labor delegates over the objectives of the conference.

"Our economy must be a free economy," said Lewis in rejecting "a formula which would give labor a chance to advance its wages only as the cost of a bottle of milk, a pair of shoes, or a straw hat advanced. We are opposed to the corporate state and its manifestations as incorporated in CIO's resolution."

Tho not advocating price control removal now, Lewis said he believed Mr. Truman intended to lift them at "some opportune time."

"But I'm not so sure CIO intends that," he gibed.

Aligned with Lewis

The management delegates generally are aligned with Lewis and the AFL group on the question of free collective bargaining. Management spokesmen insist that it is not the purpose of the conference to discuss wage policy but merely to develop improved procedures for bargaining that will reduce industrial warfare.

Murray's resolution was presented to the conference executive committee yesterday.

A conference spokesman said today, after the executive committee meeting had ended, that Murray was not expected to press his resolution in its present form. Murray later denied this, saying the resolution was before the committee and he had no intention of withdrawing it or rewriting it. Observers felt, however, that the resolution had no chance of adoption by the committee or the conference.

At a press conference today at the CIO headquarters Murray assailed the United States Steel corporation for its "arrogant and shocking attitude" in declining government conciliation on the wage demands of the CIO Steel Workers' union.

FCC Permits Truck Group Radio System

The American Trucking associations yesterday was granted authority by the federal communications commission to operate a 250 watt FM station in Chicago to expedite commercial trucking operations. The construction permit was issued to Highway Radio, Inc., a subsidiary. The company received permission to operate 100 transmitter equipped trucks within a 40 to 80 mile radius of Chicago.

John V. Lawrence, managing director of the associations, said the new station will be the first of its type. He predicted general use of two way radio in other states to facilitate motor frate handling.

New Message Net Planned

Another adaptation of radio for commercial use was announced by F. E. D'Humy, vice president of Western Union. He said a high frequency beam communication network covering cities between Chicago and Pittsburgh will be established. Construction work will begin by mid-1946 and the circuits are expected to be ready for operation by the end of the year. A plan already announced by the company calls for a hookup linking New York City, Washington, and Pittsburgh.

A. C. Cronkhite, general manager in Chicago, said engineering surveys to determine tower and terminal locations are under way. The radio system is expected to insure larger economy of operation and reliability of transmission. There will be no wires to go down in storms.

The company expects to eliminate thousands of miles of poles in the next seven years. The radio system permits the sending of as many as 1,080 messages simultaneously over the same beam, it said.

Towers Will Relay Beams

Towers spaced at intervals of about 30 miles will pick up the beams and relay them. They will be located on hills, mountains, or other eminences. Transmitting and receiving points in cities ordinarily will be atop tall buildings or special towers.

Western Union said no present lines will be dismantled until the beam system is in full and satisfactory operation.

ILLINOIS JOBS, PAY ROLLS CUT THRU LAYOFFS

Employment in manufacturing industries in Chicago and Illinois dropped substantially between Aug. 15 and Sept. 15, but the number of nonmanufacturing workers increased, Illinois Director of Labor Gordon reported yesterday.

The decline in manufacturing employment, reflecting the "drastic reduction due to post-V-J day layoffs," was estimated at about 15 per cent, and the increase in nonmanufacturing workers at more than 1 per cent. The net result was a drop in total employment of between 125,000 and 150,000, or 4 to 5 per cent of all employed persons in the state.

REPORT S. D. JACKSON SOUGHT AS 'CZAR' OF COMMODITY MARKETS

Samuel D. Jackson

New York, Nov. 8 [Special]—Former Sen. Samuel D. Jackson of Indiana, chairman of the last Democratic national convention, has been offered the post as czar of the country's commodities exchanges, it was reported in Wall st. today. The National Association of Commodity Exchanges, seeking a national figure to head it, has approached Jackson with a liberal offer, it was said, and he reportedly is weighing the proposition.

The association includes nearly all of the commodity exchanges of the country. Its president is Maurice Mandeville, president of the Chicago Mercantile exchange and its vice president is J. A. Higgons Jr., at association headquarters in Chicago.

TRUMAN ASKED TO END CREDIT BUYING CURBS

Control Held Peril to Small Trade

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—The Retail Credit Institute of America, representing more than 1,000 retail merchants in 44 states, today asked President Truman for an immediate end to existing curbs on instalment buying.

The organization said continuation of consumer credit regulations under the government's "regulation W" would "monopolize consumer credit into the channels of big business and banking and destroy thousands of little merchants."

After a two day meeting of institute representatives from 18 states and Canada, the organization adopted a petition to the President which contended the regulation was strictly a war time measure and should be lifted with the end of hostilities.

Forces Bond Cashing

"Continued restrictions will force millions of middle and lower income families to cash their government bonds and savings to enable them to buy things they need," it stated.

"They will work great and needless hardship on millions of returning veterans and their families. These Americans lack adequate cash to reëquip their homes even on the simplest plan and to rehabilitate themselves for civilian life."

The appeal also said continuance of the regulation would prevent millions of displaced war workers from purchasing necessary equipment when reëmployed in a different environment.

Require Cash or Down Payment

"Millions of people who never have enjoyed so-called 'war time income' will be deprived of the opportunity of maintaining a progressive standard of living," it asserted.

The institute said existing regulations established in war time required consumers to pay cash or make down payments on such articles as furniture, refrigerators, washing machines, radios, jewelry, and clothing—with the balance paid within 12 months.

Altho the institute has urged an end to the regulation, several other retailing, banking, and trade association groups have from time to time expressed a divided opinion whether the curb should be lifted immediately.

SURFACE LINES' PRICE TOO LOW, SAYS ENGINEER

Attorneys for junior stockholders of the Chicago Surface Lines yesterday offered testimony in federal District court to show the approved purchase price of $88,100,850 for the lines was inadequate. Attorneys James A. Sprowl and William R. Morgan called as witness Bert H. Peck, consulting engineer, of Washington, D. C., who has been associated with the transit unification plan for eight years. Peck testified before Federal Judge Igoe that a fair price would be 138 million dollars. Judge Igoe continued the hearings of objections of minority security holders until today.

PEOPLE AND EVENTS

Col. Murray Hanson

Col. Murray Hanson, Cleveland, O., attorney, has been appointed general counsel of the Investment Bankers Association of America, Chicago, John Clifford Folger, president, announced yesterday. He will start his new work as soon as he is released from the army and will have headquarters in Washington, D. C. He formerly was associated with the National Association of Securities Dealers.

Edwin W. Behrens

Edwin W. Behrens, of Behrens Flowers, Chicago, has been named head of the Chicago unit of the Florists' Telegraph Delivery association.

Harold O. Smith Jr., official of the department of commerce office of surplus property, has been appointed manager of the recently established Washington office of the National Confectioners' association.

Thomas A. York, for more than 22 years in the automotive sales field, has been named sales manager of South Shore Buick, Inc. Robert P. Dodge, son of the firm's president, Pope Dodge, will serve as York's assistant.

Charles H. Westphalen, for 20 years associated with Masonite corporation, has been elected a vice president and director and named general manager of the Laurel, Miss., plant.

Thomas V. Powell

Thomas V. Powell of the Ford Motor company industrial relations department has been appointed personnel director of Hallicrafters company.

Miss Jean Barnett, a Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., hostess, has been selected hostess flight instructor for the central region with headquarters in Chicago.

Jack P. Grady, recently released from the navy, has been appointed advertising and sales promotion manager of the Chase Bag company.

The National Trailer-Coach Manufacturers' association reëlected Harry Bartholomew of Chicago as president, and voted to hold a national showing of its products in Chicago, beginning March 16, 1946. W. B. McDonald, Chicago, was elected treasurer.

Rye and Oats Prices Bound to New Peaks

Rye and oats futures prices soared yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. December rye rose 5 cents a bushel, the permissible limit, at one time, selling at $1.78¾, a new 20 year high and 50⅜ cents above the low following V-J day. All deliveries of oats went to new seasonal peaks. Execution of stop loss orders helped the advance, and altho the close was below the top the near-by deliveries of rye gained 4⅛ to 4⅜ cents. July rye held at $1.44½, the ceiling. Oats gained 1¾ to 2 cents.

Wheat futures held in narrow limits and closed ⅛ to ⅞ higher with December at $1.80¼, within ¼ cent of the ceiling. Corn futures were unchanged at the $1.18½ ceiling. Barley was dull and unchanged to ⅛ higher.

Winnipeg Rye Higher

Predictions of more export business in rye and an advance of 3⅜ to 5 cents in Winnipeg rye were factors in the advance.

Buying of wheat futures attributed to mills and exporters was offset by selling by southwestern interests.

After the close officials announced the British food ministry had authorized the purchase of 3,750,000 bushels of American wheat for December shipment from Atlantic coast ports and a like amount for January. All of the business will be done thru the private grain trade.

Oats Trading Increases

Trading in oats futures exceeds other grains. Sales in the last two days aggregating about 40 million bushels and uncompleted contracts of about 68 million bushels were near the all-time record. Broad commission house buying and short covering followed an early dip.

PAPERS UNWITTINGLY PRINTING FRAUD ADS NOT LIABLE: BARRETT

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 8 [Special]—Illinois newspapers which unwittingly publish deceptive, fraudulent, or misleading advertisements are not liable under the 1945 fraudulent advertising act, Atty. Gen. George F. Barrett said today.

His opinion was given to State's Atty. Alan S. Windels of Montgomery county, who asked for an interpretation of the act passed by the last general assembly. The law prohibits false or misleading advertisements by publication or radio broadcasting, punishable as a misdemeanor.

"All of the decisions of the courts of appeal I have been able to find interpreting such statutes have construed the provisions as being applicable only to the person offering the goods, services, or other commodities for sale, by advertising or publication directed to the public," Barrett said in his opinion.

OFFER 6 MILLION DEBENTURES OF UNITED TRANSIT

An underwriting group headed by Harriman Ripley & Co. will offer today 6 million dollars of 4 per cent sinking fund debentures and 80,000 shares of 5 per cent $50 par cumulative preferred stock of United Transit company. The debentures are priced at 100 per cent and accrued interest and the stock at $50 a share and accrued dividends.

Debenture proceeds will be used to redeem $5,309,125 of outstanding bonds, notes, and preferred stocks of subsidiaries and replenish working capital. The stock is being sold by certain security holders and is not new financing.

KEEP SYNTHETIC RUBBER UNITS, COLLYER URGES

Termed Necessary for Security

The government should maintain standby plants with an annual capacity of 600,000 to 700,000 tons of all purpose synthetic rubber to insure military security, John L. Collyer, president of B. F. Goodrich company, said yesterday. His suggestion was made in an analysis of the world rubber situation.

He recommended a minimum annual production and use of 200,000 or more tons of general purpose synthetic rubber regardless of economic factors. Continued improvements in the quality of synthetic rubber will come at a rate induced by the intensity of competition and the industry should be put on its mettle to speed this progress, he said.

Collyer said decisions must be made now to attain the goal of military security and provide a solution for the coming surplus rubber problem.

Urges Stability in Prices

Besides military security those responsible for shaping world rubber policy should consider the largest consumer value and the expansion of rubber uses thru low and stable prices.

The potential world production capacity of both natural and synthetic rubber will be about 3 million tons annually, Collyer said, and against this annual world consumption will be about 1⅛ million tons, leaving a surplus of 1½ million tons.

Collyer estimated American rubber needs at an average of about 825,000 tons a year for the next five years, or about 25 per cent more than in 1940. After providing for the synthetic rubber requirements, there will be a demand for an average of 525,000 to 625,000 tons a year where the type should depend on competition, he said.

Termed Basis for Pricing

"The reality of low cost, high value American synthetic rubber is the pivot on which rubber developments will turn," he said. "A prime objective of natural rubber producers should be to regain thru their price policies such a sizable share of the world rubber market as is needed to sustain their economies and to make possible rising standards of living in the rubber growing territories."

Collyer said efficient far eastern producers could make a reasonable return on their investment, boost the standard of living in their territory, and meet the competition of low cost synthetic rubber with a price of about 12 cents a pound or lower. He suggested that at the outset of production when plantations are being put in shape the natural rubber price may well be 18½ cents.

Allis-Chalmers Declares 15 Cent Extra Dividend

Directors of Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company yesterday voted an extra dividend of 15 cents in addition to the quarterly payment of 40 cents on the common stock. Charles Pfizer & Co. declared an extra of 15 cents and a quarterly payment of 20 cents.

Stock Market Turns Uneven; Rails Set Back

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—The stock market today turned irregular. Rails, steels, motors, and many industrial leaders reacted after seven consecutive rising sessions. Gains ran to 4 points for a few favorites, but were offset by losses of fractions to more than 2. Trade was active, tho down to 1,960,000 shares from 2,380,000 yesterday.

The possibility of a sizable technical "correction" apparently led to the cashing of profits in numerous cases. Imminence of a wage-price crisis in the automotive and steel fields also revived caution. Individual issues that stand to benefit substantially from elimination of excess profits taxes still attracted purchasers, and inflation psychology provided another buying incentive.

The Associated Press 60 stock composite declined 0.3 to 74.7, rails losing 0.8 and industrials 0.2 as the utilities were unchanged. It was the first setback since Oct. 29. The market again was broad, 1,023 issues registering against the record of 1,061 yesterday.

BONDS ARE IRREGULAR

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—The bond market retained some degree of firmness today as investors made new purchases of higher grade corporation securities, but rails and other active issues ended irregular. Trade of $6,910,000 face value compared with $8,840,000 yesterday.

United States government loans made gains of 3/32 to 30/32 of a point.

CHICAGO LIST EDGES UP

Prices edged up further as turnover shrank to 76,000 shares yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Trading, however, continued broad, involving 152 issues, of which 71 advanced and 53 declined. More active stocks included Consolidated Biscuit, up ⅜; Libby, McNeill and Domestic Industries, each up ¼; Chicago Corporation, up ⅛, and Sears, Roebuck, unchanged.

BOWLES DELAYS FIXING OF NEW AUTO CEILINGS

Accedes to Dealer Plea for Fairness

Ford Hike Reported

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 8 (AP)—The Detroit News said today that, under the OPA pricing formula, prices of new Ford cars will rise 6 per cent plus $30 allowance for "improvements" and Studebaker prices will go up 12 per cent. A higher horsepower motor is the improvement, it explained. The News said its information came from an OPA source.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8 [Special]—Chairman Patman [D., Tex.] of the house small business committee and Price Administrator Bowles tonight announced that OPA would comply with a committee demand that fixing of automobile price ceilings be delayed until "all the facts" are investigated.

The demand was made earlier in the day in a resolution passed unanimously after testimony by W. L. Mallon, president of the National Automobile Dealers association. His assertion that proposed OPA reductions in established dealer discounts were "most unfair" was described by committee members as "convincing." OPA officials have taken the stand that part of increased manufacturing costs must be absorbed by distributors.

. . . As Important
As the Dollars You Leave

The safeguards you provide for the protection of your family are fully as important as the size of your estate. A large estate, poorly managed or haphazardly disposed of, may afford less actual benefit than a small one which has been carefully planned.

To assure your family the greatest protection, you should have:

(1) a sound plan keyed to their needs,

(2) a competent executor-trustee with the necessary know-how and experience.

Regardless of the size of your estate, its potential value will be greater if you name in your Will a corporate executor-trustee, such as the American National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago. The broad experience of our Trust Department in the handling of many estates, large and small, assures a high degree of efficiency with maximum benefits to your family.

Our Trust Officers will be glad to discuss estate conservation with you and your attorney at your convenience and without obligation.

USE OF FEDERAL CASH URGED AS AID TO RESEARCH

No Place Else to Turn, Says Oil Official

Use of government cash to finance basic research and train scientific personnel was advocated last night by four Chicagoans at a panel discussion on government research in Northwestern university's Thorne hall.

Bruce K. Brown, vice president of Standard Oil company [Indiana], urged the establishment of a properly administered national research foundation in the interest of industrial technology and for reasons of national health, security, and prosperity.

No Other Source, He Says

"I say this because I know of no other source of funds to augment those now available," he said. "Crushing taxation and high incomes and artificially low interest rates have created the situation and the colleges have no other place to turn."

Proposals to create federally financed scientific foundations have been introduced in congress by Sen. Kilgore [D., W. Va.] and Rep. Magnuson [D., Wash.].

Dr. R. K. Summerbell, head of the chemistry department of Northwestern university, and Dr. H. I. Schlesinger, head of the chemistry department of the University of Chicago, indorsed Brown's view that the foundation should be properly administered without government interference.

Urges Subsidizing Students

Summerbell said the best way would be to subsidize the students directly thru fellowships and scholarships. Schlesinger suggested that funds be allotted to various selected schools and that they be permitted to make expenditures at their discretion.

Prof. Ralph Gerard of the University of Chicago, said the present science proposals, or any reasonable modification of them "will direct a great stream of financial support into academic pools."

EATON ADVISES U. S. TO RETAIN GENEVA STEEL

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8 (AP)—Cyrus Eaton, Cleveland banker and industrialist, today recommended that the government retain ownership of the 200 million dollar Geneva steel plant in Utah against the hazards of another war.

The chairman of the board of Otis & Co. told a senate military affairs subcommittee he is convinced Geneva "is so far removed from present steel consuming markets that there is no chance of its being operated privately at a profit, even if taken over at a very low figure." Eaton expressed belief, however, that the government financed steel mill at Fontana, Cal., owned by Henry J. Kaiser, can function profitably under private ownership.

Eaton's testimony was challenged repeatedly by Sen. Murdock [D., Utah], who asserted that prior to the war steel was sold on the west coast from points as far east as Gary and Pittsburgh, Pa.

Montgomery Ward Sales Pass 77 Million in October

Montgomery Ward & Co. yesterday reported October sales of $77,294,825, compared with $70,475,011 a year ago, an increase of 9.7 per cent. Sales in the first nine months of the company's fiscal year were $491,434,882, compared with $466,668,975 a year earlier.

Predicts Rise in Oil Firms' Ad Programs

Return of competitive conditions in the petroleum industry will place more emphasis on advertising, Wesley I. Nunn, advertising manager of Standard Oil company [Indiana], yesterday told a luncheon meeting of the Chicago Federated Advertising club in the Continental hotel.

When automobiles again crowd the highways they will be powered by gasoline and oil produced by the company that has maintained good public relations while developing its products, he said. The 1946 advertising budget of Standard Oil will be the largest for several years.

Plan Improved Facilities

Several companies have already announced their plans for new type service stations in programs to improve facilities for serving the public, said Nunn.

"Just as fast as removal of government restrictions and expansion of personnel will permit, we are going to be picking up again those many little habits which made service stations centers of courtesy and service in the pre-war days," he said.

Nunn said the average total domestic and export demand for crude petroleum and its products rose 40 per cent from 1940 to more than 5½ million barrels a day in the first half of 1945. Demand will continue above 5 million barrels a day in the remainder of the year, and average demand in 1946 is expected to approximate 4,700,000 barrels a day well above 1940 requirements.

Predicts Adequate Supplies

Supplies should be adequate, he said. Improved technology has brought larger yields of better products. If the crude oil supply should lag behind demand, which is doubtful, high quality petroleum products can be made by synthetic processes from natural gas and from coal, he explained.

The industry's expansion program, which involved refinery equipment valued at 2 billion dollars in the war, will be continued, he said. Standard Oil alone has construction plans for the next two years involving about 100 million dollars. New catalytic crackers, a vast new research laboratory, and other facilities are involved.

AMENDED PLAN OF AM. POWER WINS APPROVAL

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 8 (AP)—American Power and Light company, which was denied permission by the securities and exchange commission on Oct. 31 to retire debentures at 100 per cent of principal amount plus interest, received the commission's approval today of an amended plan calling for retirement at 110 per cent plus accrued interest.

The SEC set a precedent when it stipulated that the company pay more than principal amount in an involuntary debt retirement.

American proposes to retire its 6 per cent gold debenture bonds, due 2016, and Southwestern Power and Light company's 6 per cent gold debenture bonds, due 2022 [assumed by American].

HOG OFFERINGS RISE TO 17,000; PRICES STEADY

The Chicago stock yards yesterday received 17,000 hogs, including direct shipments to packers, highest for Thursday in more than nine months, and the supply sold readily at ceiling prices. The volume was more than 70 per cent above the average of the last six weeks.

Cattle receipts were 5,500 head, smallest for a Thursday in five weeks. Demand was light and prices averaged about steady. Steers selling below $17 a hundred pounds and some cows and heifers weakened.

Sheep receipts increased, but prices were steady.

BOWLES DELAYS FIXING OF NEW AUTO CEILINGS

planning committee, also promised he personally would look into the auto price situation before OPA issued any ceiling order.

Patman announced that the hearing on whether the proposed dealer discount reduction was equitable would continue tomorrow with further testimony from protesting dealers who requested the hearings. He said OPA would have an opportunity to present its side Monday.

Mallon said the discount was the long established mark-up which dealers are allowed by the manufacturer, and has averaged about 24 per cent on each car. Under OPA proposals, he said, the discount "might be cut as much as 50 per cent."

Issues Confused, Says Bowles

Bowles replied that initial discounts, allowed by manufacturers are being confused with dealers' "actual realized margins," which he said averaged only 11 per cent before the war "when trade-ins and allowances for cash purchases are considered."

"Any absorption OPA may require of dealers will be relatively minor," he said. "Their realized margins will be substantially higher than before the war. With the large volume of sales in prospect for next year, dealers will enjoy the most prosperous year in their history."

Mallon had asserted the OPA stand on dealers' absorbing costs was reached "without any true appreciation of the factors involved." If the proposed cut is permitted, he said, dealers' gross earning would be halved and permit an average earning of "only about one-half of 1 per cent."

REVERE COPPER NET INCOME DIPS IN NINE MONTHS

Revere Copper and Brass, Inc., must obtain price relief from OPA because of increased production costs or limit output as a matter of self-preservation, C. Donald Dallas, president, said yesterday in reporting reduced net earnings in the first nine months of 1945, compared with year ago profits. Net income was $1,094,102, or 57 cents a share, compared with $1,262,048, or 61 cents a share, a year earlier.

North American company's net income in the quarter ended Sept. 30 was $4,342,142, or 39 cents a share, against $4,423,406, or 40 cents a share, a year ago. American Telephone and Telegraph company reported to the federal communications commission net income in the first three quarters of 1945 was $125,935,935, compared with $122,018,981 a year earlier. Abbott Laboratories said profit in the first nine months of 1945 was $2,319,596, or $2.62 a share, compared with $2,393,382, or $2.71 a share, a year ago.

U. S. MUST YIELD SOME PATENTS TO STANDARD OIL

New York, Nov. 8 [Special]—The alien property custodian has been ordered by Federal Judge Charles E. Wyzanski Jr. to return to the Standard Oil company [New Jersey] all patents it bought prior to 1939 for 35 million dollars from I. G. Farbenindustrie, German chemical trust. They were seized by the government in March, 1942, under provisions of the trading with the enemy act.

In a 92 page decision sent from Boston and filed in the United States District court in New York today, Judge Wyzanski ruled that the government could retain title to licenses and patents Standard obtained from the German trust after the start of the war in Europe.

EKCO PRODUCTS

My attention has been called to Ekco Products company, whose stocks were listed for trading a few months ago on the New York Stock exchange, and I would like some information about it.—L. C.

This Chicago enterprise is the former Edward Katzinger company, established in 1888. The present title was adopted last year. Public offering last May of 29,664 of the 36,000 outstanding $4.50 cumulative preferred shares and 240,000 of the 393,750 common shares did not represent new financing.

With its subsidiaries Ekco Products is a large manufacturer of bakers' and household tinware, kitchen tools and cutlery, and flashlight cases. Last June it announced acquisition of Massillon Aluminum company which later purchased a Defense Plant corporation factory in Massillon, O., thus tripling its floor space. Part of it will be used for making stainless steel ware.

Ekco engaged in war production and its sales increased from $5,919,000 in 1939 to $19,531,000 in 1944, with profit rising from $1.44 a common share to $2.28, based on present capitalization. Average earnings in the five years ended with 1939 were only 88 cents a share, altho sales and profits were growing. The stock at its recent price above 33 capitalizes such profits highly. In the first half of 1945 the share profit was $1.03. Two 30 cent dividends have been paid this year. Net working capital last Dec. 31 was $5,841,000.

FORECAST 1945 COTTON CROP AT LOW IN 24 YEARS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8 (AP)—A 1945 cotton crop of 9,368,000 bales, the smallest total since 1921 and the second smallest since 1889, was forecast by the department of agriculture today.

Cotton prospects decreased 411,000 bales in October because of unfavorable weather conditions in a large part of the western cotton belt.

Production last year totaled 12,230,000 bales and the crop averaged 12,293,000 bales in the 10 year period of 1934-'43.

You Cannot Be Sure
Of a New Home for Two Years
Unless now you get your house design and specifications under way.
There are, and will be, nowhere near enough materials and man power to meet demands, let alone enough quality sites such as we have in Prized East Glenview and in distinctive North Northbrook.
Based on the tested experience of providing two generations of discriminating North Shore families with quality homes and protected sites, we are able, for a limited number of alert families, to provide site, financing, to procure design, and to provide building supervision of houses in the price range of $10,500 to $25,000 on 60' to 90' lawns, or on ½ to 2 acre knolls—out where the hills begin—in East Glenview and in North Northbrook.

LOANS — PERSONAL & BUSINESS

-Personal, Property, Salary-

WE LIKE TO MAKE LOANS
That's Why We Say "Yes" So Often at Personal
PERSONAL makes loans of $10 to $250 or more quickly and privately to employed men or women, on signature alone or on furniture or auto.
Between Pay Day Loans for small amounts and short periods made as readily as other loans.
Loans made for purchases, income taxes, property taxes, home repairs, medical or dental attention.
Monthly payments arranged that you can comfortably afford. Repayment can be made at any time and you only pay for the time you keep the money. Your account here establishes NATIONWIDE Cash Credit at any of more than 400 PERSONAL offices.
We like to say "Yes," so STOP in today or PHONE us for an extra fast service on your money requirements.
